WASHINGTON, D. C. March 27, 1873. EDITOR RADICAL-I see by your excel lent paper that in the issue between "horse, or no horse," the ticket favoring the horse succeeded. Now, I hope, Mr. Edi tor, the fact of those admiring that noble animal, having succeeded in the selection of officers for the next year, they will, because of offence to those having more admiration for cattle and stock of other kinds, or may be, for the manufacturing or mechanical products, as all should unite, vie with each other in seeing who can add the most interest to the annual agricultural gatherings of our old county, for the mutual benefit of all. With your permission I would like to make a suggestion to those having the matter in charge. I found last year, by intermingling with the people of the country, considerable dissatisfaction as to the premiums given, and think, justly, too. What er couragement is there, Mr. Elitor, to a farmer living, say in Frankfor', McGuire, Hopewell, Economy, North Sewickly, Big Beaver, &c., to drive a fine bull or milk cow, a flock of sheep, sow and pigs, or fine horse, when he would draw as a premium on his bull, say five dollars, other anithe premiums by for best horse $30, sec-best stove. Then don't forget the ladies: $10 for best quilt; $10 best needle work: $5 for best butter, preserves, &c., &c. Let inducements be given to all, and see if you do not have the finest exhibition ever held in the county. And it will pay, and two to one will be there, and let the horses go, all interest cared for, and every person will be satisfied. Gentlemen, try it for once, get up an interest with if not, then change the name, and call it a "Horse Fair. Respectfully, S. B. W.

Disheartened by a succession of defeats, the rumor is now that the name of the Democratic party is to be changed and a new set of ideas adopted. Governor Hendricks, of Indiana, a man of more brain and better sence than most of the modern leaders of the Democracy, heads the movement, and is endeavoring to make it popular and general. With all -A box containing extensive forger's materials his intelligence and eloquence, we doubt whether he can bring the old fogies of the party in agreement with him; and even if he should, we question much whether the change of base would better the prospects of the 'party. It is our impression that it is so far gone into rottenness, that charcoal and salpetre cannot sweeten or preserve it. It appears that Governor Hendricks has been on a mission to Washington to consult Thurman and other Democaatic Senators on the subject. Of this msssion a Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph writes:

"The object of his visit here was unknown until yesterday, when it was discovered that he had been in consultation with leading Senators and others, of both the Democratic and Liberal Republican organizations, regarding the future course of their respective parties.

He is known to be more conservative in his political views than most of his colleagues, who, like Mr. Voorhees, bave with more or less consistency refused to strike hands with the Liberal Republicans. His mission, therefore, was one of peace and reconciliation, but nevertheless startled many of his associates with its

It is understood that Judge Thurman, Representative Beck, and several others have declined as yet to join the movement, while others have readily declared their adherence to it. In short, Governor Hendricks proposes to abandon the old Democratic organization entirely, also to abandon its name, and to organize a new party which shall have for its platform such conservative and compromising declaration of principles as will attract to its support all classes who are opposed to the dominant party. He claims that a victory in the next Congressional contest can be easily gained by the opposition, as the political history of the country shows that in the "off year" the opponents of a dominant or administration party are always more or less successful. He thinks that a circfal consolidation of all the opposing elements now, with a view to carrying the election in 1874, will so encourage the new organization that in 1876 a party may, be formed of sufficient strength to defeat the Republican party, horse, foot and dragoons. Liberal declaration and acknowledgement of the death of past issues as set forth in what is now remembered as the Vallandigham platform commends itself to his consideration. The meetings thus far have been informal and confidential, but the gravity of the subject has induced a general discussion among the party our farmers, and see what an impression leaders, which in the end, has destroyed will be made on our agricultural societies; all efforts to keep the matter secret.—Ex.
