The New York Journal of Commerce publishes, from advanced sheets of the repart of the Commissioner of the Census, a most important summary of the manufactures of the country by States, with comparative tables showing the growth of these industries in each State between the respective decennial periods of 1850-60-70. According to these tables our manufacturing industries almost doubled in importance during the ten years between 1850 and 1860, and have much more than doubled in the ten years between 1833 and 1870. But even this remarkable fact does not fully indicate the astonishing progress that has been made. In the tables for 1850 and 1860 the statistics for ed, whereas they do not appear in those for 1870. With this explanation the gains become still more extraordinary. New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts took the lead in the States in the year 1850 in the order named, and have ever since kept it; while little Rhode Island has doubled its manufactured products to over five times the annual product of B. F. BROWN & CO. 1850, in twenty years. In 1850, New York leading the list of States, producd in manufactured articles a value, in round numbers, of 2731/2 millions of dollars; in 1860, 370 millions, and in 1870, 785 millions. Pennsylvania came next, producing in 1850, 155 millions; in 1860, 290 millions, and in 1870, 713 millions. Massachuetts, the next, produced in 1850. 158 millions; in 1860, 2551/2 millions, and in 1870, 544 millions. The largest actual increase of munufacturing since 1850 has been in the Eastern and Middle States, vet the largest proportional increase has occurred in the new States of the Northwest; Michigan having increased from 11 millions in 1850 to 118 millions in 1870; and Wisconsin from 9 millions in 1850 to 77 millions in 1870; while Illinois, with a product of only 16 millions to Missouri's 24 millions in 1850, has increased to 2051/2 millions to Missouri's 206 millions in 1870. Minnesota has arisen from nothing in the manufacturing BOOTS. line in 1850 to a product of 23 millions' in 1870. Within the past decade Indiana has increased from 42 millions to 108 millions, and Ohio from 121 millions to 269 millions. Considerable manufacturing energy has also been exhibited in the Southern States, although Agents for James E. Stanbury's Celebrated RALTIMORE OYSTERS. they have made but a comparatively small proportional advance in the last ten years. Virginia (including West Virbright long, eazy tew take impreshuns lions over that of 1850. Georgia is the ginia,)has gained but 12 millions on her returns for 1860; whereas the census of that year showed an increase of 21 milfrom almost enny thing, and no more only one of the distinctively Southern States which has doubled the value of her manufacturing product, and kept pace with the average development of the Northern States. All the other States which staked their fortunes on secession, fall far behind the ratio of improvement They ain't 'xactly phools; if they wuz, which they would have shown had they not plunged the country into civil war. It should be borne in mind, however, that in these States the tide of progress in manufactories has set in since the census was taken with more force than ever, and if another census were taken to day a or verry bad, and go thru life a good very gratifying advance would unquestionably be shown.
