

POLITICAL.

The election under the Local Option law, takes place in Clarion county on Friday, February the 21st.

The Pittsburg Chronicle says: It is stated that General B. Rush Cowen, of Ohio, the present Assistant Secretary of the Interior, has consented to accept the Commission of Indian Affairs.

Senator Wilson intends to transmit to Governor Washburn his resignation the latter part of this week, in order that the election of his successor may take place on Tuesday the 18th.

The Secretary of the Treasury in a letter to General Garfield, thus states the actual expenses of the Government during the past year:

Legislative, $4,675,975.97; Executive, $60,941,68; State, $2,241,438.20; Treasury, $146,514,354.65; War, $35,904,608.63; Navy, $21,292,453.93; Interior, $20,154,690.90; Postoffice, $5,643,710.91; Agriculture, $191,392.91; Department of Justice, $23,006.50; Judiciary, $3,576,783.39—total actual expenses of the Government for the last fiscal year, $359,481,544.99.

By strict party vote—58 to 51—the House of Representatives in North Carolina has refused to remove the disabilities imposed on ex Governor Holden by the court of impeachment.

The bill heretofore referred to, creating a new United States Judicial District for this State, has passed the House by a vote of 93 to 50. Its fate in the Senate is uncertain.

The Harrisburg correspondent of the Erie Dispatch says: "Mr. Brown is on the leading committees of Ways and Means, Judiciary General, Judiciary Local, Congressional Apportionments, and Chairman of Federal Relations. If this is not a fair shake, what is? No new member stands higher on the list."

The Harrisburg State Journal says: "Senator Rutan's determination to insist that all bills read in place shall be referred to the proper standing committee, has excited the approval of the entire Republican press of the State, which applauds his independence and courage in a matter out of which so much wrong has heretofore grown."

S. B. Conover, Republican, has been elected United States Senator by the Florida Legislature on the fifth ballot. Twenty-seven Democrats voted with the Republicans.

Ex Governor Joel A. Matterson died on Friday at the residence of his son-in-law, R. C. Grodel, in Chicago. He was Governor of Illinois from 1853 to 1857.

LOCAL ITEMS.

AGENTS—C. W. Taylor, Beaver Falls; Evan Peck, New Brighton; J. Linnenbrink, Rochester.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The Beaver Radical is the most extensively circulated Weekly Newspaper in Western Pennsylvania.

Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad. Going West—Mail, 7:46 a. m.; Accommodation, 8:40 p. m. Going East—Accommodation, 9:19 a. m.; Mail, 10:00 p. m.; Express, 7:07 p. m.

Arrival and Departure of Mails. Western mail leaves at 8 a. m.; arrives at 9 p. m. Eastern mail leaves at 3 p. m.; arrives at 9 a. m. New Lisbon mail leaves every Friday, (instead of Monday), at 8 a. m.; arrives on Saturday, at 5 p. m. Black Hawk, St. Clair, Clarkson and New Lisbon.

The time is now coming for public sales, and the place to get bills printed is at THE RADICAL OFFICE.

W. R. Elliott's ILLUSTRATED PLANT AND SEED CATALOGUE, mailed FREE to all applicants. W. R. ELLIOTT, No. 114 Market street, Pittsburgh, Pa. Jan31-1m

Either Ladies or Gentlemen.—If relying on the want of employment, either at home or abroad, call at once on, or address, S. Hovon, No. 201, Penn avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. Jan31-2m

"Prof. Bidwell's lecture on 'Beauty' pleased every body. It was instructive, witty and eloquent, a model Lyceum lecture."—Pittsburgh (N. H.) Daily Chronicle, Dec. 12, 1870.

Physicians will always find a complete stock of best and reliable medicines, at the Beaver Dispensary. All official preparations made according to the new Pharmacopoeia (1870); a large assortment of Elixirs and new remedies always on hand. HENRI ANDRIESEN, Beaver Drug Store.

"Rev. Ira G. Bidwell, gave two very excellent lectures before the Institute describing in the first, in a humorous manner, the district school of 'long eyes,' pointing out its faults and remedies. In the evening he gave a brilliant lecture on 'The Secret of Personal Beauty.'"—New Hampshire Sentinel (Keene, N. H.) Nov. 24, 1870.

The time is now coming for public sales, and the place to get bills printed is at THE RADICAL OFFICE.

