

ADJOURNED.—Congress adjourned on Saturday the 10th inst and the President issued a Proclamation Calling an extra Session of the Senate.

Glorious News from Connecticut.

In Connecticut, on the 5th inst., the Republican party gained a most glorious victory. In spite of the frauds and hereafter efforts put forth by the rebel Democracy, JEWELL, the Republican candidate for Governor, and the whole State ticket were elected by majorities ranging from 500 to 1000. The Republicans gained two members of Congress, DIXON, the Johnsonian renegade, having been defeated. Truly, it may be said, Connecticut gathered up her Jewels on the 5th inst. The State Legislature is Republican by a large majority, thus securing the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment by that State. This was the issue presented in the contest. The Democrats cast their all upon this, entered the fight, and were most gloriously whipped. Last spring when the Democrats carried the State by over 3,000 majority. The last prop had been knocked from under them. Whipped in Connecticut, the land of steady habits, and that, too, upon the question of negro suffrage! Heart sick, chagrined, and disgraced, where will this rebel, traitor, tory crew turn up next? Is there no hope, no rest for "such" as these? Echo answers no rest for "such thieves!" With the mark of Cain upon his brow, this rebel horde, constituting the Democratic organization, is being driven from every State, and from Christian society—from the society of the patriotic, enlightened and honored men of the land. They sought to destroy the life of the Nation. In the darkest hour of her heart, when even the Christian's heart sank within him, and who, for the time, almost forgot the promise of God Almighty, that "in evening-time there shall be light," these shamed Democratic rebel scoundrels were found fighting against the Constitution of our fathers, against the Government, against human liberty and civilization, aye, fighting against the great God himself. For it has been beautifully said that the surrender of LEE and his rebel armies was not so much a victory to GRANT and the Nation, as it was to JESUS CHRIST and his equalizing, ennobling and blessed Gospel.

The Republican party is the instrument under God, that saved the Government, and to it he has consigned the work of reconstruction, and the perpetuation of our liberties. Let the rebel horde wince, let copperheads and the friends of slavery and a monarchial Government gnash their teeth and write bitter things against the friends of human liberty and the Republican party, they can accomplish nothing.—The great God is with us, and around and about us like a wall of fire, and all the enemies of the Republic, in earth or hell, cannot prevail against us. All hail, Connecticut!

GOVERNORIAL.—In another column will be found a communication recommending Gen. HARTRAMP, now Auditor General of the State, as a candidate for Governor. This, we think, is right. We are pleased to know that the people are beginning to move in the matter. While we have no particular objections to Gen. GEARY's re-nomination, and while we pledge him our most hearty support if nominated, nevertheless we think that the way to secure harmony, and an Appomattox victory in October next, is by a thorough ventilating and canvassing of the merits of the different aspirants before the meeting of the Republican Convention.

What we want is the nomination of the strongest and best man we have in the organization, without regard to claims, cliques or factions. The way to ascertain who is the most able and competent man to lead our great party to victory in the coming contest, is by a full and fair discussion of the merits and demerits of the different aspirants. We are pleased to hear from our "Benner" correspondent. Our columns are open to others who may desire to be heard on this subject. The people should speak out, and now is the appropriate time. The REPUBLICAN affords you a good medium through which to speak. It is, most emphatically, the people's organ, and not the organ of any Clique, Faction or Ring.

Rhode Island follows Connecticut! In the election a year ago her Republican majority was 4,300. In 1867 it was 4,194. Now, in spite of the general apathy of the year following a Presidential election, and with a vote only about one-half as heavy as last fall, we have carried the State by 4,808. Well done, Little Rhode! And now let us all keep silence, while the Democrats reckon up their gains, and point to the great re-action against Grant's Administration!

SINCE the new jail has proved a failure, the taxpayers are anxious to know who is to blame for this useless expenditure of three money, the Contractors or the Democratic Commissioners. Will the Watchman explain?

