

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE. WASHINGTON, D. C., April 6, 1871. SAN DOMINGO DEBATE. Three days of the past week were spent in either restating the report of the San Domingo Commissioners, or in an attack on the Administration, or in a determination to determine the country's future. For several days, before last, Mr. Sumner made efforts to introduce a set of resolutions, contrary to the rule of the Senate, which would have (with a few exceptions named in the rule) should be transacted in the present session, except such as related to the suppression of Ku-Klux outrages, without unanimous consent. On each of his efforts to do so, he was rebuffed by the Vice President, and on the third day he was rebuffed by the rule of the Senate for retratory Senators. After this, the Senate, in order to come within the rule, and asked unanimous consent to the resolutions, which was at once granted, when he gave notice that he would speak on the subject on the following Monday (Monday).

Mr. Schurz stands in a more suspicious position than he has ever occupied here, and he was greatly disquieted in March, 1869, with the disposition of patronage of the President in Missouri, and he was elected to the Senate in 1870, and entered into a combination, which resulted in the election of Frank P. Blair to the Senate. He has since been more than a month, and has been in the possession of the Missouri State during the canvass of 1870. This man Groves is believed to be in the pay and interest of the Free-Soil party in Missouri. The Westlich Post in St. Louis, of which Schurz is one of the editors and proprietors, is now opposing the Blair administration, and is largely controlled by the Blair party.
