Suicide.—Our community was shocked on Wednesday morning, the 2d inst., to hear that William Kennedy, a prominent merchant of New Brighton, had shot himself. Mr. Kennedy, about a month before, met with a severe accident by falling from the railroad bridge, and since which had been confined to his room, and at times greatly despondent. On the fatal morning he sent his wife down town on an errand, and before she returned shot himself in the center of the forehead, and died within fifteen minutes afterwards, being entirely unconscious all the time. Mr. Kennedy was doing a large business, complicated, somewhat involved, and it is supposed that financial embarrassment, together with his long confinement, caused his mind to become unsettled, and during this period of mental aberration he committed the fatal deed. The testimony of Dr. McKinney, his attendant physician, before the coroner's jury, as reported by the Beaver County Press, was as follows:

He says, I was called about 8 A. M., to see him, the deceased, and found him sitting in an easy chair with pistol in hand, a bullet hole in the center of the forehead. He was dead when I arrived. Made superficial examination; the ball entered the skull—have no doubt but the wound was effected by his own hand, and was the cause of his death. I was called to see him the day he fell off the bridge; found he had a broken leg, and concussion of the brain; his pulse was low, skin cold and all evidences of a severe shock to the brain. He rallied however, and his condition improved for three days, after which I began to observe his mind wandering. I would ask a question and he would answer only partially intelligently, and then drop off apparently asleep for some five seconds and then commence to talk about something else. The only subject he would converse about rationally was business subjects; I could not get him asleep for several nights, whilst in this mental condition. His tongue became dry and coated; bowels inactive, all symptoms that indicated subacute brain disease. I would have to say that he was of unsound mind. During this condition of the patient, I would not be surprised if he had taken his life at any moment. The doctor continued giving a minute description of his patient's condition while under his professional care, and summed up his whole testimony by saying that Mr. K., in his judgment, was partially insane at the time he committed the deed which cost him his life.

The jury rendered the following verdict:

"That the said William Kennedy came to his death on the 2d day of July, A. D. 1873, at about 7.45 A. M., in his own residence in borough of New Brighton, county of Beaver, by a pistol shot in his forehead by his own hand, while in a state of temporary insanity."

The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. Cash assets over sixty millions of dollars. Is the largest and wealthiest company in the world, and the oldest Life Insurance Company in America. Policy costs less in this Company from year to year, than in any other Company.

What is the Value of Life Insurance? Let the reader make a practical and personal examination of the subject. Have you a family dependent on you for support? If so you have a duty to perform. If you are engaged in active business, consider what would probably happen if your plans were set aside and other persons were called in to close up your affairs. Your creditors clamorous, your labors suddenly ended; your property sacrificed to the highest bidder. There might be little left for your family. All this might be the result if death should overtake you next week, or next year, and you have no lease of life. You may be strong and healthy to-day, but are you sure that health, strength and life will be yours to-morrow? You ought to guard against this contingency. You insure your property, why not insure your life? Is it much more valuable? Suppose you have an insurance in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York equal to the amount of your indebtedness, your wife or your friends, at your death, then have the means in hand to pay all that you owe. The warehouse, hand to the goods and merchandise are free from all incumbrance. No sacrifices need be made. Your family have property which, by your forethought, they are enabled to preserve, and will furnish the means of support. The longer insurance is postponed, the greater will be the premium. Nor can it be obtained upon any terms by those not in good health. Hence the immediate attention to this matter.

A. B. CLARK, Agent for Beaver county, Pa.

What relation does the Argus sustain to the Democracy, now that the Conservative is thrown overboard.

As the purchase of a Sewing Machine is of an act for a life-time, care should be taken in selecting one that time and use have proven to be the best. Time tries all things. "Use only furnishes the final test." Opinions of the skillful may be of value, but time is needed to confirm them. While the Singer Sewing Machine Company has given the public the finest fruits of inventive genius, they have guarded it from a multitude of traps. Attachments have been added for various purposes, but it has kept free from all useless complications. Simplicity of form, and adaptation to the widest range of work has been the constant aim.

