AGENTS WANTED FOR

THE BLUE-COATS,

WITH

SCENES AND INCIDENTS IN THE GREAT REBELLION,

Comprising Narratives of Personal Adventure, Thrilling Incidents, Daring Exploits, Heroic Deeds, Wonderful Escapes, Life in the Camp, Field, and Hospital; Adventures of Spies and Scouts, Together with the Songs, Ballads, Anecdotes and Humerous Incidents of the War.

Splendidly Illustrated with over 100 Fine Portraits and Beautiful Engravings.

THERE IS A CERTAIN PORTION OF THE WAR that will never go into the regular histories, nor be embodied in romance or poetry, which is a very real part of it, and will, if preserved, convey to succeeding generations a better idea of the spirit of the conflict than many dry reports or careful narratives of events, and this part may be called the gossip, the fun, the pathos of the war. This illustrates the character of the leaders, the humor of the soldiers, the devotion of women, the bravery of men, the pluck of our heroes, the romance and hardships of the service.

The Valiant and Brave Hearted, the Picturesque and Dramatic, the Witty and Marvelous, the Tender and Pathetic, and the whole Panorama of the War are here thrillingly portrayed in a masterly manner, at once historical and romantic, rendering it the most ample, unique, brilliant and readable book that the war has called forth.

Amusement as well as instruction may be found in every page, as graphic detail, brilliant wit, and authentic history, are skillfully interwoven in this work of literary art.

EDUCATIONAL COLUMN.

G. L. EBERHART, Editor.

BEAVER, January 29, 1868.

[ALL COMMUNICATIONS FOR THIS DEPARTMENT OF THE PAPER, MUST BE ADDRESSED TO G. L. EBERHART, NEW BRIGHTON, PA.]

A correspondent sends us the following interrogatories from Brush Creek, under date of Dec. 20th. We do not propose to answer them. No doubt some of our friends can furnish the information required by our correspondent. That reform is most imperatively demanded in several of the points alluded to, no one conversant with the condition of schools and school houses—many of them—in this county can deny. Some of our readers may think that some of our correspondent's questions embody unnecessarily severe censure, but however true this may be, we can only say that, in many instances, it is only by severe effort that reform can be brought about where most needed.

Relative to the office of county Superintendent we can only say that in no instance of which we have any knowledge, where the salary has been sufficient to command the best talent—the right sort of men—to fill the office, has it failed to awaken new life among teachers, infuse increased energy in the cause of education, and to be regarded as the right arm of our school system. The labors of a Superintendent in a county like Beaver must necessarily be very heavy, and attended with much expense. No man in any situation in life will work with much energy or zeal, unless he feels that his renumeration is commensurate with the exertion demanded of him.—The educational work of this county demands the entire time, and the most active efforts, of the Superintendent. These however he can not give, unless his salary be such as to afford him sufficient compensation for the duties required, and to place him so far beyond the contingency of embarrassment as to enable him to feel that a living competency is secured to him by his office.

The Superintendent of this county should receive a salary of $1500 per annum, and then he should be held to a strict accountability for the faithful and vigorous execution of his duties. The Superintendents are paid from the State treasury. Their salaries do not therefore, in any manner effect the taxpayers of the county, or the taxes levied by the different school boards for the support of their schools. There is, therefore, no economy in paying a small salary, and getting small men to fill the office. Make the salary $1000 to $2000 per annum. The result is, they secure efficient live men to fill the office, and thus get a large interest upon the investment in the life and zeal which is sure to follow the exertions of those who know what to do and how to do the work essential to the life and vigor of our schools and school teachers.

We hope the school directors of this county will consider this subject well between this and the meeting of the next triennial convention—if they do not act sooner—and lay aside the penny-wise and pound-foolish policy which governed past conventions. Beaver county is as justly entitled to $1200 or $1500 per annum from the State treasury for her Superintendents as any of the counties which pay such salaries, and until she pays enough to secure her best men the office will be little more than a name, and the cause of education will continue to retrograde.

But here are our Brush Creek friend's questions:

"Why is it that amongst our farmers there is so much dissatisfaction in regard to our school system?

Why is it that a majority of them think a County Superintendent a public nuisance?

Why is it that in some of our townships, there must be a full board of Democratic directors irrespective of qualifications or education?

Why is it that we can scarcely get four months school in a year?

Why is it that our country school houses are a disgrace to our county—standing on our most public roads, an index to the morality, refinement and intelligence of Beaver county, with doors and windows standing open all summer, a cool abode for sheep, a roost for turkeys, and a rendezvous for idle boys on Sunday?