The public will please remember Col. Conwell's lecture in the M. E. Church, Beaver, Pa., on Thursday evening. Single tickets 50 cents; tickets for the course of four lectures, $1.50 instead of $2.00 as heretofore announced. No reserved seats. Tickets for sale at Orr & Cooper's, J. M. McCree's, Beaver, and B. Mulheim's, Bridgewater. By order of Committee.

Notice Extraordinary.—All orders for subscriptions must be paid for, (at least in part) when the order is given. Orders not so accompanied will receive no attention. H. Noss, Feb-2m

Will our readers read the excellent article on Temperance by "Observer," which will be found in another column.

Deliberate Self-Murder.—A BUTLER COUNTY FARMER SHOTS HIMSELF THROUGH THE HEAD.—One of the most deliberate suicides which we have ever been called upon to record was committed some time on Saturday last, in Butler county, at a point about two miles west of Bakerstown, the victim being Adam Stewart, a well known resident of that county. The family of the deceased, as we are informed, were absent from home, and he was greatly distressed in consequence. On Friday last he called at a neighbor's house and requested him to visit him on the following afternoon as he had important business to transact. He seemed to be very anxious and would not leave the house until he had received repeated assurances that the request would be complied with. This was the last time the unfortunate man was seen alive. On Saturday evening his neighbor, accompanied by a friend, called at Mr. Stewart's house, but receiving no response to their knocks, walked into the building. They were horrified to find the man, lying dead on the floor, with his face and clothing covered with blood. The hasty glance was sufficient to convince them that his death had been caused by his own hands. The deceased had made the most deliberate and ingenious preparations for the deed. He had spread a large sheep skin on the floor with the wool side up, near a doorway leading to an upper story. At the foot of the stairs a chair had been laid, with the back resting on the lower steps. A loaded gun had been placed so that while the butt end rested on the second step, the muzzle protruded between the rungs, and thus held firmly in position. After making these preparations it is supposed that he laid down and discharged the gun by touching the trigger with the ramrod, as that article was lying at his side. The entire load entered at the left temple and passed entirely through the head, making a fearful wound, and causing instant death, as there was no evidence that the deceased had moved. His head had been held so close to the muzzle of the gun that the hair was singed by the fire. Our informant states that the deceased was about fifty years of age, but assigned no reason for the deed. It is said, however, that the deceased had some domestic troubles, and is supposed that these impelled him to commit the fearful crime. A note was found in the room, written by the deceased, which contained the following: "I end my days on February 1st at twelve o'clock," and this is the only clue as to the time the deed was committed.—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

Death of Rev. John Eagleson, D. D.—The Washington Reporter says: It is our painful duty to announce the death of this gentleman which took place at his residence near Buffalo Village on Thursday last. On the preceding Friday he seemed to be in the enjoyment of his usual health and made arrangements to attend a funeral, but before getting ready to leave home was suddenly attacked with severe illness and compelled to take his bed. Erysipelas soon developed itself, and bidding defiance to medical skill, the fearful malady continued to make rapid progress until the fatal termination on the day already named.

Dr. Eagleson was one of the oldest ministers belonging to the Presbytery of Washington. He was educated at Jefferson College, and upon the completion of his collegiate course commenced the study of theology. Shortly after being licensed to preach he took pastoral charge of the congregation of Upper Buffalo, becoming the immediate successor of the venerable Dr. Anderson who had been compelled to relinquish the charge through the infirmity of years, and on the Sabbath preceding his death had completed the thirty-ninth year of his pastorate. He was a man of more than ordinary intellectual force, and was justly regarded as one of the foremost men of his denomination in this part of the country. He was a clear thinker, a vigorous writer, and although not an eloquent, was yet a forcible speaker. The tendency of his mind was chiefly in the direction of rigid analysis, and following this natural inclination sometimes led him into controversy with the ministers of his own as well as of other denominations. Gifted with discriminating powers of no mean order, and having a taste for grappling with the nicest questions of ecclesiastical jurisdiction, he always took a prominent part in church courts, and the ardor with which he entered into the discussions sometimes caused him to appear as the zealous advocate rather than the dispassionate judge. Decided in his convictions and firm in his purposes, he always defended his views with earnestness and determination, but was usually credited by his brethren with entire sincerity. His faithfulness as a pastor is fully attested by the uniform harmony and prosperity which have attended the flock of which he has so long had the oversight. Suddenly deprived of him who for more than a generation has led them in the "green pastures" and by the "still waters," they look up to the Great Shepherd with full confidence that He will not forsake them even in this hour of sore bereavement.

