Sabbath afternoon, a runaway accident occurred at Hollow Rock Camp-Meeting which came near proving fatal to "Vol." Gillespie, who resides at McCoy's Station. He, in company with a number of companions, had been indulging in rather free libations from bottles which had been carried to the grounds, and the result-was that they become somewhat disorderly. A friend went to Gillespie and told him he would have to choose between going home and being arrested. He chose the former, and got into his conveyance, when his horse started anddealy and ran away, and he was thrown violently to the ground. He was picked up in an insensible, and what was at first supposed a dying condition; but it was afterward ascertained that a broken collar-hone and some severe bruises were the extent of the injury. The buggy was
