The melancholy days have trans.
The saddest of the year,
Of cleaning paint and scratching floors
And scouring far and sag.
Heaped in a corner of the trans.
The ancient dirt lay quies;
Nor rose up at the father's stand,
Nor to the children's rick. Bat now the carpets all are up.
And from the stair-case up.
The mistress calls to man that maid
To wield the broom and map. Where are those ruoms, these gaiet rox The house but now producted? Wherein we dwelt, nor dramed of dirt, So cosy and contented? Alas! they're turned all unide down, With slops and suds and salep and sand And tubs and pails and smoms. Chairs, tables, stands are standing roun At sixes and at sovens, while wife and housemake fly about Like meteors through the heavens.

The parior and the chamber floors Were cleaned two weeks ago; The carpets shook, the withlows washed. As all the neighbors knew. But still the sanctum had escaped,
The table piled with books,
Pens, ink and paper all about—
Peace in its very looks— Till fell the women on them all. As fails the plague on man, And then they banished allaway— Books, paper, ink and pen. And now, when comes the master home As come he must o' nights, To find all things are "set to wrongs" That they have "set to rights;" When the sound of driving tacks to her Though the house is far from still, And the carpet woman's on the stairs— That barbinger of ill,—

He looks for papers, books or bills, That all were there before, And sighs to find them in the desk, Or in the drawer no more. And then be grinly thinks of her.
Who set this has adont.
And wishes not ware that at each
in a very leaky book.

He meets her at the parlor door, With hair and cap awry. With sleeves tucked up and broom in h Defiance in her eye He feels quite small, and knows full well-There's nothing to be said; So, Lolds his torgue and drinks his tes, And sneaks away to bed.

earth, the flora will be of profit and instruction. The air is pure and lifegiving, and acts upon the nerves like champagne. Far beyond Switzer-land, far beyond the Tyrol, or the Highlands, or the Lake countay, or Norway, Colorado stands to-day inviting the tired citizen to come and find rest and health in the midsummer months.

Colorado is scarcely a new story, and we make this allusion as a hint to those of our readers who are wandering where to go in the summer. But here we have really a new story, told us by General Phil, Sheridan, who sent out an expedition to see, to the uses of the people of the United Staes forever, what we are in the hablit of calling "the Yellowstone country." The passage of the act was wise, for as we read the reports published by General Sheridan, we find an aggregation of curiosities and natural phenomena in this proposed park that has no parallel in the world. As we peruse the precise and cold and formal words of these official reports we feel the glow and col-of our enthusiasts who care to found a new religion upon refined princi-ples of eternal damnation will wel-com the Yellow-stone discoveries. For here are what we call "Sulphur Mountains," with marvelous deposits of brimstone; the earth covered with boiling springs, caverns of pure crystalized sulphur, the air dense with the fumes of sulphuretted hyin reality; with deep vibrations in the subterranean caverus far away be-neath the hills." What an opportunity for a powerful preacher to inculcate the doctrines of eternal punishment, the vengeance of an angry Gal and the sure reward of all sins! Now that the movement to ted in 1832." wards secession and evangelical reformation is seen in many of our churches, here is an opportunity for an exodus as marked as that of Joseph Miller or Brigham Young. Then we pass to the scenes which have no theological associations.-

Drachenfels? Here are turrets of granite and feldspar and castles of basaltic rock, lifted high into the air for hundreds of feet, carved with fashioned church or stronghold. One for instance, which is thus described: "Turret or tower, one hundred and twenty feet in circumference; broken and crumbling masses of rock suggesting a battlemented turret; the whole structure graceful in proportions and details, resembling an old castle somewhat in ruins, even to the portholes. made by small apertures a surer hand and clearer eye then ever stholog made by small apertures in turret and base." Then we have pyramids of basaltic columns, as massive and vast as those of Egypt, says the writer, and of many colors mainly of a deep red tint from the salts of iron, but unfrequently of a delicate gray, saffron, a light gamboge, pink and green, and the ashes of Then we have cascades and rocky gorges and caverns.
