CAPT. JACK SURRENDERED.

On Sunday the famous Modoc chief, on being surrounded by Col. Perry's command, surrendered, together with two of his warriors, five squaws and seven children. The Modocs were taken into camp, where their presence caused considerable commotion. "Captain Jack is captured! Captain Jack is captured!" was shouted by a sturdy sergeant, and then the valley echoed with yells and cheers. Col. Perry had been out only 13 hours, and had brought in the last of the Modocs. The war was virtually ended.

Capt. Jack is said to be about 40 vears old, five feet eight inches high, compactly built, with large and well formed face, full of indibearing every inch a chief. Now vexed question, "what shall be done with them?" comes up for solu-

The vote on Prothonotary shows trial, whatever its result, will push that there were 2240 votes cast, on the woman's cause, and hasten being some 700 less than were the time of their emancipation. polled last spring. The ticket nominated, however, is a good one and will be elected from top to bottom.

Of Mr. Cross, our candidate for Assembly, it is unnecessary to speak. He has already served one term in the Legislature, and his renomination is a deserved reward for his able, faithful and useful servicé. Our candidate for Prothonotary, O. A. Small, Esq., is a young man of upright character and liberal education—a graduate of Jeffersan College, and a member of the Beaver Bar. He will bring strength to the ticket, and if elected, as we have no doubt he will be, he will fill the position with credit to himself and honor to the party.

Of James H. Mann, of New Brighton, we can say that those who know him best, speak warmly in his praise, and if the half is true that is said of him, he has reason to be proud of the esteem in which he is held by his friends. Mr. Mann is an old teacher and has an extensive acquaintance in the north east section of our county, and cannot fail to be a popular candi-

He has been an earnest and faithful soldier in the Republican ranks, is popular with the young men of the party the British Iron and Steel Institute, occasioned by the death of H. N. excellent and strong. But, in saying this, we do not wish to reflect upon the defeated candidates. The supporters of each candidate doubtless considered their man the best, and the success of one candidate over another, under the present system, does not necessarily provethat the successful one is better than the defeated one. In fact all the candidates were good men, and any of them would have made a good ticket. The result was accepted in the right spirit by the defeated candidates, and good feeling prevailed in the Convention. The party is united, harmonious, and enters on the campaign under favorable auspices.

MISS SUSAN B. ANTHONY Who voted in Rochester last Fall is to be tried on the third Monday of June, under the Ku Klux laws for conspiring against the peace wellfare of the United States, and unlawfully influencing an election, she having voted. Miss Anthony has lectured on the subject throughout Monroe county, and the sheriff has reported that it is impossible to obtain an ignorant jury, since every man has been thoroughly informed as to the matter, and therefore, a change of venue has been granted in the case to Ontarto county.

Miss Susan, it is reported, has started to stump that county also, and it would be laughable if she is able there to bring about the same condition of things as in Monroe. Her arrest was a mistake in the viduality, and in appearance and first place, inasmuch as she had voted a number of times before that the Modocs are captured, the without any difficulty. Miss Anthony is poor, and to pay her legal expenses, contributions are solicited. The trial will be a conflict between State and national authority. In Chicago the Liquor question is creating a great stir, and occupying public attention. Under a State law the selling of liquor on Sunday is prohibited; but this law is repugnant to the Saloon Keepers' Union, which has held several meetings to discuss the best coruse to be pursued by the saloon keepers, to break it and avoid the penalties. On the Sunday following, therefore, all the saloons were in full blast and patronized by large crowds. A large number of arrests were made, and what will be the final result is uncertain, as the saloon keepers threaten to carry the war into politics.

PHILADELPHIA, May 28, 1873. For the last two days the Constitution. al Convention have been having a lively time discussing the system of cumulative voting and other issues connected with the article on suffrage. This morning Mr. Campbell offered a resolution to strike out the word male from the Constitution. the question was called, and the ladies got a vote of 22 ayes, to 84 nays, about one fourth, several members were absent who would have voted in the affirmative: 30 votes being about the number women can count upon in the Convention.

Hon. D. L. Imbrie is working himself to death, he has actually grown thin since the work of the Convention has begun in earnest. The members seem to have a sort of peculiar faith in his method of counting the ayes and nays. It is to be hoped that his services as well as those of the other gentlemen officials of the Convention, will be properly appreciated percuniarily. It is intensely hot in Convention Hall, you know the building was for mally a church, belonging to the Presbyterian denominations; they doubtless constructed the building to give the worshipers some faint premonitory idea of what awaited the wicked in future. Up in the second story, right next to the transcribing room, they have a restaurant with little cooking fire attached. This makes the former apartment a deeply interesting spot to those interested in the Darwinian theory, who bid lair to have an opportunity of testing the question of transmutation of species. The prospect being that if the thing is practicable, the denizens of the transcribing room will soon be transformed into salamanders.

On Monday evening we had quite a grand affair at the Academy of Music. The old members of the State fencibles presented their flag by the hands of Judge Kelley, to the present company. There was plenty of drilling, music and address by Col. There was once a city troop who used to accidentally short their own horses, and leave the ramand in their muskets, occasionally injuring a fellow seldier, which some what disturbed our faith.