We are indebted to the publishers, for a copy of Little Things, printed and published once a month, by a family of little girls, at seventy five cents a year. The little paper is intended for children and is got up in neat style, and offers in the way of chromos great inducements to subscribers.

Miss Willard.—The audience assembled to hear Miss Willard's lecture on "The New Chivalry," or "The School Mistress Abroad," at the U. P. Church on Monday evening, was not very large but respectable, owing to the very bad weather and the inclemency of the weather. Miss Willard's appearance is that of an earnest, sensible, cultured lady, with no disagreeable affectation nor studied manner of delivery; but plain, neat, effective and continually interesting and instructive. The lecturer defined her subject to be "the sex now dominant on this planet," and went on to illustrate the condition of woman under this domination, both in the old world and the new. Upon the balmy Nile a girl is sold into marriage at ten years, and if unfaithful to her vow, her man would cut her to pieces and throw her into the stream. These women meet in no convention, make no struggle with destiny, but remain passive, a zero mark upon the scale of being; whose symbol is a tear. The Roman matron's life was spent at thirty-four years; her hair becomes gray; her gentle eyes are dimmed and traces of a former glory only remain; her occupations are limited to keeping a fashionable boarding house, giving Italian lessons; her ignorance of the world outside of her native land, is remarkable and sad to know. There is no place in Italy for marriageable girls who are unmarried except the cloister. Life begins in earnest with them at twelve, and they are old at twenty-five. Italian women know nothing about college education or equality before the marriage law and a strong minded woman would shock her sense of propriety. In France the women buy their husbands, and the men know their value. A tempting dowry is sufficient to make any matrimonial bargain easy. The girls are easily managed, they are charmingly submissive, and when a suitable young man in the market is discovered and presented, the French girl will simmer, make a courtesy, and say, "as you please." To be married is such a release that few hesitate to accept at once. Marriage is an arrangement of parents and friends. Estate, not love, is the determining element in the transaction. In Germany boys and girls are treated in a similar manner, and hard cash is considered the thing for a young man to have if he asks for the hand of a young lady. Girls exist to get married in which relation they enjoy a greater social freedom. In England the case is not much better. The influence of the old world chivalry has not elevated woman to her true dignity and worth. The Knights of the old chivalry give to women the empty husk of flattery, those of the new, the kernel of just criticism, the old drank woman's health in flowing bumpers; the new sit down beside them at the banquet of truth. In America woman has advantages no where else to be found. She enjoys more educational privileges, more social freedom, and a wide sphere of action. She is tending toward independence. The golden age, the age of true chivalry, Christ-like, is approaching, and both men and women here are moved onward to their realizations by prophetic impulse. It does not yet appear what women shall be. She is the unknown quantity in the equation of life, but the true way to elevate her is by education. Educate her, develop her head and heart, set her to all appropriate and useful work, and she will find her true place in the life that is to come. American or the new chivalry is leading in this new era. God speed the coming day.

L. Steinfeld is selling out at cost to quit business. Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly, an independent journal, open to the absolutely free discussion of all subjects in which human welfare is involved, and which is especially the organ of Social Reform, is published by Victoria C. Woodhull and Tencie C. Claflin, (Woodhull & Claflin) at No. 48 Broad street, New York, upon the following terms: One copy one year, $3.00; five copies one year, $12.00; ten copies one year, $22.00; twenty copies one year, $40.00; six months half these rates.

Go to L. Steinfeld's Clothing store. He is selling out at cost.

The short days are departing. The sun sets eighteen minutes later than it did on the 21st of December. We gladly welcome the coming spring, when the birds will return to delight us with their songs, and mother earth will be released from the icy bands of winter, and with renewed vigor send forth the green verdure and sweet scented flowers that are already impatient under their long and weary imprisonment.

The time is now coming for public sales, and the place to get bills printed is at THE RADICAL OFFICE.

Col. Conwell, who lectures in Beaver on the evening of February 6th, will also lecture at Beaver Falls for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association, on Friday evening, and at New Brighton in Broadway Hall, on Saturday evening, February 8th. He is also engaged for Sewickley, Monday evening, February 10th. The great fame of Col. Conwell will be guarantee of large audiences.

