Dr. McLean's Seminary was ignited by fire, on Monday of last week, from a spark falling upon the dry roof from one of the chimney's. It was discovered and extinguished in time to present serious damage. Persons should be very cautious in kindling tires, not to create too great a blaze in their chimneys in dry weather, as it is apt to set fire to the soot and "burn out;" creating many fire sparks, which, falling on dry shingled roofs—now almost universal are very likely to come to a conflagration of the building. It is hoped our people will soon be able to cover their buildings with slate or some other non-combustible material; especially the more costly structures.
