WASHING DAY.

Monday comes and with it brings,
What the damsels all will say
As they tie their aprons trings
This is the dreaded— Washing day.

Sunday night its woes begin,
Lovers, late then dare not stay,
Girls will hint it is a sin,
And to morrow's— Washing Day.

Up at day light then they leap,
Soiled clothes together lay,
Sadly view the monstrous heap,
Work enough for— Washing Day.

Now around the tubs they stand,
Like the graces in array;
Soap and dipper close at hand,
Useful things on— Washing Day.

Short sleeve'd gowns, and bosoms bare
They their beautiful limbs display,
Unadorn'd, more winning fair—
Choose a wife a— Washing Day.

If by chance acquaintance knock,
Sally cries send all away,
Looking thus I'd Satan shock:
Not at home a— Washing Day.

Should one heedless through them go,
Of the suds he gets a spray;
There's no passing here below,
Learn the rules of— Washing Day.

Then at noon the table's laid,
Eat or famish then you may;
Dish of Potluck soon is made,
Dainties none a— Washing day.

When at last the work is done,
Dress'd at evening smart and gay,
With conundrum or a pun,
Passes off a— Washing Day.

DILEMMA.

A pupil agrees with a lawyer as follows, viz: to pay for his instruction, $100 for the first cause he wins for a client, after his time is out; that time having expired and the pupil acting as lawyer, has no cause offered to plead upon: The instructing lawyer being uneasy for his $100 commences an action for the recovery of his debt, upon this supposition—if I win the cause, I recover the money by judgment of court: but if I lose, he wins, and the money is mine by his contract. The young man supposes—if I lose the cause, the lawyer cannot demand upon contract, as we agreed—if I win, he loses, according to judgment of the court.

Query—How must the judge decide in this case, without impairing the contract, or affecting the consideration of the parties' claim?

A LETTER

From one Quaker to another.

FRIEND JOHN—I desire thee to go to one of those sinful men in the flesh called an attorney, and let him take out an instrument with a seal fixed thereunto, by means whereby we may seize the outward tabernacle of George Green, and bring him before the lamb-skin-men at Westminster, and teach him to do as he would wish to be done by. And so I rest thy friend in the light.

Early Impressions Strongest.

A man who had received a concussion of the brain, was brought to St. Thomas's Hospital. By proper treatment he recovered; but it was observed, that though he conversed with the attendants, it was in a language none of them understood. A

Welsh Milk woman coming into the ward, and hearing him speak entered into conversation with him—it was then found that he was by birth a Welchman, but had left his country during his youth, and had entirely forgotten his native tongue. In the course of thirty years which he had lived in England, he spoke the English language alone since the accident he had received, he only remembered the events of his younger years, which he had entirely forgotten before he had received the injury in his head: but the English language, and the occurrences of the latter years of his life, were totally obliterated from his memory.

A Remarkable Occurrence.—In No. 3, vol. 3d, of Dr. Baldinger's Medical Magazine, is contained the following curious story:

A student of a certain university being drowned, an unsuccessful search was made for the body. A man who was passing by advised his young friends to procure a large loaf to scoop out part of the crumb and fill the cavity with quick-silver; he then directed them to throw this quick-silver-pye upon the current, and averred that it would be stationary at the place where the person drowned was lying.— They followed his advice, and actually found the body. *Pet. ### Recipe for the Typhus Fever.

“For an adult, take one tea-spoon full of mustard mixed in a glass of warm water which in about half an hour will produce a gentle vomit and perspiration, when the patient should drink freely of warm water. In about 8 hours after the stomach has been so cleansed, the patient should have four grains of calomel and a gentle saline purgative.”

SELECT SENTENCES.

Felicity consists not in having the applause of the people at one's entrance, for that is an advantage which all that enter have; the difficulty is, to have the same applause at one's exit.

A death-bed flattery is the worst of treacheries. Ceremonies of mode and compliment are mightily out of season, when life and salvation are at stake.

WILLIAM WOOD

Tailor,

INFORMS his friends and the public in general, that he has removed to the shop next door to Roland Curtin's Store, where he continues to carry on the Tailoring business.

Having lately acquired the system of cutting and making coats and other garments in the newest fashion and neatest style, he hopes by this and a careful attention to business to merit as heretofore a share of the public patronage.

As some of the brethren have stated the prices they will charge for making clothes, he will just state, that he will work as low as any other Tailor in Bellefonte.

May 1, 1819.

ANDREW STEWART, TAILOR,

RESPECTFULLY informs his friends, and the public in general, that he has removed his shop to the house formerly occupied by James Hemphill, in the Borough of Bellefonte, opposite to the Bank, where he continues to carry on the

Tailoring business.

Information Wanted,

By a Soldier of the Revolution.

I enlisted in the continental War, about the Middle of November, in the year 1775 in Marblehead, Mass. under captain Jerry or Jeremiah Ony, Col. Hitchcock's regiment; went from thence to Boston, New-York, and Long Island; was transferred in May or June to Capt. John Allen's company of artillery, stationed at Fort Lee. I went through the Jerseys on a retreat; was returned to Capt. Ony—I fought the Hessians at Trenton on the 26th of Dec. '76, and the enemy at Princeton, 2d Jan. '77. I got my discharge on the 2d Feb. of the same year, at Morristown.

If any of my fellow soldiers are living, they will confer a particular favor by furnishing me with a certificate of my having served my country, that I may be enabled to obtain its bounty.
