Extensive Bank Robbery.-Sev eral days since the Peoples' National Bank, on Wood street, was robbed of $12,000 by some adroit and daring thief, who abstracted a small tin box contain ing the amount from the safe. The affair has heretofore been "hushed up," in the hope that some cine might be obtained to the perpetrator; but it has gradually become known, and now forms one of the common topics of the street. There are many theories affoat in regard to the manner in which the obbery was committed, but thus far the whole operation is enveloped in the deepest mystery, and the only really tangible information is the absence the money from the bank safe. The order Directors for the ensuing money was a special deposit, and as such had been placed in the tin box, as stated to more perfectly insure its safe keeping. One of the theories which has John Stiles, M. Darragh, Robt, Ed- gained some ground is, that the thief stole the booty during banking hours while the safe was open and unguarded. He would indeed be a bold operator who could march into a banking house during business hours, when the employes were there in full force, abstract from safe located in the most closely guarded portion of the place a tin box contain ing such a sum of money, and pass out and away again, without having any atention attracted to his movements or being subjected to obtrusive detention from those in whose care the treasure had been placed.
