

Can array is still effective and invincible. We, moreover, await the arrival of ten thousand warriors, who are on the march from Colombia. Can you desire better prospects?

Peruvians! In the space of five months, we have experienced five acts of treason or defection; but there still remain steadfast to your cause fourteen millions of Americans, wherewith to encounter the million and a half who are your enemies; their swords will protect you, La Plata, Chili, Mexico and Colombia, are for you. Justice is also on your side; and when contending for her, heaven never fails to crown her defenders with victory.

Peruvians! Have patience, and look for the consummation of your hopes to the bravery of your brothers in arms; for they do not place confidence in blind fortune, as the Spaniards do, but in the noble and patriotic feelings that warm their generous bosoms. The field of battle will decide to whom Peru shall appertain; whether to the sons of fortune, or to those of glory.

BOLIVAR.

HURRICANE AT THE ISLE OF FRANCE.

On the 23d of February, a tremendous hurricane was experienced at the Isle of France, in which 25 ships and brig were sunk or driven on shore. Only two Americans were among the number. The Java was driven ashore, lost her bowsprit, and received other damage. Ship Concord, Burleigh, of Portsmouth, was driven ashore, her larboard side stove in, and she was afterwards condemned and sold.

It is feared that during the blow, a British sloop of war, the delight, was lost, with upwards of 160 men on board, as she was seen off the harbor the evening previous to the gale, and has not been heard of since. Several pieces of wood were picked up, which were recognised to have belonged to her.

The plantations of sugar cane and provisions were ravaged, the clove trees destroyed, and many houses and magazines unroofed or thrown down. The colony has sustained so much damage as to prejudice, most fatally, commerce and agriculture.

A man, suspected of being one of the gang who murdered Mr. BONSALL has been committed to jail at Baltimore. Among other circumstances which caused suspicion to rest upon him, he had in his possession a book of poems, composed by Mrs. Gardner of Darby, with the name of the owner carefully cut out. It is said that the murderers took such a book from the trunk of Mr. BONSALL.

From Bell's London Weekly Messenger, May 24.

The foreign intelligence of the week has excited but little curiosity. There has been a kind of revolutionary spirit in Lisbon. The Queen, Don Miguel and the Prince Royal, seem to have combined together to dethrone the King. An army was actually collected, the guards of the place corrupted, and the King himself imprisoned for thirty-six hours. The whole has the appearance of a drunken frolic.

The next subject of interest is Yturbe's expedition to Mexico. This is an adventurous man, and likewise a moderate man. Having undergone a sort of voluntary deposition from the Mexican throne, and retired to England with a pension, he appears to have been invited back by his fellow countrymen to reassume the sceptre. We give no credit to the unjust suspicions entertained of him, that he is gone back as an agent of Spain and the Holy Allies. Mexico is as much beyond the power of Spain and the allies, as the mountains in the moon.

From Bell's London Weekly Messenger, May 31.

There are two bills now before the house of commons in aid of the great principle of liberty of trade; one of them a bill to repeal the combination laws; the other, to repeal all laws against the free ingress of our workmen to any foreign countries, where they may hope to find a better market for their skill and industry.

As regards the first of these bills, the principle is, that personal liberty, or the right of giving or withholding our labor, is a positive good, and therefore that all restrictions upon its exercise are evil in themselves; unless so much public good justify the state in demanding the individual sacrifice. We are all so bound to the public weal of our country, that we come under an obligation to suffer any restriction on our own personal liberty, which the public good may require. But in order to justify this demand on the part of the public, the legislature must prove that the sacrifice required is proportionably conducive to the public benefit. Otherwise, whatever the laws subtract from personal liberty is so much natural freedom unnecessarily taken away. It is so much pure cost paid for no adequate return.

With regard to the other proposed bill to allow the free emigration of our workmen, it has our cordial concurrence. The law, as it at present stands, is both useless and mischievous. It is useless, because its sole object is to prevent the publication abroad of our mechanical processes and machinery, where it is notorious to all the world that nothing of this kind can be concealed, or is concealed. In the present intercourse of nations and individuals, there are no secrets of this kind; and, in the present modes of conveyance, and in the cheapness and abundance of them, it is totally impossible to prevent the emigration of our artisans to foreign parts. It is mischievous likewise; first, because it leads to fraud; and secondly, because it prevents the return of these artisans, though not their departure. This law, therefore, ought unquestionably to be repealed, as it is a useless and mischievous restriction upon natural liberty, and without any possible good whatever.

DICKINSON COLLEGE.

The Board of Trustees of Dickinson College, on the afternoon of Wednesday last, after the exercises of the Commencement had been concluded, withdrew to the Refectory, where the Steward had prepared for them and the Students a dinner suitable to the occasion. His Excellency the Governor of this state, with Mr. Hiester, the Surveyor General, were among their guests. The appearance of those gentlemen at the table of the Board and among the Students of the Institution, was a circumstance that could not but be flattering to all who are interested in the welfare of Dickinson College. Besides the Governor and the Surveyor General, the Board had invited other respectable strangers, who visited this place that day to be present at the Commencement, thus affording an opportunity to them to witness the internal arrangements of the Refectory. The guests were all much gratified with their entertainment, and the dinner prepared reflected no little praise upon the care and industry of the Steward.

