

to my old heart and cheers me in my labors, for, to tell the truth, it is a labor for a man at my time of life to write much. I ought to confess too that I am not a bit displeased to see how some of the federal editors carp and cavil and snap at what I say, as though they would snap off my finger and thumb to prevent me from writing any more. But there's a spalpeen in Carlisle, who prints the Herald that behaves very badly to me. It's well for him that I am old, or I would not mind taking a bit of a shillelagh in my hand and walking a hundred miles to take the measure of that saucy body's shoulders. He calls, or like a dirty dog as he is, insinuates that I am "a Political knave;" just because I tell the plain downright truth. I call a Tory, a tory; and I don't call a man that voted for the British Treaty, and that was always against Simon Snyder and in favor of James Ross, I don't call such a one a Democrat. I know Andrew Gregg too well to speak of him any thing but the truth. If I say any thing that's wrong, let them set me right. I set them right often enough, and I'll excuse them if they set me right sometimes—that is if they can.

The Federal Carlisle Herald-man wants to know where Dennis McCarty lives. In truth then I won't tell him, but may be I'll get my son Tom, he's a good strapping boy, six feet high, to call at the Herald's office and tell them he's my lawful attorney ready to pay all old scores and settle off on account of his father. The impudence of this Herald man is very great. He tells Irishmen to be on their guard for fear I'll cheat them, and it's himself that has his hands in their pockets all the while, and would rob them of their votes. I don't know how a man can have the assurance to look another man in the face and tell him to be on his guard, while he is actually cheating him, at the very same time. This fellow is bawling about Catholics and about Irishmen and pretending to be very much afraid they'll be imposed upon, and all the while he is wanting to coax them to vote for the federal candidate and help to put in office the friends of Lord Castlereagh, and the like of him, that sold Ireland and Irishmen and brought them to want meals victuals in their own dear plentiful country. Don't I know that the high folks that support Andrew Gregg think they are all of the best blood and ought to have the best of every thing, and that things will never be right here as long as a poor man is able to have a Turkey for his dinner. Sure they would have us live like the poor creatures in Ireland on Herrings and Potatoes, and taste meat only four or five times a year, and eat Rye bread instead of Wheat. If they could bring this about under Andrew Gregg, or make way for it, they would be right well pleased; and then Irishmen might whistle for their rights and the blessings they now enjoy, and which they will long continue to enjoy if we continue to put good honest democrats, like Andrew Shulze into office.

DENNIS McCARTY.

From the Indiana Gazette.
A WESTERN HERMIT.
About 12 miles above the junction of Spoon and Illinois rivers, immediately on the bank of the former, there has been living, for three years past a man who has entirely secluded himself from the world, and dwells in the midst of the wilderness alone, and upwards of 60 miles from the residence of any human being. His name is DAVIDSON, is a physician, was formerly a surgeon in the United States army, and was pupil to the celebrated Dr. Rush. He has a number of medical books, two guns, and a dog, and a quantity of clothing. He has erected himself a small hut, and has about an acre of ground in cultivation; at the back of his garden runs Spoon river, in which he has a fish trap. His food is wild Turkeys and other game, fish, and the produce of his garden. He appears displeased at the sight of a human being. My informant saw him at his residence, being impelled by curiosity to visit him, and inquired of him particularly the cause of his strange seclusion. He said he had done so, and would do so ever, to keep clear of the wretched white people. His father lives in Pennsylvania, and he has received many solicitous letters from him and other friends to return; but he has never answered one, but declares it to be his determination to remove from the present situation as soon as the whites approach too near him. As soon as his present stock of clothing wears out, he says he will dress himself in skins.

version to return into Thessaly; the same letters announce that the troops garrisoned at Corinth, wished to force a passage in order to go to Patras, but their attempt was fruitless, and they were met on their march, by a body of Greeks, superior in numbers and they thought proper to return to their entrenchments, without loss on either side.

London, May 8.

City, 12 o'clock.—The city has been inundated with reports this morning. The rumour of the capture of Pampeluna was immediately succeeded by the report of the assassination of the Duke d'Angoulême. The funds instantly fell from 79 7/8 to 79 1/4.

We learn that R. J. MEigs has resigned his office of Postmaster General of the United States. His successor is not yet designated. Nat. Int.

We understand that several Banks in this city, having ascertained the value of Pistareens by an assay at the Mint of the United States, to be nearly seventeen cents, have determined on receiving them from depositories at that valuation. Dem. Press

In the British House of Commons, on the 22nd of April, Sir Francis Burrett brought forward his promised motion for an enquiry into the conduct of the High sheriff of Dublin, in the case of the trial of the rioters in the Dublin Theatre, who threw missiles at the Lord Lieutenant. On a division, the numbers were—for the motion 219; against it 185—being a majority against the ministers 34.

M. of said day, of which the Coroner, Justices of the Peace and Constables within said county will take notice, that they be then and there in their proper persons, with their rolls, records, inquisitions, examinations, and other remembrances to do those things which to their offices appertain to be done; and all suitors, jurors and witnesses are also requested to be and attend at said court, and not depart without leave.

FOR SALE.

The subscriber offers for sale, the following lands, situate in the county of Clearfield: A valuable farm containing acres, on which are erected a good DWELLING HOUSE

with about fifty acres cleared, seven of which are meadow, and much more can be made with little expense, a thriving APPLE orchard, a number of PEACH and other fruit trees; ALSO,

A handsome FARM, adjoining the above, containing acres. Improvements, a log dwelling house and barn, out houses, and about ing APPLE and PEACH orchard, besides a variety of other fruit trees;

ALSO, a tract of land adjoining the last mentioned, containing about 200 acres, with small improvements, but elegant land, and easily cleared;

ALSO, in that neighborhood, two tracts of unimproved land, containing 2000 acres, the quality of which, comparatively, is the best in that county.

These lands possess advantages, which many in that country are deprived of. They are situated three or four miles from the Susquehanna River; four or five from the mouth of Anderson's creek; and from a mile to a mile and a half from the turnpike, leading from Erie through Bellefonte. The State road from Huntingdon intersects this turnpike, and passes the houses of the improved tracts. Persons wishing to erect water works of any description, will find these lands in every respect well calculated for that purpose; the seats on two of the tracts, one improved, are considered the best in that part of the county, well supplied by nature immediately about them, with valuable sawing timber, such as pine, cherry, oak, &c. which it converted into boards and scantling, and sent down the Susquehanna, would realize to the owner a handsome profit. The land is generally timbered with oak, hickory, &c.

The price will be very moderate, for the improved, by paying half in cash, and the remainder in equal payments. The unimproved, by paying part in hand, and the remainder by installments, the subscriber will sell much lower, than any that has heretofore, or that now is, offered in that or any adjacent county; say, from $1, 50 to $2, 00 per acre, according to the payments. For further information, enquire of the subscriber, living in Cambria county, William F. Boone, Bellefonte, or Samuel Johnston, near the premises.
