PERIODICAL LITERATURE.

The following periodical works are published by E LITTLE, at his bookstores, 88 Chesnut street, Philadelphia, and in Trenton, and by R NORRIS HENRY, 129 Broadway, New York.

GENERAL TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

No subscription will be received for less than a volume, and they must begin with the beginning of a volume. No subscription will be discontinued until all arrears are paid, and unless notice have been given before the commencement of a new volume.

All letters to the publishers to be post paid. The Magazines are strongly packed, and forwarded by mail as soon as published.

Museum of Foreign Literature and Science.

CONDUCTED BY R. WALSH, JR. The nature of this enterprise, may be understood from a few considerations which the advertiser will venture to subjoin to their announcement of it. The periodical works of Great Britain and France contain a mass of literary and scientific intelligence, which does not reach the American public for want of a suitable channel but which would be read among us with equal pleasure and profit. Such of the British reviews and Magazines as are reprinted in the United States,—not excepting the Edinburgh and Quarterly Reviews—embrace much matter which is of little interest and of no advantage to the American reader, and not unfrequently fitted to vitiate his literary taste his morals, or his political principles.—It is desirable, under these circumstances, that a selection should be made, such as would furnish the valuable and entertaining portion of their contents, to the exclusion of the other portion consisting of details and speculations either uninteresting in themselves, or mischievous in their tendency, or altogether of local concern and applicaa fruitless consumption of time would be obviated; for pages destitute of merit might be substituted many of value now remaining unknown and inaccessible. Of several British journals of the science and erudite cast, and others indeed of a more general and at the same time of a very solid character, little or no use is made by the editors and compilers of periodical works printed in the United States.

The object of the one now advertised, is the accumulation, in a permanent form, of the materials thus neglected, and of the literary and scientific articles worthy of being reprinted in this country, but which, when so, are accompanied by others possessing no claim to attention. A miscellany—the Select Review—akin in the design, but not equal in comprehensiveness, to the present, flourished for some years in this city, and would, it may be presumed, have continued to be supported by a widespread subscription, but for an alteration of the plan, and a series of adventurous reverses. The revival of it, with a larger scope, would seem likely to be attended with still more signal success than its original existence, owing to the great multiplication of readers of periodical works, and the wide diffusion of the habit of seeking in them, both information and amusement.

The Museum commenced in July, 1822. It forms two volumes a year.

Published monthly—Price Six Dollars a year, payable in advance.

Christain Advocate.

The union of literature with genuine christianity, at all times important, is peculiarly so at this time, and in this country. The enemies of the truth as it is in Jesus, are using all their endeavours to maintain their cause and extend their influence, by the powerful auxiliaries of erudition and taste; and if the truth be left naked, or appear only in a careless or slovenly garb, it will not be likely to attract the attention and win the hearts of that large and important portion of the community which consists of the young, the cultivated and the aspiring. We know, indeed, that the success in inculcating evangelical truth must come from God, and that nothing but his grace will ever change a single human heart. Still we are not to expect miracles—we are only to expect the smiles of providence, and the influence of Divine grace, in the use of vigorous exertions, and of means naturally adapted to the effects intended to be produced. When the enemies of vital godliness assault with learning, and wit, and taste, they must be combated with the legitimate use of the arms which they abuse. In this service the Christian Advocats aspires to take a part; sensible, indeed, that it must be an humble part. It aspires to be somewhat instrumental in preventing the evil effects of literature misapplied, in cultivating and diffusing sound biblical criticism, in exposing misrepresentation and sophistry, in clothing the pure doctrines of the gospel in that chaste and attractive dress which may give full effect to their native charms, in endeavouring to cherish the love of learning and a just taste among the younger clergy, and to promote, generally, among orthodox Christians, that tone of true and evangelical piety, which shall demonstrate that it is not hostile but highly favorable to whatsoever things are true, honest, just pure lovely, and of good report. If, under the divine blessing, it shall be found that these results, to any considerable extent, have been produced by this publication, it will have rendered a service in which all who shall have given it their aid will have reason forever to rejoice.

The kinds of matter which this publication will contain, is not thought necessary to specify in detail. The editor will have constantly before him the best religious miscellanies, which are published both in Europe and the United States, and will endeavor, as far as possible, to model and improve his own work, by all the aids which he can derive from these sources. It is only thought necessary to mention particularly, that an attempt will be made to give a condensed and comprehensive view of religious intelligence; that the readers of the Christian Advocate may know the existing state of religion, without being at the expense and trouble, which many cannot afford, of purchasing and reading the numerous publications, to which these interesting and important objects have recently given occasion.

A number of the Christian Advocate shall be issued in the first week of every month.

One-tenth of the profits of this work shall help to form a fund to be appropriated annually to Christian Church, laity, impartially selected.

All communications on the subject of the work are to be post paid, and addressed to the publisher, "E. LITTLE, Philadelphia."

This work, which is a continuation of the Presbyterian Magazine, began in January, 1823.

Published Monthly—Price $3 a year, payable on delivery of the June number; or $2 50 if paid in advance.

American Journal of Science and Arts.

CONDUCTED BY BENJAMIN SILLIMAN,

Professor of Chemistry &c. in Yale College.

This Journal began in the year 1819. Two numbers, between which there is an interval of about three months, form a volume.

Price three dollars, payable in advance.

E. LITTLE, and R. N HENRY, respectfully solicit subscriptions to the above work. The North American Review, and the American Journal of Science, are now well established, and have a decided claim to public support as forming important parts of our national literature.

Lancaster Intelligencer.

THE Widow of the late William Dickson, tenders her grateful thanks to the subscribers and patrons of the LANCASTER INTELLIGENCER for the support which the paper has received since its establishment in 1799—and respectfully informs them and the public generally, that the publication of it will be continued as heretofore—that it will remain faithful to the principles of democracy, in which the late Editor had ardently labored.

As it is contemplated to enlarge the size of the paper, and make further improvements therein, and place it under the management of a person of sound moral and political principals, and in every other respect well qualified to conduct an interesting, useful, and efficient public journal; considerable expense will be incurred. To enable her to accomplish these views, she earnestly requests all persons indebted to the establishment, to pay the amount of their respective accounts as soon as possible.—She also respectfully solicits an increased share of public patronage, by new subscriptions and advertising custom. The terms of the paper will be as heretofore, viz: Two dollars a year, paid in advance.

FOR SALE OR RENT,

The Phillipsburg Hotel and town lots adjoining, at present occupied by Thomas Hancock. The house is an excellent Brick building 50 feet by 45, with spacious buildings extending to the rear for Kitchen and family apartments. The stable is very commodious, and there is space fenced in for an excellent garden. The whole is admirably arranged for a respectable tavern; and the situation for business being very good, great advantage might be derived by any person possessing capital and ability, desirous to conduct the establishment. The stages to and from Meadville remain each one night at the Hotel every week.
