The Beaver Argus. EDITOR. 4. WEYAND,

Beaver, Pa., June 11, 1873.

THE ARGUS thanked the Republican voters of the county six years ago for throwing away the Delegate, and adopting the Popular vote system of nominating candidates for county offices. It thanks them now for declining the advice of irresponsible, unscrupulous parties, who used all their influence at the recent primary meetings to have that system thrown away, and the old, rotten, delegate method restored,

THE Democratic State Committee of Pennsylvania met on the 4th inst. in the Merchants' Hotel, at Philadelpresided. The Chairman was direct. ed to properly express in his address to the people of the State a sense of the Administration in the Louisiana trouble.

The water comes out boiling hot from below, and is gradually cooled as it flows through the canal, so that persons can choose a point between the springs and the river where the temperature will suit them, and enjoy a bath most luxurious, though not accomplished without a fair share of difficulties. The results are certainly luxurious to a traveler, who has ridden sixty miles at a gallop in the July sun and over the alkali plains, as I have oc-casionally tested. As to the medic-inal qualities of the springs, they have been tested in rheumatic cases, and have effected wonderful cures. The water is strongly impregnated with sulphur, as are most of the hot springs of that region. Some of our party started up a rattlesnake, which species abound in all this interior egion, and drove the reptile through the tall rye-grass and sage-brush into the stream; and then lashed the surbreaking it. face behind it with willow switches, and made it swim up the current which it continued to do until it became parboiled and gave up the ghost. The band here contains two men who preach the Christian religion, as Donald McKay tells me, and they hold religious services each Sabbath, which are attended by most, though some of them are still attached to the Smoholla faith. Donald also explains that in his opinion Smoholla, many years ago, invented his faith from what he could learn about the Christian religion from Catholic priests, from officers of the Hudson Bay Company, and from Mr. Spaulding, a Protest ant missionary. From all this in-quiry he developed a religion that he thought suited to his own race, and has become a prophet and dreamer among them.
