facts confirms me. I could not think it possible at one time that we could carry such a load, but the appliances, with expert counting, done the work biberal flow of money than the miner's screen bill or anything else. Here some two or three leading democrats who had up to some ten days before the election been loud in their denunciation of the republican party and its gang of public fleecers, came to the polls, not to work and wrangle with their neighbors for the success of the democratic ticket, but to see that the squads of democrat chattles they headed and brought with them to the polls were all provided and brought with them to the polls were all provided with republican toxage and the safety handed in at the window.—