The "Watchman" Sighs for a Monarchy!!

The Watchman, last week, contains an editorial entitled the "Three Wonders," in which the Editor betrays the object and aims of the treasonable organization to which he belongs. After pouring out the vitals of his wrath upon the "infidel, fanatical, revolutionary Yankees of New England," and after having exhausted the whole catalogue of billingsgate upon the "wretched, miserable, bloody-minded despots—the whole herd of Radical swine," he breaks forth in the most piteous strains, and sighs for a monarchy.—"He sighs at the sight." What a pity it is that the sickness of the poor, miserable ignoramus, and incorrigible fool, is not unto death. We dislike hard names. They are not genteel.—They convince no one. They can never supply the place of argument, of rhetoric or logic. But we have got tired listening to the epithets and low, vulgar, foolish and contemptible appeals of these worse than idiotic Editors who assume to speak through the columns of the Watchman for the Democratic party of this country. If such trash, such empty, low-bred, reasonable, damnable, tory trash suits its ends, then are they all fellows well met, and anything we may say, or any action we may give, would be worse than wasted. We shall, therefore, obey the injunction of SOLOMON, and "Answer not a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own conceit." "The legs of the lame are not equal, so is a parable in the mouth of fools." "A whip for the horse, a bridle for the ass and a rod for the fool's back." "Every prudent man dealth with knowledge; but a fool layeth open his folly."

These Editors demonstrate their foolishness by sighing "for such a tyrant as CROMWELL," "for a tyrannical Congress having some of the power of the Barboune parliament," "for a despotism which would crush the iron grasp of CHARLES V., or a PHILIP.—Yes; these tory, rebel scoundrels want a monarchy! We have always believed this. Their advocacy of free trade, their sympathy with the rebels during the war, and their vulgar abuse of patriotic men since the war abundantly prove it.

Gen. GRANT, who, by the blessing of God, and the strong arms of the "boys in blue," saved the life of the Nation, and who now fills the highest position in the gift of American freemen, is spoken of by these miserable, uneducated tools of an organization, cursed of God, and despised by all decent men, in the following language, to wit:—"A whiskey-soaking, cigar-sucking blundering, puffing, blubbering, weak-kneed, weak-headed imbecile."

Speaking of the brave Generals BUTLER, SCHENCK, GEARY, LOGAN and BURNSIDE, who sacrificed the comforts of home, and bared their breasts to the storms of leaden hail, poured in upon them by the most damnable of traitors, GEN. LEE, and his wicked and ignorant, though it may be mis-guided followers, they have no praise for these.

"They are cowardly, murderous, wretches, all of them." The Union Generals are stigmatized as murderous because they "murdered" some of the rebel Democrats of the South, rather than permit them to destroy the Government.

Speaking of the leaders of the Democratic party he says:—"Look at our strength! Our WOODWARDS, our VALLANDIGHAM, our SEYMOURS, our PENDLETONS, our DOOLITTLE, our HENDRICKS, &c., &c. Among our military men we find enrolled the names of LEE, HANCOCK, ROSSER, HILL, BUEL, JOHNSON, McCandless, McClelland &c. (the &c., means the rest of the Rebel officers.)"

Why do the Editors of the Watchman name the Rebel Gen. LEE, &c., first? Do our readers, or the honest portion of the Democratic party want any further proof of the damnable and treasonable proclivities of these blathering, fool-hardy, contemptible tory "wretches." How many loyal hearts will ask in the name of God what has HANCOCK done that he should be placed side by side with LEE? What has he done to merit the forgiveness of the Watchman, for the part he took in the "Abolition war" the "unholy crusade" against "our Southern brethren?"

Will the intelligent and honest portion of our Democratic party never open their eyes to the light? Will they go on for ever acting with the Rebels and those who sympathize with them all through the Rebellion? If you can continue to do this, then you can honor the TORRES, the BENEDETTI, the ANOLDs of the Revolutionary war. You can applaud JUDAS ISCARIOT who betrayed his best friend with a kiss, and sold the world's REDEEMER for thirty pieces of silver.

