kindness extended by its members to the soldiers of the South.

Col. Ashbel Smith, of Texas, also seconded the nomination. Other rebels spoke, all voted but that Democratic Convention took no ballot. Why? Because Frank Blair was the choice of the rebels in that convention, and Frank Blair had given them excellent reasons for preferring him. What were the reasons?

Just at the close of the war, good men of all parties, worn out with strife and bloodshell, eager for the restoration of peace and desirons