Instead of boasting of a variety of useless attachments and movements, it claims to make but One Kind of Stitch, and that with the Fewest Movements Possible. Hence the Machine may run constantly for twenty years, or a life-time, and work just as well as when new.

Commencement Exercises of Beaver College.—We were compelled to defer our account of the closing exercises of Beaver College until this week, and although now the news is somewhat stale to most of our readers, we cannot refrain from making a short notice in order to finish up the history of commencement week. Commencement exercises occurred on Tuesday evening, July 1st, in the new and handsome Hall of the College. The room was crowded to overflowing. The exercises commenced at half past six by a piano duet skillfully performed by the Misses Lide French and Mamie Holmes. The Rev. Mr. Morton, of the Erie conference then offered an appropriate prayer; after which the following programme was adhered to: 1. Essay—Our Longings, Miss Minnie Augustine, Addison, Pa.; 2. Essay—The Real and the Ideal, Miss V. Miller, New Brighton, Pa.; Quartette—Fairy Whispers, Messrs Patney and Wilson, and Misses Young and Howell; 3. Essay—Our Boat is Launched, but where is the Shore, Miss Jennie Coffin, Rochester, Pa.; Piano Solo—The Loreley, Miss M. Augustine, Addison, Pa.; 4. Essay—The End is not Yet, Miss J. Warren, Philadelphia, Pa.; Vocal Solo—The Night Winds Sigh, Miss Emma Patterson, Bridgeport, Ohio; Piano Solo—Come back to Erin, Miss Eva Loomis, Meadville; 5. Essay—"Oh! I wish some Power the Gifted give us, To see ourselves as others see us," Miss M. McCormick, Steubenville, Ohio; Vocal Solo—"Oh! what Hopes, Miss M. M. Young, Monongahela City; 6. Essay—"Soul Bell's," Miss Lora B. Shields, Bridgewater, Pa.; 7. Essay—"The two Crusades," Miss R. Gist, Wellburg, W. Va.; Vocal Solo—Good Night My Sweet, Miss Lide French, Beaver, Pa.; 8. Essay—Valedictory—"They enjoy the sunshine most, who've shivered in the shade," Miss Mamie Holmes, Allegheny city.

After the valedictory Dr. Taylor delivered an address to the graduating class full of good advice, earnest, brief, and excellent, at the close of which he presented each member with a diploma. Misses Holmes and Shields graduated in the Classical and the others in the English course. The exercises were concluded by a piano solo by Miss Mamie Holmes. The essays were generally well written and the subjects well selected. Were not comparisons always odious we might point out the superior excellencies of a few of the essays but as they were all good and merit general praise, there is no need of special mention. The music that interspersed the programme was of high order and reflected credit both to the college and students.

Mr. John Chrysler, one of the oldest citizens of Beaver county, died on Sunday last at his residence in Shippingport. Mr. Chrysler was a successful man in business, had accumulated a worthy fortune, and was a faithful and worthy member of the Episcopal Church, in Georgetown, to the support of which he always contributed quite liberally. Although eighty-seven years old and confined at home, yet he took a warm interest in what was going on, and his death will be severely felt, not only by the Church to which he was strongly attached, but by the community in which he has so long lived.

The circus has come and gone. The attendance at Howe's was not large although the show was good. Barnum took the crowd. There must have been at Barnum's Great World's Fair, on Friday in the afternoon, nearly 8,000 people. His canvass has an immense seating capacity and it was filled. The light fingered gentry drove a brisk trade. A lady by the name of Mrs. Robinson, of Freedom, we believe lost fifty dollars, and Dan Harvey, of Green Garden eighty. The thief who stole the fifty has been arrested and the money recovered, and he is now in our county jail. Whether Mr. Harvey has any clue to his, we have not learned.

Berry Short Cake.—Take one pound of flour, mix well through it one-and-a-half measures Banner Baking Powder, and two teaspoons salt; then rub in one-half pound shortening, add with a spoon one-half pint of sweet milk; bake in jelly cake pans. When cold cut each one with berries place in layers, covering each one with berries which have previously been sugared. This cake is equally good with any kind of fresh fruit.

