

Hon. Mathew Hale Carpenter.
The Wisconsin Legislature, largely Republican, has done honor to itself and to the State, by electing to the U. S. Senate, M. H. CARPENTER. Mr. CARPENTER is a first class lawyer, having few, if any, superiors among the eminent men who stand foremost for legal acumen and forensic eloquence in the Supreme Court of the United States. He is a fine classical scholar and possesses a mind stored as well with rich literary acquisitions, as with a knowledge of political science and governmental affairs so necessary to make a member of Congress prominent and useful.

Our readers can form a pretty correct idea of the man, and what his course in the Senate will be from the following extract from his speech in response to the announcement of his election. We commend it to the Democrats of Central Pennsylvania, and request them to give the extract a thoughtful and careful reading. It contains as much pure, unadulterated Democracy, and love of liberty, as anything that ever fell from the lips of THOMAS JEFFERSON, or from any of the fathers or founders of this Republic. Mr. CARPENTER said:

"Keeping certain leading ideas steadily in view; always remembering that this great people can better bear and survive anything than national dishonor or great displeasure; trusting to the continuing favor of Divine Providence; cultivating the vast resources of agricultural and mineral wealth, with the enterprise and energy of a young and free people; all will be accomplished. "The great idea upon which our Government was founded was the equality of man; his rights as a man and as a citizen, without distinction of birthplace, nationality, race, rank, or color. There can be no concrete, practical thing until it has first been conceived in the mind of God or man. So with government. It must first exist in the mind of the statesman, then be reduced to practice. "Our Government was the creation of man, and partook of the infirmity which attends all men's work. The wonder now is after eighty years of practical operation, not that our Constitution has defects, but that it has none. If we are now to lose sight of this, however wisely financial questions may be settled, no matter how many railroads to the Pacific we may build, no matter what material property we may acquire, if we fail to do this, we are in the land, then we neglect the opportunity Heaven has offered us, we dishonor our name, outgrow the God who has watched so kindly over us, and the blood of our martyrs has been shed in vain."

The Democrats are making feeble efforts to have the people believe that to remedy things at Harrisburg they must be restored to power. This would be going from bad to worse. Nobody is going to be deceived. This is a matter wholly within the Republican household. The Republican party all over the State is vindicating its honor and its claim to be trusted, by promptly repudiating the extravagance and corruption of the sixty-one men in the House of Representatives at Harrisburg. The Senate has done so by refusing to sanction the act which has brought them so conspicuously in review before the people. Let Republicans everywhere, while purging the party of this great scandal, demand of the Senate to stand firm. And we will shush to the Democrats that in attempting to convince the people that a remedy is to be found only in restoring them to power, they will have their labor for their pains. The Republican party of Pennsylvania will show the people that it is able to correct its own errors; and in this way will prove itself still worthy of the confidence of the people.

Financial Abuse.
It is reported by Secretary McCulloch that the Government has since 1860, realized $298,782,320 of currency, by the secret sales of gold; $117,814,747, by the secret sales of 7-30 bonds; $454,724,096 by similar sales of 5-20s; $7,653,940,800 from 10-40s; making a total of $1,035,261,982, as the gross secret operations of the Government, besides $958,349,900, part of which were secret and part open transactions. This shows the extent to which the Secretary had been manipulating the market. On these immense sums the commissions to brokers have been literally thrown away, since they might have been saved by properly advertising and selling directly from the Treasury.

Of all the $3,062,450,379 negotiated during the past few years, only about $1,000,000,000 have been done as a business man would have managed, to-wit, by inviting the best proposals for taking the loans. Beside, the plan that has been pursued has opened a wide door for official peculation and official enrichment. How much has been made in these transactions it is impossible to know, until the great books that we read of shall be opened. Mr. Conklin's bill is designed to prevent this abuse.

Money is becoming easier in the cities.

Heroic Conduct of a Charlestonian.
One night last week, in Charleston, Mrs. George Martin awoke and saw two negro burglars in the chamber. One remained while the other went into the adjoining room. The one who remained had a large butcher's knife, which he held over the slumbering Mr. Martin. When the burglar left the bed he placed the knife in his teeth and walked about the room, searching the drawers, from which he took thirty-five dollars in greenbacks and five dollars in gold. After a while he again approached the bedside and elevated the huge knife. Mrs. Martin jumped up and seized an artillery sword near the bed, and while the burglar's arm was extended over her sleeping husband, struck the burglar a terrible blow, which caused the knife to fall from his grasp. While he stooped to pick up the knife she gave him a cut on the head, and as his face swung back she gave him still another blow on the forehead. The burglar rushed at the heroic woman and succeeded in giving her a severe kick in the side, breaking two of her ribs, which caused her to faint and fall. This woke Mr. Martin, who leaped out of bed in time to see the soundrels jump out of the window.

CONDITION OF ARKANSAS.—It is officially stated that in Arkansas, during the three months preceding the calling out of the militia, there were received at the Governor's headquarters authentic accounts of over two hundred different murders perpetrated with impunity in that State, and very many of the most heinous crimes; but during the forty days which have passed since martial law was declared, but one single murder and not a single outrage has been heard of in that State.

WEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.—The Executive Council of the Philadelphia Board of Trade estimate the product in money, for the coal, iron and oil of this State, for the last year, at $195,000,000. This is a greater sum than is produced by all the gold-bearing States and Territories, and yet it is the yield of only the mineral product of the State, leaving the vast agricultural and other sources of her wealth out of view.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE FOR 1888.
Within the last eight years our country has triumphantly passed through the gravest and most trying period which has ever befallen her since her independence was acknowledged. She has vindicated her good faith her right to be regarded as a free and equal member of the family of nations, the preservation of her independence, her territorial integrity, her political and moral principles, and her right to be regarded as a free and equal member of the family of nations. The right of each man, by virtue of his birth or naturalization as a citizen of the United States, to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, until he shall forfeit the right by crime, is also established on impregnable foundations. The separation of the States, the separation from Great Britain; it was left to us to establish as a fact, what they merely asserted as a principle. The separation of Saratoga and Yorktown proclaimed an abstract, the separation of Gettysburg, Vicksburg, and Five Forks, established as a fact, that the Union is not to be dissolved.
