Senate, has carried out a determination formed before he took the chair, viz: of abolishing the "archives." To the uninitiated a word of explanation is neces sary. Hereto fore it has been the custom of the Librarian of the Senate to provide rooms adjacent to the chamber, but finally found a hiding place in the little room back of the Speaker's deak, and here many of the members were wont to make frequent trips, not only in hours but out of hours of session. To the more temperate men in the Senate, the 'archives" have long been an eyesore, and last year an attempt was made to do away with the obnoxious arrangement. It worked well for awhile, but finally "bottle" was fully and completely restored.
