Foiled in this grand scheme, Van Eeten took his fight to San Francis-co. He was too prudent a general to advance to the front, leaving hisrear exposed. So, before commencing the Wells-Fargo campaign, he had made all his plans for escape. A Woman in the Case.

biography of this accomplished crim-inal. Lowis M. Van Eeten twenty years ago, left his native city, Antworp, to eeck his fortunes in the Western World. His father, a respectable ship broker, had carefully educated him in the mysteries of book-keep-ing and commerce. Hespoke French tierman and English with rare flue ency, and to a good looking exterior, niways carefully dressed, added a pleasing address. He was about twenty-five years of age. He began his new career by purchasing on time -long time-$30,000 worth of goods which he shipped to New York. He immediately followed with the bill of Inding in his pocket. A respecta-ble German firm, Myers & Stekeman advanced him $40,000 on the bills. With this sum he looked about for position, and with his happy man-ners soon ingratitated himself in the confidence of a young lady of a highly