Why is it that there is never a cent expended in fencing and beautifying the grounds?

Why is it that the country teachers—females especially—receive no protection whatever, and are used like beggars, instead of being respected."

Mathematical.

Written analyses of the following questions are requested:

What is the smallest quantity of water that must be mixed with wine worth 14 shillings and 15 shillings a gallon, to form a mixture worth 13 shillings a gallon, when all the parts are expressed in whole numbers?

At $42 a thousand, how many feet of lumber should be given for a farm containing 33 acres 2 rods 16 perches, valued at $125 per acre?

What length of wire one-eight of an inch in diameter, can be drawn from a cube of copper 2 feet on a side, allowing 10 per cent. for waste?

THE Astor Library now has upon its shelves 185,000 volumes, 4,000 having been added the last year. Its capacity is 350,000. The reading rooms are conveniently and admirably arranged, and twenty-five thousand persons annually avail themselves of its gratuitous privileges. It is less a popular library, than one for the student, and laborious investigator. No books are permitted to be removed, but any required volume, if not in use is promptly produced on application.—Objects of interest are not confined to the shelves. Some of the habitual visitors, who are found regularly in their places from day to day, and from year to year, are a curious study, and their recorded histories might be an attractive contribution to the Astor collection.

General Jackson and the Colored Soldiers.

We noticed that at the Democratic celebration at the Capitol, President Pierce's letter was loudly applauded. The following extract is rich in historic truth:

"Were not the soldiers under the command and leadership of Gen. Jackson the fathers and grandfathers of those now disfranchised, ruined in estate, the want and suffering of their families analyzed and held down by a despotism of force with the authority of might, to execute upon the weak and helpless the behests of vengeance."

Why did not the ex-President allude to another class of soldiers, regiments of which were colored men and under the leadership of Gen. Jackson, "disfranchised and in the want and suffering of their families, paralyzed and held down by a despotism, clothed with the authority of might, to execute upon the weak and helpless the behests of vengeance."

Gen. Jackson, after the battle of New Orleans, addressed the slaves who won the battle for their masters and their country, as follows:

"Soldiers—When on the banks of the Mobile, I called you up to arms—inviting you to partake the perils and glory of your white fellow-citizens, I expected much from you: for I was ignorant that you possessed qualities most formidable to an invading enemy. I knew with what fortitude you could endure hunger and thirst, and all the fatigues of the campaign. I knew full how you loved your native country, and that you, as well as ourselves, had to defend what man holds most dear—his parents, wife, children and property. You have done more than I expected. In addition to the previous qualities I before knew you to possess, I found among you a noble enthusiasm, which leads to the performance of great things.

"Soldiers—The President of the United States shall hear how praiseworthy was your conduct in the hour of danger, and the representatives of the American people will give you the praise your exploits entitle you to."

After this second exhibition in our civil war, of the negroe's partaking the perils and glory of their white fellow-citizens," and now that they are made free, we cannot help thinking that if Gen. Jackson was alive he would walk arm in arm with Gen. Grant in advocating their right to manhood suffrage.

Courage of a Country Girl.

Honor and shame from no condition rise;
Act well your part, there all the honor lies.
Fope.

In December, 1777, while Washington was at Valley Forge and the enemy was in Philadelphia, Major Tallmadge was stationed between the two places with a detachment of cavalry, to watch the movements of the British, while performing this duty, he was informed that a country girl had gone into Philadelphia—perhaps by Washington's instigation—ostensibly to sell eggs, but really and especially to obtain information respecting the enemy; and curiosity led him to move his detachment to Germantown. There the main body halted while he advanced with a small, party towards the British lines. Dismounting at a tavern in plain sight of their outposts, he soon saw a young girl coming out of the city. He watched her till she came up to the tavern; made himself known to her and was about to receive some valuable intelligence, when he was informed that the British light horse were advancing. Stepping to the door he saw them in full pursuit of his patrols. He, hastily mounted, but before he had started his charger, the girl was at his side begging for protection Quick as thought, he ordered her to mount behind him. She obeyed, and in that way rode to Germantown, a distance of three miles. During the whole ride, writes the Major in his Journal, where we find these details, "although there was considerable firing of pistols, and not a little wheeling and charging, she remained unmoved, and never once complained of fear."