Each can of the Banner Baking Powder contains a small instruction. If you cannot obtain this really valuable article from your grocer, send twenty-five cents by mail, addressed to Banner Baking Powder, P. O. Lock Box, 317, Pittsburgh, Pa., and you will receive, postage paid, a quarter pound package, together with a list of fifty valuable receipts.

On Saturday of week before last a horse belonging to Morgan Craig, of New Brighton, while being driven down the hill just outside of Falleton, ran away and threw Mr. Craig and his mother, who was with him, out of the buggy, cutting Mr. Craig's head badly and breaking three of his ribs, and breaking Mrs. Craig's thigh and knocking her hip out of joint. Dr. Jackson, who happened to be near by when the accident occurred, was called and dressed the wounds and otherwise cared for them. Since the accident, although it was feared that Mrs. Craig might not recover, yet we understand, that both she and her son are recovering. The runaway was caused by the giving away of some strap, we believe.

Wanted.—John H. Swing, of Shippingport, Pa., is now buying WOOL, paying from 40 to 60 cents. He wants all he can get.

The glorious old Fourth passed away without any great display of any kind in this section. There were a few picnics and festivals in different parts of the county, beyond which nothing was attempted. The day does not bring out as much spruce eloquence and insipid so much enthusiasm as formerly, but we hope the ideas which it celebrates will never grow feeble, although the old-fashioned noisy celebrating, which used everywhere to characterize the day, will year by year grow less. The nation has grown old in a century, and the ideas and associations of Independence Day have now to compete with other new events and ideas which, in a measure, remove the former further away from that immediate interest which the people naturally take in the latter. Celebrations change with the time, and are a part of the living present, and intimately related to the immediate future. Fourth of July, therefore, affords a large measure of freedom to all classes, and gives opportunity for a variety of public meetings and gatherings for all purposes, in which the original idea of the "day we celebrate" is entirely subordinated to new issues and demands. The Declaration of Independence has become an old song, and Fourth of July orations are becoming obsolete. The Centennial, we trust, will bring all things to remembrance, and partially at least revive the old enthusiasm with which formerly Independence Day was greeted, amid the boom of cannons, ringing of bells, snapping of fire crackers, and display of military.

A New Book.—We have had the pleasure of perusing "Three Years in the Federal Cavalry," by Captain Willard Glazier, author of "The Capture," "The Prison Pen," and "The Escape," and other works of considerable merit. The present volume is one of his best, made up, as it is, from daily notes taken fresh while on the march, or in camp, or at the bivouac fire, or during the lull of battle. The book contains many out-of-the-way facts and incidents most worthy of being known and treasured up, concerning our brave cavalry. The narrative begins at the commencement of the war in '61, and ends with the author's capture in '63, covering most of the remarkable movements of cavalry in Virginia and elsewhere of the Army of the Potomac. The book will be found very interesting to the general reader, and is very suitable for family reading. We advise all who wish to obtain a good book to purchase it. There is at present an agent canvassing portions of this county for the sale of the above book, to whom we refer those who would like to purchase.

A man by the name of John Frazier and a girl whose real name is Kate Paulstock, both of Wheeling, left the Neal House in Rochester on Friday, where they had been staying a short time as man and wife, and went to Harmony, stopping at the hotel in that place. During the afternoon of Friday the man requested the use of a horse and buggy to take a ride. While the host was procuring these, the man shot the woman in the forehead with a pistol and then shot himself. The murderer and suicide died about 2 o'clock Saturday morning, the woman still lives and there is some hopes of her recovery. The affair of course created intense excitement in that community, and startled the occupants of that country hotel. The woman on being questioned confessed that they were from Wheeling, and added that she had no desire to live. It seems from other information that the parties were desperately in love and had eloped once before in get as far away as Steubenville where they were captured and taken back to Wheeling. The second time, however, they were more successful, and nothing occurred to interfere with their freedom until they reached Harmony where the horrible tragedy occurred. It is said that Frazier had a wife and two children in Zanesville, Ohio.

The Butler Eagle says: As we go to press we have received the following letter, which explains itself:

BUTLER, June 30, 1873.

