

street, and the close proximity of the track to the pavement. Therefore, they make a fuss, but it really is a question whether the interests of the eight hundred thousand inhabitants of Philadelphia should be sacrificed to the prejudice of a few property holders. We must never forget that the street cars are the poor man's comfort, his convenience, his luxury, and his interests are the one's to be considered. Mr. William McGrath, the President of the Union Company, is a charming gentleman, liberal and kind in his personal affairs, and it is hard to believe he would advocate any scheme not perfectly consistent with justice. Two cents may not seem a large amount to be interested in, but as a daily expenditure of a poor laboring person it is worth considerable.

College Notes.—Since our last report Rev. Mr. Lynch, Prof. Knight and Hon. S. J. Cross have given interesting addresses before the Normal Class and students of the College. The monthly written examinations that have been instituted at the College are subjecting the pupils to severe tests, but that is what earnest students like. The monthly report is in advance of the last, as it should be. The gentlemen who frescoed the Court House have been engaged to fresco the College Hall, and are already at work. This, when completed, will be one of the most complete in the State. It will be ready for dedication on Tuesday, Tuesday, July 1st. Let our country readers make a note of this, and make their arrangements to be present, and they will not regret it.

Owing to the large business of R. As the purchase of a Sewing Machine is of an act for a life-time, care should be taken in selecting one that time and use have proven to be the best. Time tries all things. "Use only furnishes the final test." Opinions of the skillful may be of value, but time is needed to confirm them. While the Singer Sewing Machine Company has given the public the finest fruits of inventive genius, they have guarded it from a multitude of traps. Attachments have been added for various purposes, but it has kept free from all needless complications. Simplicity of parts, and adaptation to the widest range of work has been the constant aim. Instead of boasting of a variety of useless stitches and movements, it claims to make but one kind of stitch, and that with the Fewest Movements Possible. Hence the Machine may run constantly for twenty years, or a life-time, and work just as well as when new. R. Straw & Co., No. 10 Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, Pa. April 25-Sm

The Committee effected a temporary organization by electing Hon. Wm. C. Shurlock, of Darlington, temporary Chairman, and J. F. Miner, of New Brighton, and J. H. Trimble, of Green twp, temporary secretaries.

A committee of five on Resolutions was then, on motion of Smith Curtis, appointed by the Chairman as follows: Smith Curtis, W. W. Kerr, Capt. Geo. S. Barker, Dr. Cone and John C. Hart.

The Chairman then proceeded to read to the Convention the returns of the primary meetings, and before this business was finished the Convention adjourned for dinner.

AFTERNOON.

The Convention assembled and proceeded with the business of reading the returns. When the returns had been all read by the Chairman, the Convention adjourned for twenty minutes to give the secretaries time to foot up the results.

On assembling Smith Curtis, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, presented the following report:

Resolved, That we reaffirm our faith in the principles of the Republican party, that General Grant's Administration has been true to those principles, and not only merits admiration but receives our hearty support.

Resolved, That the Administration of Governor Bartruff is worthy of our endorsement, and that the persistent and determined use of the veto power, by the Governor, in order to correct and restrict the evils of special legislation of the Legislature has been judicious, faithful of good, and consistent with the principles of the party.

Resolved, That we approve of the records, made during the last Legislature, of our representatives, the Hon. James S. Kitan and Samuel J. Cross.

Resolved, That we condemn as wrong in principle, and most demoralizing in practice, the late Congressional retroactive salary increase and all kindred legislation.

Resolved, That we earnestly advise our State Convention, soon to assemble, and the active men of the party everywhere, to place in nomination men of unquestioned character and capacity.

Resolved, That the candidates this day nominated are worthy of our fullest confidence, and we hereby pledge them our united, cheerful and untiring support.

Resolved, That Capt. C. U. Myer, of New Brighton, Rev. John McCarty, of Beaver Falls, and H. J. Speyerer, of Rochester, be appointed Legislative Conferees.

These resolutions were unanimously adopted.

W. S. Shallenberger, of Rochester, was by acclamation, elected Senatorial delegate to the State Convention; and David Critchlow, of New Brighton, Representative.

The Senatorial delegate was authorized to appoint his own Conferees, if necessary.

The Chairman of the Convention then announced according to the returns, the nominees of the party, but the result had been ascertained before hand, and the declaration of their names was merely a matter of form.

John Caughey, Esq., begged the privilege of thanking the people, through their representatives, for the handsome vote which he received in the present canvass, and for the past favors they had bestowed upon him. He said he should always be deeply grateful to the Republicans of Beaver county, notwithstanding they had decided to place him on the retired list. His remarks were warmly applauded, and when he sat down, his character rose in the estimation of all who heard him.

Next in order was the election of a permanent Chairman, Secretary and Treasurer. George W. Hamilton was elected Chairman, Smith Curtis Secretary and Eben Allison Treasurer.

There was some difference expressed as to the proper manner of electing an Executive Committee, but the matter was finally compromised and the following gentlemen elected:

J. C. Boyle, of New Brighton; W. W. Kerr, Freedom; F. S. Laughlin, Greene; C. Moulder, Beaver Falls; A. Watterson, Brighton, tp., S. B. Briggs, Industry; H. J. Speyerer, Rochester.

The Convention then adjourned.

Accident.—Mr. James Moreland, of Fallston, while working in the planing mill of Miner & Co., on last Saturday, met with an accident by which he lost one of his hands. He was working about the planer while it was running, when his right hand was caught in the cutter-head, and so badly injured that it had to be cut off. The amputation was made by Drs. Reed and Wendt, of New Brighton. Mr. Moreland is getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT. OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE. WASHINGTON, May 19th, 1873.

SIR—I have received your letter of the 15th, inst., in which you enquire whether a peddler of general merchandise can, without incurring liability to pay special tax as peddler of tobacco, take orders for tobacco and cigars, as he travels from place to place, which he afterwards puts up as his store where he is a dealer in manufactured tobacco, and delivers on a succeeding trip from his peddlers wagon. I reply that every peddler having tobacco and cigars in his wagon as he travels from place to place which he delivers to purchasers is presumed to be a peddler of tobacco, and unless he has his name painted upon his wagon and can exhibit a collectors certificate that he has paid a special tax to peddle tobacco and has otherwise complied with the law, he renders himself liable to the seizure provided in section 59 of the act of July 20, 1868, as amended by the act of June 6, 1872, and if he be found with tobacco and cigars in broken packages, or not stamped as the law provides, he renders himself liable to the fine and imprisonment provided in the same section. You are correct in holding such a peddler for his special tax, and restricting him to sales of original stamped packages only. Yours respectfully, J. W. DOUGLASS, Com'r. C. M. MERRICK, Esq., Coll'r 24th Dist., New Brighton, Pa.

Decoration Day was observed in this place. According to programme, the citizens assembled in the Presbyterian Church at 1 o'clock, P. M. The exercises in the church consisted of singing and an oration by John J. Wickham, Esq., which will be found elsewhere. The soldier's orphans from Phillipsburg, were present, and by their singing, added much to the interest of the occasion. After the church exercise were over, the citizens formed themselves into line, and marched with flowers to decorate the graves of our fallen soldiers. Some further remarks were made at the Cemetery by Rev. Lynch, of the M. E. Church. Although the air was cool, there was a large number of people who took part in the mournful and patriotic services, and the flowers that were scattered upon the graves were the fragrant symbols of gratitude and affection that filled the hearts of all present.

S. & J. Snellenburg, New Brighton, are selling an unusual number of gentlemen's suits at the present time. We have seen in Beaver, recently, a number of spring suits, fresh from their establishment. They keep on hand the best of goods, and strive to give entire satisfaction to all their customers. Call and examine their stock, and see how neatly they can dress you up, at a trifling cost, too.

Idle Talk.—Friendship is a much longer name than love, and although my faith is strong in heart-love, I cannot say but that it is rather weak in hand-friendship. I have a friend, though such a nice friend, a woman, who comes to see me sometimes, and who seems to bring with her such a freshness and brightness, that when she goes away the very room seems dull. She is not very pretty, nor very witty, nor very fashionable, and when she comes we scarcely ever shake hands, and I don't think (being women) we have ever kissed each other a half a dozen times. We don't talk a great deal either, but unconsciously there is such a refreshing sense of feeling, a buoying up of the spirits, like the smelling of mountain heather, when one is with her. Then, she isn't one of your rocking-chair women, whose tongues are as rapid a state of motion as the chairs they sit upon, and you sit in a constant state of ebullition, almost unknowingly humming "Rock me to sleep, mother," as you murmur your affirmatives and negatives to the pauses, that come in, during the tongue's rapid flight. She never sits in a rocking chair. I call that a fine point in her character. I have always had an aversion to rocking chairs. They are a humbug. Used as a lullaby for sleeping children, they may be "a joy forever," but not a "thing of beauty" in a drawing room. I have heard they are a great resource for conversation. I know they are like the weather fine openings for talk. When you go in to see a friend, they will say, "do take the rocking chair, Miss M—, you can sit more comfortably in it." As if any one ever did sit comfortably in a rocking chair. Then they are always in the way, great lubberly, long-limbed monarchs of all they survey, placed in the middle of the room. I never could talk in them, much less laugh, and I am always suspicious of strange rocking chairs. You cannot tell what moment, if you are disposed to roll, you may be sprawling in a hopeless state of confusion and mortification. They are like "friendship," never to be relied on. I knew a living turn into a dishke just by a young man rocking in a rocking chair. They were young. The lady's name was Sophia, the young man's Richard and a very nice couple they would have made. But he sat in a rocking chair. He rocked, and you know how ridiculous a man does look when he rocks. He wore blue socks; it was summer time, very warm; the more he rocked the more the blue socks were visible beneath his low shoes. The faster he rocked and talked the faster the lady's fan flew. She began to get dizzy; she arose, excused herself and left the room, and Richard left the house and never came back. She declared it was the blue socks that made her so disgusted. I declared it was the rocking chair. What say you? But I have wandered far away from my nice friend. Perhaps if I tell you she has six children, lives in four rooms, and on $30 a month, does all her own work, you may lose your interest in her. As there is not much romance but reality, and you know according to some, "we must run like the brook in the open sunshine, or we are unblest." The wealthiest man among us is the best. Yet not let me think so base of you, dear RADICAL: oh no! But I must cease my idle talk and say good-bye. PANSY. Freedom, Pa., May 30th, 1873.

The New Castle Gazette and Democrat says: On Monday night last, Mr. James W. Walton, of Slippery Rock township, who had been sick for some time, committed suicide while in a fit of temporary insanity. About 3 o'clock, he hastily left his bed and rapidly proceeded toward his barn closely followed by his brother-in-law, who having been in the same bed, was aroused by Walton's leaving. As Walton soon disappeared from the view of his brother-in-law, Mr. Wineman, and as he could not be found in or about the barn, several neighbors were awakened and informed of Walton's conduct, who joined in the search and about 4 o'clock in the morning Walton was found dead in a coal bank at no great distance from his residence. When found he was about twenty feet from the entrance lying upon his face with his arms and hands thrown forward in water about twelve inches deep. He had evidently drowned himself in that posture. The Coroner, Dr. J. K. Pollock, was summoned, an inquest was held, and a verdict was rendered in accordance with the facts as above stated. The deceased was about 35 years of age, and leaves a wife and three children.

FREEDOM, June 2d, 1873.

