

The Beaver Argus.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1873.
PUBLISHED BY G. B. BROWN, AT THE BEAVER ARGUS OFFICE, 100 N. 10TH ST., PITTSBURGH, PA.

Mr. Mitchell, of Butler county, has been selected to fill the vacancy in the Constitutional Convention created by the death of Col. Hopkins of Washington county. Mr. Mitchell is a Democrat, and came within a few votes of beating Col. Hopkins for that position at the election held last fall.

Since the adjournment of Congress the Secretary of the Treasury has issued $1,650,000 of the reserved greenback fund. Mr. Boutwell says this is to meet the immediate demands on the Treasury, and has no bearing on the condition of the money market, and being merely for immediate use, and to be returned in a few days. The funds were necessary in order to pay the increase of salaries provided by Congress, which amounts to nearly $2,000,000.

The Secretary of the Treasury states that these by the Department of the legal-tender reserves will not exceed $3,000,000, and it is hardly expected to be much over $2,000,000. The amount drawn from the reserve fund is for the convenience of the Department alone, and has no relation whatever to the money market, and is not concentrated at any one place, but is distributed in paying warrants to parties all over the country. There is no intention at the Department to permanently expand the currency, and in the views of the Secretary, the present expansion of the currency is a temporary expedient.

Secretary Boutwell, was on last Wednesday elected a Senator of the United States by the Legislature of Massachusetts. His principal competitor was Henry L. Dawes, one of that State's Representatives in Congress. Mr. Dawes was slightly mixed up in the Credit Mobilier business, at the beginning of the last session of Congress, and had it not been for that he would more than likely have beaten Mr. Boutwell for the Senatorial prize. Immediately after Mr. Boutwell's election on Wednesday, Senator Sumner called upon him and congratulated him as follows: "I congratulate the country, I congratulate the State, and I congratulate myself in having you as my colleague."

In another column of the Argus the reader will find an account of the Chinese question, written by "Gull Hamilton," for the New York Independent. The writer has for many years past distinguished for his good sense, keenness of observation, and entire independence in the expression of his views on all political and social questions. His has been to North Adams, Massachusetts, recently, where a number of Chinese have been at work for some time past in a shoe factory. What she saw and heard and learned there, touching the Chinese, their habits and disposition, she has recorded in the article to which reference is made. It will be seen that she opens up some new phases of the Chinese question, and draws a contrast between the most encouraging signs of the complimentary to persons who glory in calling themselves "American citizens."

The Ohio State Journal (Republican) says that "the defender of the thieves of a party is not a party organ but a thieves' organ." It is one of the most encouraging signs of the times to note the bold and manly independence which is beginning to characterize the respectable journals of the country. The old fashioned party "organ" is playing out, and must give way to a higher order of journalism. The spread of intelligence is forcing it. As the masses become educated they begin to think for themselves, and will not be deceived by a bigoted, one-sided, partisan view on any question. They will demand a plain, unvarnished statement of the facts in the case, and make up their verdict in accordance therewith. A clear exemplification of this is seen in the course pursued by the almost entire press of the country in regard to the Credit Mobilier frauds. No partisan journal has been so frank in its exposure of the broken in the Credit Mobilier. A few made the attempt, but public opinion would not bear it. The successful journalist of the future must have an inflexible regard for truth; honesty; that no temptation can corrupt; and independence superior to every consideration of mere interest, enmity or friendship. The progress of the times demand it.

The election held in New Hampshire last week, resulted in the choice of three Democrats for Congress, and a Republican Legislature. Straw, the Republican candidate for Governor, leads his Democratic competitor, but as he did not receive a majority of all the votes cast for that office. The choosing of a governor now devolves upon the Legislature, which will elect Straw. The gentlemen elected to represent the State in Congress were members of the last House, and made good records for themselves while in that body. Neither of them were mixed up with the Credit Mobilier business and all voted against increasing their own and other officers' salaries. Party lines were not tightly drawn, and in fact every voter claimed the right to do as he pleased, and the mixed result shows pretty clearly that a great many of them exercised that privilege. The Republican candidates for Governor, and the Republican candidates for the Legislature, generally, did not defend their party friends at Washington, and the people stood by them and supported them; while on the other hand, the Republican candidates for Congress were treated in treating the Mobilier scandal with levity and tried to pooh, pooh it out of sight. The voters did the poohing themselves and elected them to stay at home. The result therefore, shows that neither of the two political parties, as such, gained a victory in New Hampshire. It was a triumph of decency and honesty over insincerity and fraud, and that is all there is of it.

Three election in Green county, was held on last Friday, and the returns show a majority of 1,600 against prohibition.
