TO VICTORIA.

BY MILO A. TOWNSEND. Thou shalt conquer, O Victoria, In the name of truth and right-In the name of Freedom's augels, In the name of loves evangels-Thou shilt conquer, Child of Light!

Though the church conspire against thee. · Calling to its aid the State, Backed by cannon, shell and sword-Thou shalt conquer in the Lord, Be it early, be it late.

In thee most sacred rights are stabled. On which depend the nation's life-Freedom of thought, of speech and press, Of all that can most truly bless, And end this reign of strife.

Though to prison they may drag thee. And perils gather round thy Away, From the radiant summer-land Shall come a mighty angel hand, To be thy strength and stay.

Though jeers and scoffs assail thee now, And every mean and lying word; Yet, sister! in the skies above Are bright employeeal isles of love-There wait thy crown and thy reward. BEAVER FALLS, Pa., 8d month 2d, 1873.

A Rattlesnake Hunt.-Mr. V. V

Ijams, one of the employes of the News: office, owns a claim of 160 acres near this city. Last Sunday, while resting from his weekly toil, Ijams took it into his head to have a rattlesnake hunt. In company with a friend or two, with hoes in their hands, they visited a prairie dog "town" near by, and commenced business. In the fall, at the beginning of cold weather, these venomous reptiles congregate in the prairie dog holes in large numbers. Owls, hawks, snakes, and dogs all "go in" together, and so far as we know there day, these rattlesnakes crawl out of the and crime when and wherever I find found upon the open prairie. They have aids found game immediately, though not as plentiful as expected, owing to the fact, perhaps, that the weather has been been impressed with the necessity of 'hunting their holes." But with industry the boys managed to "get away with" about twenty of the monsters. Some of them were at least five feet long with eight to fifteen rattles. I jams says it was not much of a day for snakes, either .-Hutchison (Kan.) News.

The Seminary, though strictly non-sectarian, is under the auspices of the Presbyterians, and as far as we can learn there is every prospect of making it a permanent institution. The building, owned by William Reed E-q, S-wickley, is leased for six years, and will be entirely refitted

Should any parties feel themselves sorely wronged and insulted, and deem an apology essential, I will give it in this way, if I have said anything that I am sorry for, I am glad of it. Hercules cleaned the Augean stables, which had not been renovated for thirty years, in a single day. I am not a Hercules, but will freely give my feeble support to cleaning this stable of infernal rascality in as short a time as circumstances will permit. The ferry boat plying between this place and that calm and dignified looking town, Phillipsburg, has changed hands, J. R. Campbell, Esq., holds the controlling interest in the company, and has concluded to run the boat himself, and I can concientiously say that a more polite and accommodating gentleman could not have been placed on that boat as captain, the traveling public will bear me out in this assertion, as he is a hard working and energetic man. We hope that he may be successful in his new un-

Our honest, upright and able representative. Samuel J. He informed me that this was the finest stock of goods he had ever offered to the public. As a representative and a business man he is a success. I have heard remarked frequently by friends and opponents that no man in his first turn ever represented Beaver county better than S. J. Cross has done. As regards his re-election, that is a settled fact; the public mind is sufficiently schooled in changing tried for untried representatives; honest and upright legislation is the pride of each and every true American heart, dishonest legislation is absinthium to the soul.

At last we have a new hardware store in our town, J. S. Winans & Co., from New Brighton has opened with a comis an institution which has long been looked for and needed in this place. I am a firm believer in a man making a specialty of a business where it can be done; this thing of combining everything into one store and not paving proper attention to either, does not look to me as sound policy or a successful way of doing business. Use only furnishes the final test." Opinions of the skillful may be of value, but time is needed to conindustrious farmers, and by feigned firm thein. While the Sing r Sewing Machine Company has given the public the finest finite of inventive genius, they have guarded it from 8 multitude of traps. Attachments have been added for various purposes, but it has kept free from all useless complications. Simplicity of parts, and adaptation to the widest range of work has been the constant aim.

Instead of boasting of a variety of useless stitches and movements, it claims to make but One Kind of Stitch, and that with the Fewest Movements Possible. Hence the Machine may run constantly for twenty years, or a life-time, and work just as well as when new.

Haif Alive.

It is a sad thing to pass through life only half live. Yet there are thousands whose habitual condition is one of languor and debility. They complain of no specific desease, they suffer no positive pain; but they have no relish for anyhing which affords mental or sensuous pleasure to their more robust and energetic fellow-heings. In nine cases out of ten this state of lassitude and torpor arises from a morbid stomach. Indigestion destroys the energy of both mind and body. When the waste of nature is not supplied by a due and regular assimilation of the food every organ is starved, every function interrupted. Now, what does common sense saggest under these circumstances of depression? The system needs rousing and strengthening; not merely for au hour or two, to sink afterwards into a more pitiable condition than ever (as it assuredly would do if an ordinary alcoholic stimulant was resorted to.) but radically and permanently. How is this desirable object to be accomplished? The answer to this question, founded on the unvarying experience of a quarter of a century, is easily given. Infuse new vigor into the digestive organs by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Do not waste time in administering temporary remedies, but wake the system up by recaperating the fountain head of physical strength and energy, the great organ upon which all the other organs depend for their nurture and

By the time a dozen doses of the great vegetible tonic and invigorant have been taken, the feeble frame of the dyspeptic will begin to feel its benign influence. Appetite will be created, and with appetite the capacity to digest what it craves. Percevere until the cure is complete-until healthful blood, fit to be the material of flesh and muscle, bone and nerve and brain, flows through the ulum with which they have heretofore been imperfeculy nourished.
