W. W. BROWN, A. B. HUTCHISON, Editors

Terms, $2 per Annum, in Advance.

BELLEVILLE, PA. Wednesday Morning, March 17, '89.

The New Cabinet Members.

As we anticipated last week, some very important changes have been made in Gen. GRANT'S Cabinet.

The Secretary of State, Hon. HAMILTON FISH, of New York, is an able and accomplished citizen.

Mr. FISH'S political career began in 1845, when elected to Congress for one term.

Acting upon this same principle, as we have already stated, they resigned their seats in the Indiana Legislature to defeat an Amendment to the Constitution.

Our Democratic friends have boasted for some time past that the passage of the Constitutional Amendment would destroy the party.

In New Hampshire, where a Republican was elected last year by a majority of about twenty-five hundred, an election was held on the 9th inst.

There will be a grand Reunion of the Army of the Potomac at N. York on July 6th.

Editorial and Other Items.

—Camp Hamilton, near Hampton, Virginia, has been broken up.

—The Arkansas Senate passed the Constitutional Amendment by 19 to 3.

—A project is on foot in Canada for bridging or tunneling Detroit river.

—The steamships Herman, Erin and City of Baltimore have arrived from Europe.

—Bill Rynall, a well known English pugilist, died of typhoid fever in St. Louis, Saturday.

—John G. Baxter was nominated for Mayor by the City Democratic Convention at Louisville.

—Mrs. Lydia Beecher, mother of Henry Ward Beecher, died in Brooklyn, Saturday morning, aged eighty.

—The rumor that Thomas H. Foulds will succeed Col. W. Thomas as Postmaster at Cincinnati creates much excitement.

—Hon. James Guthrie, late United States Senator from Kentucky, died at his residence in Louisville, Saturday morning.

—The buildings Nos. 66 and 68 Lake street, Chicago, were damaged by fire and water Saturday evening to the extent of $25,000.

—The peach buds in Somerset county, New Jersey, were killed by the cold snap last week, and the crop is likely to prove a failure.

—W. S. Groesbeck, of Ohio, will lecture before the Alpha-Delta-Psi Fraternity at Yale College, at New Haven, on the 13th of May.

—Petitions are to be circulated in Missouri, asking the Legislature to submit an amendment to the constitution striking out the word "male."

—It is said the Fifteenth Amendment will pass both houses of the Georgia Legislature this week, by the votes of Democrats and conservative Republicans.

—Dr. Gilmer, Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Virginia, is out in a card bating the nomination of Gov. Wells and others in the Petersburg Convention.

—An English judge, Baron Alderson, on being asked to consider a case on the principle of "two his spin mon, and twenty minutes, with a leaning to the side of mercy."

—A Fashionable Fifth avenue church in New York city employs four sextons, and with the support of other donations, the getting of religion in that "house of God" is very expensive.

—Of three applicants for the post-office at Dubuque, one claims it because his wife is a cousin of Grant; another says he can "go him two inches better," and the third wants it because he is a tanner.

—Wm. Protun, a reputable farmer residing near Brighton, Madison county, Illinois, shot himself through the head with a revolver on Saturday, killing himself instantly.

—A meeting of citizens of Nashville, irrespective of party or color, was held Saturday evening, to endorse President Grant's inaugural, Henry S. Foote made a speech, expressing confidence in the new administration.

—Dr. G. W. Darden, who killed Chas. Wallace, editor of the Clipper, was taken from jail at Warrenton, Georgia, Friday night, by a party of disguised men, who took him some distance from town, where they shot and killed him.

—Punch makes very bad puns and riddles occasionally. Here is one: Which is the wickedest portion of America? Why Sin-sin-naughty, to be sure.

—Evidently Punch has forgotten the existence of Chicago.

—A gentleman who recently visited Lanesboro, Minnesota, says that there was not a single house in the place last July. Now a thirty-five thousand dollar hotel is being built, the public school numbers ninety five scholars, and the lowest figure for a business lot is one thousand dollars.

—Wm. Graham, a native of Cincinnati, and lately an able seaman on board the American bark John Bright was before United States Commissioner Hallett, at Boston, on Saturday, on a charge of murdering Thomas Benson, third mate of the same vessel, on the high seas on the 6th February last.

—The Cashier of the First National Bank of Rockford, Illinois, is reported to have absconded with the funds of the depositors. The bank will probably fail. The people of Rockford and vicinity are much excited by this unexpected development. The cashier has hitherto been regarded as an honorable man.

—Wisconsin asks for the repeal of the law by which murderers are exempt in that State from capital punishment. The State has tried the imprisonment for life idea, has found it wanting, and has come to the conclusion that the only way to deal with murderers is to enforce in all cases where guilt is proved the death penalty.