A MEMOIR OF A DOG.—The Norfolk (Va.) Day Book says: "Cockade, the dog that for nearly a year past has been seen wherever the Hope steam fire engine was seen, died at the Hope engine house on Friday last. Cockade was a gift from the Hillinbrook Fire Company, of Petersburg, to the Hope Fire Company, of Norfolk. From the day he was given to the Hope he made his home in the engine house, and never left it except with the engine; he never recognized any of the Company, albeit they were very fond of him, and kept him well supplied with provisions. When a fire broke out he would howl and bark until the engine was hitched and then, howling and barking, he would follow her to the fire, and as soon as she went into service he would return to the engine house, and stretch himself out in front of the door, and, cold or warm, would never go in until the engine returned. During the recent fire in Portsmouth, Cockade took cold, from which he never recovered. He died on Friday last, and his remains were coffined and carefully committed to the earth on Saturday."

JUST SO.—A calm blue-eyed, self possessed, young lady, in a certain neighborhood, received a long call the other day from a prying old spinster, who, after prolonging her stay beyond her own conception of the main question that brought her thither said:

"I've been asked a good many times if you are engaged to Mr.——. Now if folks inquire again whether you are or not, what shall I tell 'em I think?"

"Tell them," answered the young lady, fixing her calm blue eyes in unblushing steadiness upon the inquisitive features of her interrogator, "tell them that you are sure it's none of your business."

This was a sharp but deserved rebuke for the inquisitive visitress. We'll wager a penny that the young lady who administered this rebuke will make a good wife.

WE heard a few days ago, says the Schenectady Star, of a singular case. A gentleman who has been married for a number of years, has always desired to be the father of a daughter, his children being all boys. So great, indeed, has my desire for a daughter, that he has often prayed that Providence might bless him with one. A kind Providence was not deaf to his prayers, for, to his great surprise, he was granted three girls a few days ago, there being about three hours' difference in their ages. He don't pray now so much as he did.

HUMBOLDT asked an Indian chief if he had known anything of a certain officer who had died during the war of 1813. "I ate a piece of him," was the reply.

"Sure, which is the entrance out?" asked an Irishman at a railway station the other day.

First Premium

At the State Fair recently held at Pittsburgh. This Stove combines many new and important principles, which place it far in advance of all others now, in use. Some of the merits claimed for it by the Inventor, are Heavy Metal, Well Proportioned, Beauty of Style and Finish, Ease of Draft, Easily Kept Clean, Requires but little fuel, and the BEST BAKER EXTANT.

All orders thankfully received and promptly filled.

We Call Attention to the Following Statements:

While living in the East I used several of the most Celebrated Cooking Stoves made in that part of the country, and on my arrival here, I was recommended to purchase a Stove of Crystal Palace Stove, (also invented by Mr. Anderson) as being the best. I did so, and used it with good satisfaction. When I saw Mr. Anderson's new Stove, I was attracted by its neat appearance, and on examining its Oven and interior arrangements, found it possessed many advantages over all I had seen. I purchased, and have one now in use. We consider it superior to any we have ever used. It is all the inventor claims, and we think, all that could be desired in a Cooking Stove.

CAPT. GILBERT PENDLETON.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 21st.

Having one of Mr. Anderson's new Stoves in use, I can fully endorse Capt. Pendleton's statement.

JOHN H. WAGNER.

Having one of Anderson's new Stoves in use, I can fully endorse the above recommendations.

J. WOODRUFF.

Having one of Mr. Anderson's new Stoves in use, we are fully satisfied with its good qualities in all respects. JOSEPH IRWIN AND WIFE.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 25th.

Having kept house for a long time, and used a great number of Cook Stoves of different patterns and styles, I consider J. J. Anderson's new Stove, in point of economy in fuel, ready cooking and baking for its size, superior to any we have used, and cheerfully recommend it, believing it will render entire satisfaction. CHAR. LUKENS.

We have one of Mr. J. J. Anderson's new Stoves, and pronounce it the Rochester Treasure, and having given it a fair trial, we find it comes fully up to all that has been claimed for it. It bears very rapidly, takes but little fuel, and is a most excellent baker. Mr. Anderson may congratulate himself on having achieved quite a triumph in the line of Cooking Stoves.

Very respectfully,

Beaver, Nov. 23d, 1867. J. S. BRACKEN.

COOKING, FRANKLIN AND HEATING STOVES.

Having made several important improvements on the "Climax," by which coal or wood can be supplied without lifting fids, and having two places for pipe, either or both of which can be used at the same time, with a ventilation to the oven, thus having the advantages of a Cooking Stove, Bake oven and Franklin Stove combined.
