Good news reached us on last Wednesday from Washington city. An election was held there on the Mouday before, and perhaps never in the District was there a political contest so animated as this one. The Demo-crafts and Conservatives united on a Mr. Giv-p for Mayor; the Republicans voted for Sayles J. Bowen, the present Post-master of en for Mayor; the Republicans voted for Sayles J. Bowen, the present Post-master of Washington. Both parties did their utmost, cach getting out their last man. All night Monday the olds appeared to be in favor of the success of the Democratic ticket, and so confident were the leaders of that party of vic-tory that they got out their artillory, built great bonfires, naraded the atreets, abused all fortify, not to weaken or endanger, the
