THE UMBRELLA GIRL. BY L. M. MAMA CHILD. A young girl, the daughter of a poor widow, remonstrated with her mother for her living by covering umbrellas. She was very handsome, with glossy curls like ringlets, and eyes like "blue diamonds." She had a habit of looking at the people who were passing by, and when she saw a young man who she thought was handsome, she would look at him with a longing gaze. One day she saw a young man who she thought was handsome, and she followed him. She saw him enter a house, and she went in. She saw a young man who she thought was handsome, and she followed him.