Now is an opportunity to get clothing at cost at L. Steinfeld's, Rochester, Pa.

The second Lecture of the Independent Course, will be delivered by Rev. Ira G. Bidwell, in Beaver, February 13, 1873. Tickets for sale at Orr & Cooper's, Third street, Beaver, Pa.

"Ground Hog Day."—There is that everlasting old ground hog, the venerable old brute, he has gone and done it again, spoiled all our good weather for six weeks to come. Yes, he came out on his memorable second of February, and with one long, lingering look at his shadow he retired, utterly spoiled from six to seven weeks of our best weather. I do not wish to be too severe in denouncing the actions of the old weather spoiler, perhaps it is partly the fault of omniscience; but I think the ground hog might try it just one day, and see what the result would be to omit looking at his shadow. But the saying is every dog has his day, and I expect every ground hog has his day also; and as he chooses the second day of February for his day, perhaps we should not blame him for doing just as he chooses on his own day. Should it prove ever so detrimental to others, yet, let him look at his shadow. Some folks are afraid of their shadow. Not so with our four-footed friend of the forest; no, not him. He can stand and stare right at his shadow in a manner so insulting that the elements tremble with rage and cease to do their duty for us mortals by utterly refusing to obey the mandates of nature, and the consequence is the storm king rains supreme, snows supreme and freezes supreme in the region round about where such shadow-gazing is indulged in by the ground hog. Though it must be admitted that this brute of a weather fore-teller is sometimes a little curious about his day, and occasionally when folks do not think about it he has his day come on a cloudy day, in which case he does not see his shadow and the weather is not insulted at his staring at it, and good humoredly opens up the spring, so that farmers in particular and other folks in general can get their spring labor completed before the middle of summer, in which case the ground hog is a fine little fellow and just suits everybody.

The ground hog, it must be remembered, burrows in the earth, especially in winter time. When he wishes to take up his abode in the ground he does so by means of a hole therein, and the manner in which he contrives to get the hole in the ground is the strangest part of his maneuvering, as anyone who will take the trouble to look can see that there is no loose ground at the entrance to his winter quarters; nor can his place of abode be identified by any other means. Some ground hog observers say that he carries the loose earth, produced by excavating his thoroughfares, and deposits it some distance from the place of his abode. Others maintain that he commences at the other end of the hole to dig, and the question as to how he gets to the other end of the hole is his own lookout; but both these conclusions are practically absurd. Now I know how the ground hog obtains access to his winter quarters, and my experience is simply this: One day, late in the fall, while roaming in a dense forest, I saw at a short distance the venerable old weather brute busily engaged at work, and being desirous of knowing what he was doing I secreted myself from his view and awaited the result of his toil. He was faithfully engaged in gnawing and dressing with his teeth, to a proper size and shape, a long hole which he had pulled out of a hollow log near by. When his work was completed, (and it was just before a hard rain,) he hunted a clear place in the tree tops, upended the hole and propped it up with wood and brush, and the rain drove it into the ground; then the ground hog went into his hole and pulled it in after him, thus hiding all traces of his solitary winter abode. He then wraps himself up in his long haired overcoat, and puts himself "in his little bed," to while away the long winter nights with no one to keep him company, "no one to love, no one to care." But in his loneliness he snoozes away until he floods by consulting his mental calendar (for he has no almanac like other folks,) that his day has come, the long-looked for second of February, he shoves the cherished ground hog hole to the surface of the earth and carefully peers out to ascertain if there are any men, boys or dogs about, these being his most vital enemies. Having satisfied himself on this point he shakes himself, and with a dignified air of self-assurance he proceeds to his regular business of weather-making; looks about, shakes himself again, roots around a little more, casts his eyes toward the sun, then looks for his shadow, and if he don't see it he goes off about his work to make an honest living; but if he sees his shadow he looks at it for a few moments, then rushes back into his hole, pulls it in after him, cuddles down in his little bed, and the result upon the weather is known to all the weather-witches and superstitious people in the country. SKEPTIC.

