Home Manners.-Good manner are not learned from arbitrary teaching, so much as acquired from habit. We must be courteous, agreeable, civil, kind, gentle, manly and womanly a home, and then it will soon become a kind of second nature to be so everywhere. A course, rough nature a home begets a habit of roughness which we cannot lay off, if we try, when we go among strangers. Marriage and Death.-Why is it followed by the obituary notices in our newspapers? Does death follow so closely on the heels of marriage? Is grief the page that carries the train of happiness? Does the tomb open with its dark and ponderous jaws beside the nuptial couch? This is the plan of life. The gleeful songs of light and merry hearts to-day, to-morrow will turn to funeral chaunts, and solbing and lamentation be heard instead of glad, pealing laughter. We

Visit of the President.-President Grant and family arrived in this place by special train on the Chartiers place by special train on the Chartists road about five o'clock on Friday evening last. As our people hardly expected him to reach town before dark, no preparation was made for any formal reception, and accordingly on arriving at the depot his Excellency took a carriage, and in his usual quiet and uncestentations way, passed through town to the residence of W. W. Smith, esq. Heavy Science of Whisky.—

Tuesday of last week one of the most extensive sciences of whisky ever made in Western Pennsylvania was effected in the southeastern part of this county and an adjoining part of Faystte county. For some time past it has been alleged (with what degree of truthfulness we cannot say) that Samuel' Thompson, an extensive distiller, well known in this and adjoining that had been violated.

But I submit, that his professed solutions not an interestical over to the question he considers, but also the principle involved at his result.

Now let Wyandotte, or his assute farmer, apply himself to the question proposed, as quoted above, and let him give us not only the answer, but also the involved so that it may be implied to any similar problem, and we will take off our hat and say, thank you, sir.
