In our telegraphic dispatches from New York on Saturday the 17th inst. allusion was made to a statemen which appeared in the New York Sun of the previous day, in which is was boldly charged that a "ring," made up of certain State officials and two or three outsiders; had gobbled up the funds which Evans was charged with having embezzled, and facts figures and documents adduced to prove the allegation. Since then we have received the Sun in which the statement alluded to appeared. As we have already given the public the anti-Eyans side of the controversy we deem it but proper now to give the other side, and after having heard both, our readers will be able to judge for themselves how much of either or both to credit or reject. The writer in the Sun after an introductory state ment in relation to the extent of the claims of the State against the General Government and the efforts made to collect them says:

Here the matter rested for nearly two years. Meanwhile a change had taken place in the State Government. Curtin was succeeded by Governor Genry, J. F. Hartranft became Auditor General, and J.M. McClure Assistant Attorney-General. Shortly after their induction into office. Hart ranft and McClure smelled out the war claims. Their maws were empty and their appetites healthy. They saw there was good picking on the neglected carcass, and they straightway went for it. But not alone. They could not even make a beginnang while set help. After a careful survey of the approaches to the cove ed prize, it was resolved to weld together a ring. But the gretest amount of help was expected from the notorious Sammy Moon of Philadelphia. Sammy is a character. He is, next to A. D. Barber, the best third house leader in the country.
