Through the Washington telegraph office, a connection was made with New Orleans, and the following report's made: The manager adjusted a bell to the instrument in his private office, and notified the various offices that he was ready. New Orleans, thirteen hundred miles distant, instantly responded "ready." New York and a hundred other of offices repeated the word "ready." Inquiries from every part of the continent greatly annoyed the Omaha operator, and he shortly responded: "To everybody: Shut up and keep quiet. When the last spike is driven at Promontory Point, they will say "Done." Don't break the circuit, but watch for the signals of the blows of the hammer.

After some little trouble in the Chicago office, and the closing of a circuit of the contract of the contra ination, together with the number of changes (omlitting the Cabinet), made up to April 20th, foot up as follows:
