WASHINGTON, Pa., June 14, 1873. EDITOR RADICAL.—Dear Sir:—Having been notified by the War Department to nominate a legally-qualified candidate from this Congressional district for appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point, you will please permit me to announce through your columns that the selection will be made dependent upon a competitive examination which shall be conducted by a committee of competent gentlemen to be selected at an early day.

Those who think of making application will please remember that candidates are admitted only between the ages of seventeen and twenty-two, and must be not less than five feet in height.

With respect to mental qualifications they must be proficient in reading and writing; in the elements of English grammar; in descriptive geography, particularly of our own country, and in the History of the United States.

The committee will examine both as to mental and physical qualifications, and the applicant, who, in their opinion, shall have passed the best examination, will be recommended for appointment, and must be at West Point, not later than August 25th, ensuing.

Owing to the large business of R. Steinfeld, and the fact that his time has been wholly occupied in selling goods, his customers have not for some time heard from him through the columns of this paper, but he again announces to them that he has on hand a complete stock of clothing, and also a full assortment of shoes, hats and all other articles pertaining to a first class merchant tailoring establishment.

The Washington Report says: A youthful couple who were married in this county last week were brought to sudden grief ere the honeymoon had scarce begun. The parties whose connubial bliss had been so ruthlessly interrupted are Abraham Meeks, of Hillsborough, and Miss Ella Smally, of Prosperity.

The groom is a young man of about twenty-one or twenty-two years, while the bride is a lass of only fifteen summers. The courtship was a brief one, the parties having met but a few times before the marriage took place.

On Friday last Mr. Meeks came to Washington and hired a buggy from Mr. Sexton and drove away. The next day, Saturday, he proceeded to the residence of Mr. Smally, the father of the girl, and at the story goes asked him if the daughter might take a ride with him.

On Saturday evening they came to Washington and took lodging at the Valentine House, where they remained until Monday morning, when the trouble commenced.