FOR THE REPUBLICAN.

Messrs. EDITORS:—Your article urging a timely consideration of the subject of the gubernatorial nomination, and weighing the claims of the present Executive will, no doubt, be acceptable to many. But there are others who would estimate differently the merits of Gen. Geary. However, it is but just to him to say that he brings to the public work a sincere purpose for good, an earnest employment of all his faculties, and that with wise and prudent advisers the affairs of the State would be well administered in his hands.

And if all the petty cliques and bitter feelings which must arise in a great party by the attention of various interests through a term of years can be harmonized by the re-nomination of Gen. Geary, and the party be enabled to meet, the grave issues of the coming contest with its whole force unimpeded by dissensions, then, we say, let him be our nominee, and let us unite heartily in his support.

But, on the other hand, if it is the strength of the Republican party can not be rallied for Gov. Geary, and the great interests of the country must suffer from devotion to party rules and usages, let us look about for a standard-bearer, stronger in the confidence of the people, some one known, honored and above reproach. Tho' the hills and valleys of Pennsylvania hold many such, yet to none can precedence be given over our present Auditor General. With a nature exhibiting the rare union of high intellectual powers, with executive abilities—the man of thought, and the man of action, with a patriotism tried and proven by the grand ordeal of the battle-field, Gen. Hartranf acted in the varied positions of his public life to the complete satisfaction of the people, and twice has their appreciation of his services been confirmed by overwhelming majorities in his favor.

With such a man to marshal the forces of the Republican party, all the dissensions would melt away, warmth and enthusiasm would fill our ranks, and the contest of the coming autumn would be the grandest victory of our party triumphs, and our beloved Old Commonwealth would have, at its head, a man not to be moved to wrong by the clamor of factions, the pressure of monopolized interests or the fawning of parasites. BENNER.

YESTERDAY the gallows was called upon to vindicate outraged law and repeat its impressive lessons to society. George S. Twitchell, Jr., and Gerald Eaton were tried for murder, and found guilty by a jury of their countrymen. The former served a helpless woman, secretly, in her own house. The latter killed a fellow-citizen upon the public streets of the city. Twitchell quaked before his doom, and added murder of self to that of his mother-in-law. He preferred cowardice and the ignominy of suicide to the ignominy of the scaffold. Eaton met the fate the law provided for him. Which will fare best before the Judgment seat? And now that the law has been both vindicated and cheated, society should thunder wholesale condemnations against the prison discipline, or the violation thereof, which allows promiscuous intercourse of the public with prisoners condemned to death. The sympathy they need is that of retirement and freedom from the public gaze; and if we understand it, this exemption is in accordance with the spirit of the verdict. Why allow men to be tortured to death by the curious? Why force the pangs of hell upon convicts ere their hour has come? Had Twitchell been left alone his hands would have been clean of his second murder.

Again, over lover of peace and good order should thank the authorities for providing an example to those who, in utter disregard of their surroundings, and in blind obedience to bullying and depraved natures, in dulge in indiscriminate assaults upon the public. We know not how many, but very many murders were committed last fall which were without extenuating circumstances, save that whisky was in, passion was on, or the crowd was too great for successful identification. The coward who thrusts or shoots under such circumstances should be taught that partisan friends are not mightier than the law, and that this kind of assassination is the worst type of murder. We hope the example provided will have the result intended, else will Baton also have cheated the law of its motives.—Press, April 9th.