L. Steinfeld is closing up business. Don't forget that he is selling out at cost. Rochester, Pa.

List of letters remaining in Beaver Falls post office, February 1st, 1873: Miss M. G. Baker, Mr. John Bobb, James H. Coburn, Dr. J. Coblentz, Robert Evans, Jessy McOllier, Tillie Patterson, Joseph Rutter, Mr. Reed, Joseph H. Reo, Joseph Sterrett, (2) Thomas Thomas, Joseph Wickline, Elizabeth B. Walsh, Manass Yono. J. L. B. Dawson, P. M.

The annual meeting of the Central Agricultural Society, of Mercer County, for the election of officers for the year was held on Tuesday with the following result: President, J. P. Kerr; Vice President, Jas. Dennison; Secretary, W. J. McKean; Treasurer, A. J. McKean; Auditor, A. B. Filson. Directors, Jas. A. Nelson, Andrew Robinson, Robert McKee, J. M. McLean, J. D. Kirkpatrick, S. S. Donaldson and Edward Dennison.

William P. Alcorn, formerly of this place, and now of Bucyrus, Crawford county, Ohio, being on a visit to his friends here this week, paid us a friendly call on Monday, from whom we understand that he is a candidate for Sheriff in Crawford county on the Democratic ticket, and since the county is strongly Democratic he has only to gain the nomination to ensure his election. His many friends will be glad to hear of his success.

List of letters remaining in Beaver post-office, February 1st, 1873: Mr. Michael Beirton, D. Clark, J. A. Cline, Mrs. Margaret Davis, H. C. Green, (3) Mr. Josiah M. Jackson, J. M. Johnson, Esq., S. C. Kenney, Esq., Loucks & Wood, Thomas Leonard, William Large, Mr. Adam Menor, Mr. D. G. Morgan, Mrs. Powers, (care John Riley,) Mr. Rice, Mr. John Roberts.

Why does every family endorse the Sings Sewing Machine? Simply on account of its meeting their wants in every sense, and doing what they require. R. Snyaw & Co., No. 10 Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Pimples on the face, Eruptions, Blotches, Scrofulous diseases and all sores arising from impure blood, are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

The Brookville Jeffersonian publishes the following electioneering article, which is signed by the proprietors of five hotels in the town of Brookville:

ED. JEFFERSONIAN.—Dear Sir.—We the undersigned, Hotel keepers in the Borough of Brookville, wishing to give timely notice, to the citizens of the county, that to enable them to keep open houses in case that voters of the county by their votes on the 3d of February next decide against the granting of licenses, have agreed upon the following scale of prices, which will be faithfully adhered to:

Board per week (with fire), $10.00; board per week (without fire), $7.00; table board per week, $6.00; meals, 75c; lodging, 75c; Horsefeed, 50c; Hay, 50c; keeping team over night, 30c.

Local Option.—At a regular meeting of the Beaver County Citizens Executive Committee, held at the Court House, February 1st, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we sincerely deplore any interference, on the part of the present Legislature, with the Local Option law, until the same has been fairly and honestly tried by the citizens of the Commonwealth.

Resolved, That the separation of cities from the counties in which they are located, is calculated to defeat the object of said law and is an uncalled for concession to the liquor traffic.

Resolved, That we earnestly request our members of the House of Representatives and our Senator, to use their utmost efforts to defeat all attempts to alter the essential features of the law, until the people have voted upon the same.

Resolved, That the Secretary of this committee be requested to forward a copy of these resolutions, to our Senator and Representatives in the Legislature.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the different papers of the county. Adjourned to meet at the Court House in Beaver, on Friday evening, February 7th.

J. P. Moore, of Ohio township, has a remarkable calf that weighed when calved 114 pounds, and now being nearly two months old, pulls down 277. This beats the Argus calf by 23 pounds. That paper is always behind, except in fabrication and there it distances all competitors.

The extreme cold and the "beautiful snow," are suggestive of good warm clothing, and the place we recommend to get the value of your money is the well known store of S. & J. Snellenburg, New Brighton. These gentlemen are selling at the lowest rates and offer in the way of winter suits, splendid bargains. You can get all kinds of gentlemen's furnishing goods at their establishment.

"The lecture of November 2d, by Rev. Ira G. Bidwell, on the Secret of Personal Beauty," was practical, honest, outspoken, full of sharp, keen cuts at the follies and foibles of fashion, and of exaltation and praise of godliness and true living; these made people beautiful. The lecture was eloquently delivered and couched in manly, but amusing language, and his sentiments we would most emphatically endorse."—Bath (Me) Journal.

