(Continued on Third Page.) Miss Martha was determined to keep things going; and once, when the conversation had died out entirely, she made a desperate effort to renew it by remarking, as they met a man on horseback, "That horse switches his tail just as they do at the East.
When I was to Bosting I saw horses witch their tails just that way."
What surprised Ralph was to see that Flat Creek went to meeting .-Everybody was there—the Meanses, the Joneses, the Bantas, and all the rest. Everybody on Flat Creek appeared to be there except the old wooden legged basket-maker. This who had come, doubtless, to get a glimpse of Haunah, not to hear Mr. Bosaw preach. In fact, few were thinking of the lives liberton against thinking of the religious service. They went to church as a common what was the current sensation. On this particular morning there seemed to be some unusual excite-resort to hear the news, and find out counties. Senator Scott and assoment. Ralph perceived it as he rode alone, upward of 500 men and women up. An excited crowd, even though had suffered some form of violence dollath had prior claims, as he evidently thought he had. He turned ing lawyers, doctors, and even prohopefully to the sermon, determined to pick up any crumbs of comfort that might fall from Mr. Besaw's meagre table. In reporting h single specimen of Mr. Bosaw's sermon, I shall not take the liberty which Thucydides and other ancient historians did, of making the sermon and putting it into the hero's mouth, but shall give that which can be vouched for. "You see, my respective hearers," he began—but alas! I can never pie ture to you the rich red nose, the see sawing gestures, the masal resonance, the sniftle, the inclancholy minor key, and all that. "My respective hearers - ah, you see - ah as how - ah as my text'--ah says that the ox-knoweth his owner-ah, and-ah the ass-ah his master's crib-ah. A-h blance—ah atwext men-ah and the affair: oxen-ah." | Raiph could: not help reflecting that there was a mighty sight of resemblance between some men and asses. But the preacher did Hudson Bay Post discovered a squad not see this analogy. It lay too close of armed men approaching the Post to him h, "bekase—ah, you see, men approaching the Land is mighty like oxen—ah. Fer in military array. At their head in military array.