Editor Beaver Radical: The twenty-ninth Anniversary of the First Presbyterian Sunday School of this place, was celebrated in the Church, on Wednesday evening, May 28th. The church was handsomely trimmed with pine, the gathering large, and the affair enjoyable throughout. The exercises consisted of singing, by the children of the school, short addresses by Rev. R. Cartwright, of the M. E. Church, Rev. M. L. Wortman, our Pastor, and Mr. C. Coe, of Rochester, who also favored the audience with an appropriate song. Mr. Ghas. H. Bentel read an address, giving a brief history of the school during the past year, and paying a feeling tribute to the memory of Rev. James M. Smith, the former pastor of our church. Miss S. A. Nickum also read a poem in memory of Rev. Smith, which was composed by a lady of the congregation, whose name was withheld; it spoke in glowing terms of the character, services and worth of Rev. Smith, and fitly set forth the affection and esteem in which he was held by the congregation. Just before the close of the exercises, Rev. Wortman presented to the Misses, Emma, Noss and S. A. Nickum, each, a beautiful present, on behalf of the scholars, to Miss Noss for her kindness in teaching them their songs, and her able management of the Anniversary, for which she deserves great credit; and, to Miss Nickum, for her faithfulness and efficiency as a teacher of the infant class in the school. We return our thanks to Rev. Cartwright and Mr. Coe, for their presence, and to the community for their interest and attendance, and when another year rolls round, we hope to meet and greet you all at our Thirtieth Anniversary. GIBSON.

The Waynesburg Republican says: While John Robinson's great show was at Rochester, Beaver county, a short time since, one of his Sea Lions broke out of its cage and took to the Ohio river. John offers a reward of one thousand dollars for his capture; and being a contrary bugger, it is supposed that in making for the ocean that it took up the stream, and is coming this way. It was seen at Monongahela City, by Chill Hazzard, but somehow getting a sniff of the penitentiary there (that is to be) it plunged into the raging slack water and headed south. At Brownsville, it showed an inclination to tarry awhile, but the place smelt so strong of whisky that it soon had its head beneath old Monongahela waters, and struck up for a purer clime. The fascination of the broad, placid waters of North Ten Mile, and the sweet incense that rolls down its surface, from off Green county's virtuous plains will doubtless lure it this way. It may be expected along here about next Sunday, and as a warning to boys, we will state that it has eaten nine or ten boys—always feasting on boys on Sundays; and if the banks of Ten Mile are lined with boys and men fishing next Sunday, as they have been for several Sundays past, the sea monster will have an opportunity to eat a boy and a man both the next Lord's day.

HALL OF BEAVER LODGE, No. 366 I. O. O. F., BRIDGEWATER, May 30th, 1873.

WHEREAS, In the dispensation of Him who rules the destinies of man, our Heavenly Father has seen fit to remove from among us our worthy brother, Past Grand, John V. McDonald, and thus he is forever withdrawn from us. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we bow in submission to the decrees of the Allwise, but at the same time we deeply feel and deplore the loss of our beloved Brother, who was so suddenly and unexpectedly called from our midst.

Resolved, That in his death, the Lodge has lost a worthy member, the community a valuable citizen, and his family a kind and indulgent Husband and Father.

Resolved, That the brethren of this Lodge and the fraternity generally, hereby tender their kindest and sincerest condolence to the bereaved widow, his aged mother, and his orphan children; and that we will ever pray to Him who has promised to be a father to the fatherless, and the widow's God, to sanctify this afflictive compensation to their spiritual and eternal good, and to sustain and comfort them in this their time of need.

Resolved, That as a token of respect, the Lodge room be draped in mourning, and that the members wear the usual badge of mourning on all public occasions for thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolutions be entered on the Journal of the Lodge, an attested copy sent to the widow of the deceased, and to one each of the bereaved papers, with a request that they publish the same.

JESSE HANNAH, J. P. TODD.

The Waynesburg Republican says: Eli Randolph, of Jefferson, was riding home from Carmichaels last Saturday evening, when he was knocked off his horse by some unknown rascals, who beat and pounded him in an unmerciful manner, then robbed him of what little money he had on his person, ten or fifteen dollars. The scoundrels not being satisfied with this devilish work, cut a large gash on the horse's hip, which it is thought, will kill it. No cause can be assigned, but it is supposed to be a spite engendered by the late election.