Fire.—A fire occurred at the Lochiel House, Harrisburg, on Sunday morning, burning up the wash and engine houses. There was considerable excitement among the guests, and a hurrying to and fro after baggage. By hard labor on the part of the firemen, the fire was extinguished in time to save the Hotel.

Sunday was ground hog day, and was decidedly prophetic. "If Candlemas Day be fair and bright, Winter will have another flight; But if Candlemas Day be clouds and rain, Winter is gone, and will not come again."

List of letters remaining in Beaver Falls post office, February 1st, 1873: Miss M. G. Baker, Mr. John Bobb, James H. Coburn, Dr. J. Coblentz, Robert Evans, Jessy McOllier, Tillie Patterson, Joseph Rutter, Mr. Reed, Joseph H. Reo, Joseph Sterrett, (2) Thomas Thomas, Joseph Wickline, Elizabeth B. Walsh, Manass Yono. J. L. B. Dawson, P. M.

The annual meeting of the Central Agricultural Society, of Mercer County, for the election of officers for the year was held on Tuesday with the following result: President, J. P. Kerr; Vice President, Jas. Dennison; Secretary, W. J. McKean; Treasurer, A. J. McKean; Auditor, A. B. Filson. Directors, Jas. A. Nelson, Andrew Robinson, Robert McKee, J. M. McLean, J. D. Kirkpatrick, S. S. Donaldson and Edward Dennison.

William P. Alcorn, formerly of this place, and now of Bucyrus, Crawford county, Ohio, being on a visit to his friends here this week, paid us a friendly call on Monday, from whom we understand that he is a candidate for Sheriff in Crawford county on the Democratic ticket, and since the county is strongly Democratic he has only to gain the nomination to ensure his election. His many friends will be glad to hear of his success.

List of letters remaining in Beaver post-office, February 1st, 1873: Mr. Michael Beirton, D. Clark, J. A. Cline, Mrs. Margaret Davis, H. C. Green, (3) Mr. Josiah M. Jackson, J. M. Johnson, Esq., S. C. Kenney, Esq., Loucks & Wood, Thomas Leonard, William Large, Mr. Adam Menor, Mr. D. G. Morgan, Mrs. Powers, (care John Riley,) Mr. Rice, Mr. John Roberts.

Why Endure What is Curable? "What can't be cured must be endured," says the proverb; but indigestion can be cured, and therefore it is the merest stupidity to endure it. Dyspepsia has certainly a right to continue, but as it is not supposed that any national being prefers physical torment to ease, from indigestion were convalescence an absolute, infallible remedy for their complaint existed, they would with one accord resort to it. We most emphatically declare that such a thing does exist, and that its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitter. The record of its success extends over a period of twenty years, and it is fearfully alleged that during the whole of that time it has never failed to afford permanent relief in any disorder or derangement of the stomach that was not organic, malignant, and incurable. The testimonial that we establish this important fact, can be counted by the thousands. Stomach complaints that had been aggravated by a total disregard of all dietary rules, and intensified and rendered chronic by medical treatment or drastic purgation, have in hundreds of instances been cured within three months by the systematic use of this celebrated stomachic alternative. It should be remembered that weakness of the digestive organs involves many other ailments. Biliousness, headache, nervous debility, spasms, palpitation of the heart, rush of blood to the head, nausea, vertigo, and sleeplessness are among its concomitants and results; and for all these the great vegetable tonic is a specific. It acts first upon the secretory and nervous systems and the bowels, its general effect being always genial and beneficent. feb-1m

An Excellent Pen.—We have been favored with a sample card of the celebrated Spencerian Steel Pens, and after trying them quite thoroughly are convinced of their superior merit. These pens are comprised in fifteen numbers, each differing in flexibility and fineness of point, so that the most fastidious penman cannot fail to find among the fifteen just such a pen as suits him. The Spencerian Pens are famous for their elasticity of movement, smoothness of point and great durability, and are nearer approximation to the real Swan Quill Pen than anything hitherto made. They are manufactured in England under the supervision of the originator of Steel Pens, the venerable Josiah Mason, and Joseph Gillott—the latter making a few of the numbers after the models of the late P. R. Spencer, the famous penman. They are used very largely in the common schools of the United States, in all the principal commercial colleges, in the government offices at Washington, and in the banks and commercial offices throughout the country, the sale reaching an enormous quantity annually. For the convenience of those who may wish to try them, a sample card of the Spencerian Pens may be had by mail by enclosing 25 cents to Messrs. Iveson, Blakeeman, Taylor & Co., 133 and 140 Grand Street, N. Y., or the pens may be bought at almost any store where pens are sold.