Before the company had withdrawn the following toasts were drank.

1. Pennsylvania—Her political interests are connected with the virtue and intelligence of her people.
2. The people of Pennsylvania—We desire their concurrence in fostering the interests of Dickinson College.
3. Science—The handmaid of the arts and patroness of national prosperity.

4. The Agriculturalist—A degree in Political Economy as honorable as A. B. in Literature.

5. The memory of Rush, Rittenhouse & Ramsey, and the other Literature of Pennsylvania.

After his Excellency and his company had withdrawn, the following volunteer by Professor Vethake was drank with great cordiality by the Board and Faculty—

Our distinguished Guests—Members of the true American Magistracy; a Magistracy elevated to power by the voice of the people and in their elevation not forgetting that they belong to the people.

After which the Board withdrew and the Professors drank: The health and happiness of the present graduates—and they in return drank to the health and happiness of the Board of Trustees. These were then dismissed by the Faculty. They day was truly festive nor was their one solitary instance of hilarious excitement to mar its pleasures.

Baltimore, July 3.

Susquehanna Navigation.—The commissioners entrusted with the improvement of the navigation of the bed of the Susquehanna river, returned to this city yesterday after an absence of two weeks, which have been spent in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Commissioners, in examination of the river, and in the formation of new contracts for work. We learn that a large amount of work has been contracted for on the most favorable terms—and, should the season prove propitious, that the new improvements, in addition to those already made, will render the descending navigation from Columbia to the Maryland Line equally as safe and easy as it is above the town.

Fatal Aerial Excursion.—A Mr. Harris and Miss Stocks new candidates for aeratic fame, ascending in a balloon near London. When about 2 miles from the earth, owing to some mismanagement in letting the gas off, the balloon descended with so much rapidity that Mr. Harris was instantaneously killed, and Miss Stocks materially injured.

The Comptonium.—Under this name a new and wonderful musical instrument has been exhibited at Paris. It is formed upon the same general plan as the common barrel organ, but is more particularly distinguished from it by the circumstance that it not only plays the tunes marked upon it with precision, but that it also improvises and has hence been called the Musical Improvisator. A theme is written upon the barrel; the instrument plays it over, to render it familiar to the auditor; and afterwards, left to itself, and without any external impulse, executes an infinity of variations, they are always in strict accordance with the rules of composition.

Fire.—The Union meeting-house was struck with lightning and consumed to ashes about 3 o'clock this morning. The heavy rain that fell when the fire burst out and was at its highest element, protected the neighbouring buildings from sustaining any injury.—Mercer, Pp. Monitor.

PARRICIDE.—CHARLES BALL of Bridgeport, Vermont, killed his father on the evening of Wednesday, the 22d ultimo, by beating him with his fist. The unhappy perpetrator of this unnatural crime was almost immediately arrested, and the next day committed to the jail of Middlebury, to await his trial at the next session of the supreme court.

SINGULAR CASE OF HYDROPHOBIA.

Mr. JAMES WHITING, aged 56, died at Hampton, Washington county, New York, on the 10th ultimo. Thirty years since, he was bitten by a mad dog, and in his last sickness showed great symptoms of hydrophobia.

BATTLE WITH PIRATES.

We learn from Capt. Cotton, of the schooner Thetis, which arrived last evening from Manzanilla, south side of Cuba, that on the 9th of May, while lying in the harbor, the Supercargo received intelligence that three canoes intended to cut the schooner out that night. Measures were immediately taken, to put the Thetis in a state of defence: big guns were loaded, and the muskets got ready, and all hands put in fighting order. At 8 P. M. the supercargo came on board with four soldiers which the Commandant of the Port lent for the occasion.—Thus prepared, a good look out was kept, and at half past 11, three canoes were perceived coming from the Keys opposite the port, with oars muffled. As they approached 12 men were counted in each boat. As the Pirates came up, they were hailed, but they were silent as death. A pistol was now discharged in the air, when the pirate crews discharged a volley of musketry. The battle was now begun. The defenders of the Thetis opened a brisk fire, which the Pirates returned as briskly, and this lasted fifteen minutes—when the great guns, well charged with round and grape shot, was opened upon them, and they quickly made their way for the shore. On the following morning three of the Pirates were found dead on the beach, and during the day five others were taken dreadfully wounded, one almost cut in two with a single grape shot. On the 12th one of the canoes was found in one of the Keys almost torn to pieces, with four dead pirates in her, all of whom were recognised as inhabitants of Manzanilla.

ACCIDENT.

Last Tuesday week, a man by the name of Dun, one of the workmen engaged in getting out stone for the works going on at Black Rock, New York, very unadvisedly passed by a blacksmith's shop, with a keg of powder under his arm, unheeded. A spark from the forge blew into it, when it exploded, and tore the unfortunate man almost to pieces. His case is considered as hopeless.
