BY WILL M. CARLETON. They've got a bran new prean sine.
For all their fuse and search.
They've done just what they said they'd do,
And fetched it into church
They're bound the trilled what be seen,
And on the preacher saight.
They ve hoisted up their new machine
In every body's sight.
They ve got a chorister and their.
Agin my voice and vote;
For it was not my desire.
To praise the Lord by 506:

I've been a sister good an true I ve been a sister good as true
For five an' thirty year;
I 've done what seemed my part to do.
An' prayed my duty clear;
I ve sung the hymns both slow an' quick,
Just as the preacher read.
An' twice, when Deacon Tubbs was sick,
I took the tork an' lea!
And now, their bold, new-fang led ways.

To day the preacher, good old dear,
With tears all in his yes,
Read. "I can read my stile clear
To mansions in the sites,"
I al ars like d that bleaned him.
Is pose I al ars will.
It somehow gratifies in whim,
In good old Ortonvil s:
But when the choir go up to sing,
I couldn't catch a we d:
They sung the most de gondest thing
A body ever heard is Some wordly chaps we stadin' near,
An' when I seed the strin
I bid farceel to every fear
And boldly waded it.
I thought I'd chase the line slope.
And tried with all my might:
But though my voice is good an strong,
I couldn't steer it right.
When they was high then I was low,
An' also contra wide.
And I lee fast or they too slow.

And I too fast or they too slow, To "mansions in the skies." An' after every verso Fou know, They played a little tune; I started it too sooth pitched it prefty midulin' high I pitched it prefty minuin aign.

Lietched a lusy ione.

But on alas! I found that I

Was singing there alone!

They laughed a little, I am told;

But I had done by best;

And now a wave of trophe rolled

And sister Brown—I could but look—
She sits right frost of me;
She never was no singin' book,
And never went to be;
But then she al'ars tried to do
The best she could, she said;
She understood time, right through,
An' keep' it, with her head;
But when she tried this morning', oh,
I had to laugh, of cough!
It keepin' her bead a bobbin' so,
It e'en a'most came off! It e'en a'most came off!

An' Dazcon Tubbs—be all broke down,
As one might well suppose:
He took one look at Sister Brown,
And meekly scratched his nose
He looked his bymn book through an'
Bnd laid it on the seat,
And then a pengiro sigh he drew,
And looked coupletely beat.
An when they took another bout,
He didn't even rise;
But drawed his red bandanner out,
And when they took and he royes. I've been a sister, good at true.

For ave and thirry year; I've done what seemed my part to do. Au' prayed my duty clear;
But death will stop my voice, I know,
For he is on my track;
And some day I to church will go, And never more come back.

And when the folks get up to sing—

Whene'er that time shall be— I do not want no patent thing A squeatin' over me.
