ROOFING SLATE! TWIN CITY SLATE MINING

MAUFACTURING COMPANY.

TNATER, S. H. ANDERSON, J. N. SHALLENBERGER, Grad. Secretary. Superintendent.

OFFICE, No. 13 Seventh Street, Pittsburg, Pa.

It is believed that the time has come in the progress et American architecture, when the question will no lorg r by asked, 'What shall we use for roofing?' "WHERE CAN WE OBTAIN THE BEST SLATE." Older countries have long isince established the fact that no material is so well adapted, and so durable, as the for covering buildings. Two obstacles to its general use in this country have existed heretofore :

first, the transition character of society, which is becessarily opposed to permanence in architecture and second, the great abundance and low price of lum er. The first impediment is rapidly yielding to times and oper ideas on the subject of building, and the othtransit soon give away to the searcity and advancing We submit a few leading advantages of a Slate roof it is superior to every other in appearance.

It is easily put on. It saves insurance. It is fire proof. t is imperishable.

The Twin City Slate Company's Mines are in Northopted County, Penn'a. The Slate is a beautiful dark blue, unchangeable in color, splits in perfectly smooth plates of any size required, and hardens stead lly by exposure to the atmosphere. No Slate in the United States is superior to it, in all the qualities essen-"ital to a good roof, and we think but little equal to it. It is farmanded at the yard in Pittsburgh, at the rate of $12.00 a square (one hundred square feet), which with a square square square square feet), which with a square square square square square feet in use; will perform greater range of work than any other machine, either fact of a chingle roof at present prices.

EDUCATIONAL COLUMN G. L. EBERHART, Editor.

BBAVER, April 15, 1868. all communications for this department

OF THE PAPER, MUST BE ADDRESSED TO G. L. EDERHART, NEW BRIGHTON, PA.] PARENTS AND SCHOOLS.

In all communities is found a certain class of innocent persons that never deigns to se. foot inside of a school, or to cheer the teacher with a single smile of approbation or word of encouragement. Perhaps few, if any individuals of this class ever enjoyed the advantages of a good school in childhood; and certainly have never visited one since they became parents; yet they know, if we take their word for it, exactly how schools—and especially those in their own district should be conducted; and even those who do visit schools do not know so well as they how their schools are conducted. These interesting and extremely wise (in their own conceit) individuals invariably possess one very remarkable faculty; and that is that although they can never mention any good points in the schools, they can name many bad ones; and although when questioned closely they utterly fail to fell how the schools are actually conducted, they general-add much to your peace of mind. "The responsibility of parents is not to be measured by dollars and cents. The loss or injury from neglect or misdirection cannot be calculated. Neither can the responsibility be shifted to another; it cannot be wholly delegated. Yet very many parents act as though they believed that when they have provided teachers for their sons and daughters their duty as to their education is discharged—they have nothing more to do in this respect. Their mainess matters they do not so readily confide to others. The loss here can be computed. But that teacher to whom a child is entrusted for twenty-four hours, a week, or one seventh of his time, is not a parent to your child, only in part. He has not a parent's trusts committed to him and has not his rights in relation to your child. This is at once seen if he punishes your child. You feel that injustice has

Even if the defect did exist it might not be sufficient to condemn the whole institution. Imperfection mark everything in this world, and perhaps family government may not be an exception. Parents would not like to have their management of two or three children judged by one or two cases of discipline selected by the servant only temporarily employed. Would the manufacturer wish to have his establishment judged by the working of the most defective article of machinery to be found in it, or by the most unskilled workman there? Don't Leave the Farm.

Established 1818.

Come, boys, I have something to tall you. Come near, I would whisper it low— You are thinking of leaving the homestead Don't be in a hurry to go! The city has many attractions

When once in the vortex of fashion, How soon the course downward begins. You talk of the minos of Australia---

But think of the vices and sins,

They'te wealthy in gold without doubt, But ah! there is gold on the firm, boys, "If only you'll shovel it out." The mercantile trade is a hazard The goods are first high and then low;

Better risk the old farm a while longer Don't be in a hurry to go. The great, busy West has inducements,

And so has the busiest mart, But wealth is not made in a day, boys, Don't be in a hurry to start! The bankers and brokers are wealthy.

They take in their thousand or so-Ah I think of the frauds and decentions Don't be in a hurry to go. The farm is the safest and surest,

The orchards are loaded to-day, You're as free as the zir of the mountains, And monarch of all you survey. Better stay on the farm a while langer, Though profits come in rather slow, Remember you've nothing to risk, boys,

Don't be in a harry to go.

fatal one. The machinery of State Govern-ments might have been properly employed to compet obsdience to law, and the South might have led the solid column which would have united to put down the revolutionary usur-ners of the North. But secession opened a chasm at the feet of Northern men which fil-ld them with horror, and the spectacle of a new flag displacing the glorious banner of our fathers caused our people to forget the danger which threatened on the other hand. The South in her humiliation can see the blundes now; but when her chivalrous blood was hot the thought only of the downright blows she could strike for freedom; without right to the color of the bunting under which she

"The error of the Northern Remounts was in giving any sort of assistan extethe foul despitism which held the government of the Union. If we could not pass the gulf which the impetuous indignation of our brethern bad dug, and assist them to achieve an independence which would leave us dependent, we could at least have refused to strike a blow or spend a dollar for their subjugation. What ever mistake of policy they may have made they were unquestionably struggling for the most sacred rights of man, and would have crowned their success by the establishment of a free government. By our assistance the Mongrel party was enabled to crush the opposition of the South, and to build up a power capable of maintaining the despotism they have erected over us. The South straggled long and gallantly against the tyranny to which the North submitted without striking. WHAT MODERN DEMOCRACY a blow. Mongrelism enslaved us by strategy, and we assisted to enslave the South by force. The result is, that we are all poweries, and forced to look upon the rain of our beloved country without knowing where to turn for

Lee, surrendered to the real author of the "Wilmot Proviso," gives they learn from their children at home at the North, human liberty received a blow from the following curious account of the origin of

> The history of that proviso is this: In 1847 a political club met at the corner of Eighth street and Broadway, to partake of a weekly dinner. The club was composed of Barnburners-Democrats opposed to the extension of slavery.

At the dinner referred to, Mr. Howe, a Western member of Congress, was present.—
His purpose in visiting New York was to take council with the friends of freedom how to head off the pro-slavery Democrats. Among were wholly free. The institutions should be visited, the teachers seen, and the testimony taken on both sides, and even in this case the parents prejudice would be likely enough to decide unjustly in favor of his child.