—Judge Russell, of the Superior Court of North Carolina, has issued a proclamation commanding six members of the Ku Klux Klan to surrender themselves to the Sheriff of Robeson county, or any other lawful officer of the State; and authorizing any citizen of the State to capture and bring to justice these outlaws, and in case of a fight or resistance after being called on to surrender, to slay them without accusation or impeachment of any crime.

Our Western Letter.

My DEAR REPUBLICAN:—This Chicago town is a great place for sensations, and for doing "big things."

—Everything done is on a grand scale: Real estate sales, buildings, speculations, preaching and theatricals, are decidedly on the magnificent.

—When persons marry, they do it hugely; they marry all over, and when they are tired of it they get divorced with a rush.

—The more publicity a Chicago divorce case attains, the better the parties like it, as a general thing. We have a few women who are married and divorced annually, and in each case it is done with a grand flourish of trumpets.

—Chicago women are gotten up on a grand scale—with zebraian bend, pannier, high-heeled boots, artificial calves, palpatitors, plumpers, switches, chignons and the like. They are certainly fearfully and wonderfully made; though some are fair to look upon. I don't approve of the palpatitors and false calves. They are not only unnatural, but are so discouraging to a fellow.

—Some of the young men of this morning are gotten up regardless of expense. This is not surprising, for there is in Bellefonte this is the case. Even here, however, less of the fop element than than any city I ever saw. Most men here are real.

—Among the numerous other big things, we very frequently have enormous fires. Only two nights ago we had a $75,000 fire which resulted in the death of four of our devoted firemen. The brave fellows mounted the roof of a five story building which was in flames. The roof gave way and four of them were swallowed up in the flames. A fifth sprang off, and in his descent caught the telegraph wire with his hands. With his hands and teeth he held on until relief came. The four who went down were taken out black, charred and dead. Two of the unfortunates had served with honor during the war. They passed through the terrible ordeal of battle unscathed—through Chancellorsville, Antietam and Vicksburg, and returned and became the victims of the fire-flood. Each of them held, as do all Chicago's firemen, a $2,000 life insurance policy presented them by the citizens. I doubt very much if any city in America has such a fire department as Chicago has. Every part of the city is connected by a fire alarm telegraph, the observatory on the Court House, where an operator is over on the watch to receive dispatches and transmit them to the different engine houses. By the time the public alarm is sounded the steamers from all directions are thundering along the streets to the scene of the fire. Oh, how the firemen work, and how thoroughly every man knows his place and business. No excitement, no useless running to and fro, but work, work, until the fire is extinguished. When life is at stake how nobly these men exert themselves, and risk life and limb to save it. The instances are not few where Chicago firemen have perished in their heroic attempts to save life and property. And this is why our citizens insure the lives of the firemen by voluntary subscription.

—And these steam fire engines, what beauties they are, and how effective. Without them Chicago would be ablaze all the time. Fire after fire breaks out, but the fewest numbers succeed, because of the effectiveness of our engines and the energy of our fire department. I hope Bellefonte has an engine or two of this description. Surely the property owners are not so blind as to be without one at least. I remember the days of the old bucket brigade of Bellefonte; but I hope its days are numbered. One steam fire engine with the requisite number of men would accomplish more than all the men and women in the town in line, with all the old milk and swill pails they could scure up. A big fire will occur in Bellefonte some day which will destroy enough property to pay for twenty engines. Then your stocking leg capitalists will look in vain for their hidden treasures, for stocking legs will burn and so will greenbacks. Get down your old shot bags, and pour out your old-time silver which has lain their for years.—Hunt up your boxes, open any, give your sons, if you have any, and give enough of your hoardings to purchase at least what will protect the balance of your money from destruction by fire. Do this much at least, if you never put a penny into circulation or contribute a dollar to the improvement of your town. Oh! beautiful town, what a pity you are afflicted with the presence of men whose fists remain forever clenched and unopened in the matter of public improvement. Oh, silver, beautiful, powerful spring crowd—how blind the policy which allows your waters to pass by untrammelled, almost unheeded, to the bosom of old Baldy, when they might be made to turn ten thousand spindles.

—But, as the fat contributor says, "to return back to my subject."—Among the things which Chicago is doing big at this time, is the velocipede. Velocipedestrianism is well sensation now. This section is well calculated for this kind of horse, for here the land lies on its side instead of standing on its edge as it does in Pennsylvania. Of course we have not so much land to the acre as it is stood on edge; but it is better for velocipedes, for although this animal runs down hill quite easily, it is somewhat balky when you undertake to ride it up hill. It is decidedly "up hill business." A man has about all the business he wants, to ride one on the level ground, and you may properly charge the rider with being a "busy body."