EDITOR EAGLE: Dear Sir.—As there has been considerable feeling manifested on the part of some of the Republicans of our county, in reference to the manner in which our primary election was held in some of the districts, I take this occasion to say that although I believe a fair count of the Republican vote cast would have assigned me a place on the ticket, yet I am unwilling to have my friends go to the trouble necessary to vindicate a party nomination. I am truly thankful for the constancy with which my friends adhered to me under the abuse heaped upon me by an organized band of defamers. I desire acquiescence in the situation. In the future let us hope that our party may be permitted to make their own nominations. The whole ticket shall have my hearty support. Yours, &c.

W. S. WALDRON.

Under the circumstances Mr. Waldron deserves credit for his acquiescence. His devotion to the peace of the party ought to reap for him the reward of the faithful hereafter.

Warning.—Let every person that has the slightest idea of being sick, with any of those terrible diseases peculiar to warm weather, such as cholera, cholera morbus, dysentery, &c., get at once a bottle of Maginnis' Ferrius Oleine—as it is the best known remedy for those diseases, whether for men, women or children. Price 50 cents. For sale by Druggists, Dealers and Agents.

FRANKFORT SPRINGS, July 23, 1873. EDITOR RADICAL.—We have been visited lately with some very fine rains which have greatly improved the prospect for hay. The farmers are making preparations for harvest, which will soon be commenced. The wheat crop promises well. Advice report the Colorado bug journeying for a new charter, may he make speedy application.

The Frankfort Springs Academy closed its second year on the 2nd inst. The year has been an uncommonly successful one, and the examination held at its close, reflected creditably upon the principals of the institution, for the able and efficient manner in which they have conducted it.

At the close of the exercises Prof. J. H. Veszey was presented with a fine collection of books by the students, in token of their high regard, and appreciation of his merits. In the evening the Doctrina Society gave a grand exhibition consisting of Declarations, Dialogues, Essays, and Tableaux. The Salutatory was given by Miss Jennie McAyeal. Valedictory by J. Pomeroy, the services of the "Service band" were secured and played in their usual creditable manner.

To say it was largely attended would not be doing justice. The people flocked in from all directions within a circle of 15 miles, and long before the hour of commencement, there was not standing room.

All united in saying "the exhibition was first class," but one unpleasant circumstance occurred to mar the pleasantness of the evening. Some "redugs" was introduced which was freely imbibed by the "baser portion," and unluckily found its way to the stage, one of the stage-managers was benighted to a small extent which reflected not very creditably upon himself, and destroyed his efforts to keep order.

The exhibition closed at the late hour of 12 o'clock, when we with the rest retired to court the charms of the "happy crowners duty" hoping that we might in the future witness such exhibitions, and that they may come not like "Angels visits," but cross life's pathway frequently. H. B.

Base Ball.—The game of base ball on the morning of the 4th inst., between the Rough & Ready club, of this place, and the Allegheny club, of Allegheny City, was the best played and most gentlemanly conducted game that we have ever witnessed in this place, and will certainly do much toward changing the opinion of those of our citizens who have heretofore been unfavorable to this popular and healthful amusement. There was not a single loud or profane word uttered on the ground, and the spectators certainly deserve credit for their good behavior on that occasion. The following is the score by innings:

Table with 10 columns representing innings and 2 rows for Rough & Ready and Allegheny scores.

The next game of the series will be played on the grounds of the Allegheny club, Union Park, Allegheny City, on Saturday July 26th, when the Rough & Ready club will appear in their new uniform and expect to make a creditable appearance and a good score. We would also mention in this connection that they propose soon having as good a ground as any in this section, having secured the Fair Ground for that purpose, and will commence work on it immediately.

Rev. Wm. Fulton, aged 36 years, pastor of the Fourth United Presbyterian Church, of Allegheny City, died on Wednesday evening, June 25, at the house of his sister, near Darlington, this county. Mr. Fulton had held his position in Allegheny for about three years past, and was much beloved by his congregation. He had been pastor at Indiana before going to Allegheny city. He was a man of mental and moral worth and had the confidence of all with whom he mingled. His daily walk and conversation was a living epistle known and read of all men.