AFTER all "Yankees" sometimes do some things not so bad. Not to speak of New England civilization in particular, the little city of New Bedford has a free library, the product of public tax mainly, numbering 21,000 volumes, which is increasing at the rate of about 1000 annually. The city appropriates every year $2,500 for its support, and there are funds which yield $200 more. It is kept open every day, except Sundays and holidays, for about nine hours a day, and of its books upwards of 34,000 volumes are taken out all in the course of a year. We know of a city with five times the population of New Bedford where "Yankees" is a term of reproach that has no free library at all, and scarcely a library of any kind; and where the citizens so far from taxing themselves for such a purpose seem to think that money thus bestowed, or in any manner bestowed for libraries, is about as bad as thrown away. And here it is that the "Yankees" differ from those who think it is something smart to speak of them disparagingly.

Our Washington Letter. WASHINGTON, D. C. April 9th '69. DEAR REPUBLICAN:—According to all appearances, the adjournment of Congress, which is fixed for to-morrow, will have considerable general business unfinished, aside from the large number of Offices, for which, as yet, no nominations have been made. No opinions are hazarded as to the probabilities of an extra session of the Senate being called by the President, although there is a remarkable unanimity of feeling among the expectants, whose turns have not yet come that if an extra session is not called, somebody will have failed in his duty, which, among those holding over there is a general belief that an extra session was never as little needed as at present.

Message from the President.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The following message of the President was received by Congress at 4 o'clock this afternoon:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: While I am aware that the time in which Congress proposes now to remain in session is very brief, and that it is the desire, as far as is consistent with the public interest, to avoid entering upon the general business of legislation, there is one subject which concerns so deeply the welfare of the country that I deem it my duty to bring it before you. I have no doubt that you will concur with me in the opinion that it is desirable to restore the States which were engaged in the rebellion to their proper relations to the government and the people of those States shall be found willing to become peaceful and obedient communities and adopt and maintain such constitutions and laws as will effectually secure the civil and political rights of all persons within their borders.

The authority of the United States, which has been vindicated and established by its military power, must undoubtedly be asserted for the absolute protection of all the citizens in the full enjoyment of their freedom and security, which is the object of a republican government. But whenever the people of a rebellious State are ready to enter in good faith upon the accomplishment of this object, in entire conformity with the constitutional authority of Congress, it is certainly desirable that all causes of irritation be removed as promptly as possible, that a more perfect union may be established, and the country be restored to peace and prosperity.

The convention of the people of Virginia, which met in Richmond on Tuesday, December 3, 1867, framed a constitution for that State, which was adopted by the convention on the 17th day of April, 1868; and I desire respectfully to call the attention of Congress to the propriety of providing by law for the holding of an election in that State at the same time during the months of May and June next, under the direction of the military commander of the district, at which the question of the adoption of that constitution shall be submitted to the citizens of the State, and if this should seem undesirable I would recommend a separate vote be taken upon such parts as may be thought desirable, and at the same time and under the same authority there shall be an election for the officers provided under such constitution, and that the constitution, or such parts thereof as shall have been adopted by the people, be submitted to Congress on the first Monday following next for its consideration, so that if the same is approved the necessary steps will then have been taken for the restoration of the State of Virginia to its proper relations to the Union. I am led to make this recommendation from the belief that the people of that State are now ready to co-operate with the national Government in bringing it again to such relations to the Union as it ought to enjoy, as soon as possible to establish and maintain, to give all its people those equal rights under the laws which were asserted in the declaration of independence, in the words of one of the most illustrious of its sons. I desire also to ask the consideration of Congress to the question whether that the constitution formed by a convention of the people of Mississippi for that State, and once rejected, might not be again submitted to the people of that State in like manner, and with the probability of the same result.

U. S. GRANT. WASHINGTON, April 7, 1869.

SECRETARY Boutwell is going to "top off" all worthless and inefficient officers and clerks." Economy, in this case, like charity in all, should begin at home. Let Mr. Boutwell ask the heads of bureaus in the Treasury department to report immediately the name of every clerk who can be spared without injury to the service, and let him remove at once every such person, and he will, we can assure him, accomplish a very pretty piece of economy, besides causing a tremendous commotion among Congressmen and other people of influence.