DETROIT, MICH., Jan. 27th, 1873. A. PARKER, Esq., PONTIAC, MICH. I have subjected to a careful analysis a package of White Lead, branded "Beymer, Bauman & Co.'s Strictly Pure White Lead," Pittsburgh, Pa., and find it to be as represented, a strictly pure article, free from all admixture. Yours, &c., SAM'L P. DUFFIELD, Ph. D.

MARRIED. RICE—DILLON.—At the office of Messrs. Cameron & Marks, Rochester, Pa., January 30th, 1873, by O. H. Cox, Esq., Mr. George Rice, to Miss Sadie Dillon, both of Island Run, Beaver county, Pa.

DIED. MCKENZIE—Jan. 31st, J. R. McKenzie of Vanport. WARRICK—On the 1st of February, Charley, aged three years and six months, and on the 4th of February, Jennie, aged nine years and six months—children of William and Matilda Warrick, of this place.

NEW BRIGHTON GRAIN MARKET. CORRECTED WEEKLY BY WADE WILSON. White Wheat per bushel, $1.70; Rye, 80; Oats, 65; Corn, 50; Buckwheat, 90.

New Advertisements. H. NOSS, PHOTOGRAPHER.

TREASURER'S OFFICE. BEAVER, PA., Feb. 5, 1873. Notice is hereby given to all Collectors of State and County Taxes for the year 1872, and all others that have unsettled accounts in the Treasurer's office, that their accounts must be settled up in full on or before MARCH 17th, 1873. All accounts not settled at that date will be left with J. R. Harris, Esq., the Comptroller for the County Commissioners, for collection. C. P. WALLACE, Treasurer. feb-7d

BEAVER COUNTY: The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, To Thomas J. Power, administrator of the estate of James M. Power, deceased, Eliza Garber, Matilda Day, W. A. B. Eberhart, Gilbert L. Eberhart, Albert G. Eberhart, Emilie E. Morton, Eleanor M. House, Samuel Owens, Eliza Vandy, Lucinda Mieselick and Nancy Sawhill, heirs at law of James M. Power. We command you and every and all of you, that laying aside all business and excuses, you be and appear in your proper persons before our Judge of the Orphans' Court, to be holden at Beaver, in and for the county of Beaver, on the THIRD MONDAY OF MARCH next, to answer the bill or petition of Thomas J. Power, Jr., for the specific performance of a parol contract, entered into with Jas. M. Power, late of said county, deceased, for a piece of ground situated in the borough of Rochester, in said county, and show cause, if any you have, why a decree should not be made for the specific performance of the contract in said petition mentioned, according to the true intent and meaning thereof, exhibited in our said Court, and to do further and to receive what our said Court shall have considered in that behalf. Hereof fail not at your peril and the penalty that may ensue. Witness the Honorable A. W. Acheson, President of our said Court, this 25th day of January, 1873. JOHN C. HART, Clerk O. C. (REAL.) feb-7d C. WHITE, Sheriff.

DISSOLUTION NOTICE. Notice is hereby given, that the partnership between J. M. McCree and Mrs. J. K. Sanderson, under the firm of J. M. McCree & Co., was dissolved on the 30th day of January, 1873. Mrs. J. K. Sanderson retiring. All debts due to said partnership are to be paid to J. M. McCree, who will continue the business at the old stand, Beaver, Pa. J. M. McCree, Mrs. J. K. SANDERSON. Jan31-3w

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE. ESTATE OF GEORGE NEELY, Dec'd. Letters testamentary on the estate of George Neely, deceased, late of Economy township, Beaver county, Pa., having been granted to the undersigned, all persons having claims or demands against said estate are required to present the same, and those indebted thereto to make payment to me. ROSETTA NEELY, Exec't. Petrolia, Beaver county, Pa., or to DANIEL NEELY, Jr., Baden, Beaver county, Pa. Jan17-6t

$5 TO $20 per day. Agents wanted for the class of persons who are in need of work for us, in their spare time, than at any other place. G. S. SIMON & Co.