The Wellsville Union says: The remains were taken to his late residence in Allegheny, and on Friday evening the funeral services were held in the church in which he had ministered for a number of years as pastor; at this service the Revs. Dr. J. G. Brown, A. D. Clark, J. W. Witherspoon, and T. H. Hanna officiated, and they were of an exceedingly impressive character.

Saturday, the remains of the revered dead were brought to this place, for interment from the residence of the father-in-law of deceased, Mr. James Stewart. A special car had been chartered, and some sixty members of the congregation of deceased accompanied the remains, besides a number of ministerial friends from Allegheny and Pittsburgh. The Elders of the church paid their last respects to their late pastor by serving as pall-bearers. Services were held in the U. P. Church, of this place, Saturday at 10 A. M., the Rev. A. D. Clark, of Allegheny, presiding, and the Revs. W. J. Reed, of Pittsburgh, and Bain of Allegheny, taking a leading part in the services. From the church the funeral procession, which was quite large, proceeded to Spring Grove Cemetery, where the remains were laid in their last earthly resting place.

Divine services at Vanport M. E. Church, next Sunday, at 4 o'clock P. M., by Rev. Jas. M. Shields. Welcome all. For "Guide through the State Normal School," address, with stamp, J. A. Cooper, Edinboro, Pa.

Prof. De Leon, with Magner's great Moral Senation, astonished the people of Smith's Ferry on Monday afternoon by walking a short distance on the wire cable which is stretched across the Ohio river at that place. Owing to the severe storm that came up just as he had undertaken the daring feat, the Prof. was prevented from crossing the river, as he intended, but walking down over the houses on this side went through a series of tight-rope performances, such as hanging by the feet, and turning in various ways on the cable. We understand that the Prof. proposes to return to the Ferry, time not yet fixed, and walk across the river on the cable, and give an exhibition of his skill in a way that very few can surpass.

The union of the Liberals and Democrats in this county is not like that produced by two dew drops, which trembling on the petal to the same sweet air, finally slip all fragrant into one. They trembled together last Fall, and promised to converge and unite, but the sweet air that first made them tremble turned to a storm that tore them assunder and dashed their expectations to the ground. Now they are looking at each other again, but there is a great gulf between them. The situation to an observer is interesting.

The corn crop in this county promises much better than it did earlier in the season, and the prospect now is there will be a fair yield. Some fields of wheat cut are fine, others moderately good and a few badly damaged by the severe cold of last winter. Potatoes are injured considerably by the bugs, yet the yield will be good. There will be some apples, few pears, no peaches. Grass is heavy and the warm, moist weather is doing wonders for all kinds of vegetation.

Our gentlemanly County Treasurer, who has been making a tour of the county on official business, has been quite successful in the collection of taxes. Pay up and save the 5 per cent. discount.

The Career of a Great Remedy.

Twenty summers have elapsed since it was briefly announced that a new vegetable tonic and alterative, bearing the name of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, had been added to the list of preventive and restorative medicines. The modest advertisement which invited attention to the preparation stated that it had been used with great success in private practice as a cure for dyspepsia, bilious complaints, constipation and intercurrent fever. It was soon discovered that the article possessed extraordinary properties. The people of every class, tested its merits as a tonic, stimulant, corrective and restorative, and found that its effects more than fulfilled their hopes and expectations. From that time to the present its course has been upward and onward, and it stands to-day at the head of all medicines of its class, American or imported, in the magnitude of its sales and its reputation as a safe, agreeable and potent invigorant and restorative. For languor and debility, lack of appetite and gastric disturbances so common during the summer months, it is absolutely infallible. Indigestion, bilious disorders, constipation, nervousness, periodical fevers, and all the ordinary complaints generated by a vitiated and humid atmosphere, vanish under its reinvigorating and regulating influence. This is its record, avouched by volumes of intelligent testimony, extending over a period of a fifth of a century, and comprehending the names of thousands of well known citizens belonging to every class and calling. In Europe it is thought a great thing to obtain the patronage of royalty or a "patent medicine," but Hostetter's Bitters has been spontaneously approved by millions of independent sovereigns, and its patent consists in their endorsement.