The Cheyenne Leader of the 28th ult. has the following:

"Messrs. Curtis & Arnold sold yesterday to Mr. I. B. Hatch, of Denver, their fine brown stone building at the corner of 16th and Eddy streets, for $10,000. Mr. Curtis has purchased Mr. Hatch's half interest in the jewelry establishment of Hatch & Curtis, No. 360 Larimer street, Denver, and intends to devote a portion of his time in the future to his new business in our sister city. The banking business of Curtis & Arnold, in this city, will be carried on as hitherto at the old stand. Mr. Hatch expects to engage in business again in Denver.

Mr. Curtis, of Curtis & Arnold, Cheyenne, as also Mr. Curtis, of Hatch & Curtis, Denver, are brothers of the editor of this paper. One went to Cheyenne at the beginning of its existence, and has resided there since; the other went to Denver last winter to escape death by consumption, and in three months gained twenty pounds, got rid of a bad cough, and is now enjoying fair health. May the new firm of Curtis & Bro. flourish.

Dr. Oldshaw, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Our readers have for some time been advised through the columns of our paper of the method of the treatment of the Dr. Oldshaw.

Their mode of treating diseases, although somewhat peculiar, is based upon physiological and pathological facts; and the true nature and extent of diseases are accurately determined by ocular inspection, chemical analysis and microscopic examination of the urine.

This is no idle theory; but their entire system of practice is based upon fixed principles of science. The marked success of these gentlemen in curing the worst maladies known to the profession is not only convincing evidence of the correctness of their theory, but affords ample proof of their professional skill and ability. Some of the most respectable citizens of this and surrounding counties can testify from personal experience as to the truth of this statement, and we can heartily recommend the Dr. Oldshaw. They are not only scientific physicians but gentlemen of the highest culture and probity. Their offices are No. 132 Grant street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Fishing Excursion.—A special train, consisting of an engine, baggage car and a Palace car left Harrisburg on the 26th ult., having on board Gen. Simon Cameron, Hon. J. D. Cameron, M. S. Quay, Mr. Heistand, of the Lancaster Examiner, Colonel Fortney, of Lancaster, and a few other gentlemen. The excursionists were bound for some point above Williamsport, on the Elmira branch of the N. C. R. R., to spend a few days among the trout streams in that section.

Fish Commissioners.—The Governor has appointed the following named gentlemen, commissioners under the provisions of the fish law passed by the Legislature last winter: Howard J. Reeder, Northampton county; James Duffy, Lancaster county; and Benjamin L. Hewitt, of Blair county.

Medicinal Poisons on the Wane.

The patriarchs look no more, no strychnia, no iodine, no bromide of potassium, no strychnia, no quinine. Happy old gentlemen! they did not even know of the existence of these "specifics," and yet they lived until it seemed as if Death had forgotten them. Their medicines were herbs and roots. They have left this fact on record, and the world seems to be now taking note of it and returning to the first principles of medication. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the purest and most efficacious vegetable restorative of the day, is also the most popular. Thousands of persons who only a few years ago believed implicitly in all the poisons which figure in the pharmacopoeia, now pronounce this palatable tonic and alterative an all sufficient remedy for dyspepsia, nervous debility, constipation, bilious complaints, headache, insupportable fevers, and all the ordinary disturbances of the stomach, the liver, the discharging organs and the brain. The time is not far distant when most of the powerful and venomous drugs now so recklessly administered by practitioners of the "heroic" school, in cases that might easily be controlled by milder treatment, will be utterly discarded by all philosophical physicians. As it is, the thinking public, who are generally ahead of the professionals, have already put the dangerous preparation aside and adopted Hostetter's Bitters in their stead as a safe and excellent household medicine, adapted to almost every ailment except the organic and deadly contagious diseases. For more than twenty years this famous restorative and preventive has been annually strengthening its hold upon the public confidence, and it now takes the lead of every advertised medicine manufactured in this country.