—The velocipede is an excellent means of developing the muscles. I have seen persons develop the muscles of the head and face in one attempt to ride. You can also reduce the flesh on your body if you desire to bring yourself down to your fighting weight. I saw a man reduce his flesh considerably the other day by coming in contact with a picket fence. He objects to going on picket again. I like to see young ladies on velocipede-back. Women, you know, are more glib than men, and I think this the best possible means of showing their agility! Oh, how I would love to embrace some of the velocipedes I have seen. You have doubtless heard of the poetry of motion. Get a nice female girl on a prancing steed of this description, and "poetry of motion" don't express it. A lady rides on one side of an ordinary horse; but on the velocipede everybody is compelled to ride on both sides. In fact I have seen new beginners ride all over a velocipede, and over considerable ground besides. One lady, whose husband is learning to ride, wants to know what remedy to apply to give him rest at night. She says he takes a position on his back, and keeps up the motions of a velocipedist all night. It is generally necessary to break an ordinary horse, before using; but this is unnecessary with the velocipede. In fact, they are more useful, when not broken at all.

—The "coming woman" still holds her place among the sensations of the day in Chicago. An amusing conversation was overheard the other day, as follows: "Sam, did—did yer (hic) see any thing of my wife?" "I have not," "the honor of knowing your wife, sir."

—"Don't apologize, Sam; don't apologize—logize. I—I is no honor, whatever. D'yd yer see her?" "I did not."

—"How yer know yer didn't? She's as tall as a lamp-post, and she wears a gingham nubbler, and one eye out, and her nose (hic) is done up in specs. Didn't yer see her?" "No, sir," emphatically.

—"That's all right, Sam; that's all right; merely say fimerasherum. She (hic) says she was going to join the sor-orysters, and if she does, I mean to get blind stavin' drunk.—Wouldn't you?"

I confess, Mr. REPUBLICAN, that I am disappointed in not being invited to a seat in Mister Grant's Cabinet.

—He said, some time ago, that those appointed, would be persons least expecting it. This was the rock on which I built my hopes; but I suppose there are plenty other prominent men, like me, disappointed, and possibly some of them are Pennsylvanians, too. Well, well, we can't all be cabinetets, and I presume we will have to be content. Your own EM QUAD.

—Mr. Stewart Declines.

The following is the letter of Mr. STEWART to President Grant declining the Treasury Appointment:

WASHINGTON, March 9, 1869.

To the President, Dear Sir:—Appreciating the high honor conferred by your nomination and the unanimous confirmation by the Senate of myself to the office of Secretary of the treasury, I regret that circumstances beyond my control have induced me to decline.

—The difficulties presented by the provisions of the act of 1879, which, in organizing the department of the treasury, prohibits the secretary from being directly or indirectly connected or interested in carrying on the business or trade of commerce, have become by any reasonable sacrifice to myself, I would willingly make it. I would transfer to gentlemen in whom the public have full confidence every interest in the gains and profits that could possibly accrue to myself in the business of my house during my official term to be applied to such public charities as their judgment should dictate, and have proposed and sought by the execution of appropriate instruments to accomplish that end. But serious differences of opinion have been expressed as to whether that course would be wise, and I have been obliged to make this sacrifice to the public interest, and although I will not hesitate to make this appropriation, provided it would enable me to accept the office and thus unite my efforts with your own and other members of your cabinet in restoring to our country the strict frugality in the administration of the government, and lifting as rapidly as practicable from the people the great burdens of taxation, debt and extravagance resting upon them, the business relations of my firm, and its connection with others largely interested in their continuance, are such that they cannot be severed summarily, nor can my interest in it be wholly and absolutely disposed of without producing great embarrassment and loss to those with whom I have been connected. I cannot consent to enter upon the administration of laws by any act or course that can be construed into a disregard or violation of the law, and while, therefore, I regret that the plan proposed is deemed inadequate to relieve me from a legal, and as it seems to me, technical disability, I yield to the better judgment of others rather than seem to be willing to accept a position in disregard of law. In finally renewing the declaration which was tendered at the outset of these objections, I repeat to you, Mr. President, my thanks for the honor done me in offering this high position, and assure you that you will have my earnest efforts to sustain your administration in carrying out its wise and salutary measures indicated by you on entering upon your office.

Sincerely your friend, ALEXANDER T. STEWART.

Whatever may be the opinions entertained by people in regard to the propriety of the appointment of Mr. STEWART, honest men everywhere will think more highly of him for his noble letter. He has shown a spirit worthy of his honorable reputation, and fully justifying the sagacity of the President in selecting him for the responsible duties of Secretary of the Treasury.
