"You wish to profit by my experience? Well, I don't know that I mind telling you the story. It may serve to amuse you, if nothing more."

It occurred quite a number of years ago, and over what road I was trav-cling at the time is of little consemence. I had taken thoearly mornducine. I had ancount of the some-ving express train, and being some-what tired and altogether sleepy, had stretched myself upon the seat for as what the d and altogether sleepy, had stretched myself upon the seat for as confirmations would admit. I slept soundly, for I could, in those days, sleep well almost anywhere, and did not awaken until the conductor came for my tiekel. The essential-bit of pasteboard could not be found. Upon examining the wallet, I found my own money intact, and in about one hundred and thirty dollars besides. That is all my story.

"Well perhaps not. No, it was mot, but still my advice holds good. Never place a railway ticket in your wallet."

Reminiscences of a Memorable Duct.

The celebrated affair of the Leopard and the Chesapeake, the latter com-manded by Commodore Jas. Barron, re-ulted in Barron's trial and senter by the court martial, in the proceed-ings relative to which, it is said, Commodore Decatur took an active part, and a duel was finally the result of the Seas' yielded itself up without a groan at half past ten o'clock in the night.

Friends crowded around the door and into the duelist's dying chamber.— He signed his will, refused to have the ball extracted from his wound, and spoke affectionately to his wife whom he yet refused to see. Exerutating pains came to him. After one of these spanns, he said: of these spasms, he said:
'I do not believe it possible for a person to endure so much pain as I feel.'

The town was aroused, and his doorways and pavements crowded. They stopped in the drawing room at President Monroe's. Uncomplaining in the midst of anguish to the last, the unconquerable soul of the 'Bayard of the Seas' yielded itself up without a groan at half past ten o'clock in the night.

The next day the little old National Intelligencer came out with a leaded editorial head, saying that it would be 'affectation' to be silent upon the fact that the duel had occurred, and that the combatants were mortally wounded. In a 'postscript' it related that the combatants were mortally wounded. In a 'postscript' it related that the combatants were mortally wounded.
