WEDNESDAY MORNING Sept. 22, '69

From the American Agriculturalist.

A Word to Farmers About Selling Their Produce.

Farmers are often blamed for not selling their produce as soon as it is ready for market. And it must be confessed that those who do so, taking one year with another, do quite as well, all things considered, as those who hold on in hopes of getting higher prices. They obtain their money soon after harvest, and are enabled to use it to advantage. Dealers in grain can obtain money more easily than farmers, and can consequently hold the grain longer.

While, therefore, we think farmers often do better byselling early, there is still room for judgment. One reason why it is usually best to sell early is, that most farmers are disposed to hold on to their grain as long as possible, and when the time comes that they must sell, there are more sellers than buyers, and the price declines.

It is a curious fact that the people generally are more inclined to sell when prices are low than when they are high. When wool was 80 cents a lb, it was more difficulty to induce farmers to sell than when it was 40 cents per lb. Last fall, with red wheat at $2,25 in the interior of Michigan, farmers hesitated longer in making up their minds to let their crops go than last summer when they were offered $1,25 for the same wheat.—It is a good rule to sell when you can get a price that will afford a good living profit. Farmers, at the present time, would have been richer by millions of dollars than they now are had they adopted this rule last summer. We know of a great many who sold wheat this summer for one dollar a bushel less than they refused for it last fall. The whole nation sufferep greatly by this indisposition to sell when a good price could be obtained. We might have shipped all our surplus wheat to England at a fair price, but holding on we lost the opportunity, and finally sold at a price below the cost of production. We should take the lesson to heart.

On the other hand when prices are low, we should not be in a hurry to sell. Sound wheat is an article that will keep and it is an article that is always required, and it is absolutely certain that it cannot long remain at a price much below the actual cost of production. We cannot hold out hopes to such farmers as grow only ten or twelve bushels of wheat to the acre, that they will obtain prices sufficient to compensate them for their labor. The country must be in a very unsatisfactory condition when such is the case; but we do firmly believe that there is no reason to doubt that a farmer who raises good crops is safe in calculating that sooner or later he will be able to obtain such a price for his wheat as will enable him to make fair profit.

There is one fact in this connection that should not be overlooked. In a cool, wet, late season in England the wheat crop is always below the average. And they have had such a season the present year. On the other hand, it is very doubtful if the wheat crop of the United States is as large as was anticipated. We feel tolerably certain that before another harvest, wheat will bring a price sufficiently high to afford the wheat grower a good living profit. He should be satisfied with this. He should be in no hurry to take less.

The question arises: What price should we obtain for wheat, to afford us a fair profit? At the present price of implements, machines, and other necessary articles, not forgetting labor and taxes, we shall not obtain extravagant profits if we sell good sound red or amber winter wheat—say in Michigan—for $1,50 per bushel. A farmer who raises anything less than twenty bushels per acre will not get very rich, even if he obtains, in out present currency, $1,75 for red wheat, and $2,00 for choice white, wheat. When we can get these figures in ordinary seasons, it is not safe to hold on too long; but when, immediately after harvest, the price is much below these figures, those who can afford to hold wheat run very little risk of loss in doing so.

GREASE YOUR WHEELS.—Some persons may not be aware," says Hiover in his work, Bipeds and Quadrupeds, "that the trifling neglect of a pair of wheels being comparatively dry or well greased will cause twenty miles to take far more work out of a horse than forty would in the latter case; yet wheels absolutely screaming from dryness are often seen and heard attached to carts and wagons; and thus would the brute in human form let them scream till he had finished his journey's end or his day's work, though his horse were drawing, from such cause, at least one ton more than if the defect were attended to."

DON'T keep a calf tied or shut up in some damp, dark corner, with hardly room enough to lie down. He needs the sunshine as much as hens, or the plants in the garden.

IF your flat irons are rough rub them with fine salt and it will make them perfectly smooth.

Woollen clothes should be washed in cold suds and not rinsed.

A bit of glue dissolved in skim milk will restore crape.

"GRANDFATHERS' STOVE."
Our grandfather's stove, what a funny old thing,
So deep, so wide and so tall:
Now the people would say, who are stylish and gay,
"It was only a hole in the wall."

It matters not what, it was pleasant to see
When night's mantle was flung over all;
Grandfather take down his good book and read
By the light from the hole in the wall.

As the sturdy young men rolled in the great logs,
They would laugh at each wintry squall,
Whilst grandma would sit on her old chair and knit
By the light from the whole in the wall.

The girls then wore home spun, and so did their beaux's,
For pride was a principle small;
And courting was done and hearts have been won
By the light from the hole in the wall.

The neighbors were friendly wherever they'd meet,
With a word of true kindness for all;
And joy was complete to hear voices so sweet
Ring round that old hole in the wall.

In those days we know, folks cared not for show,
Of improvements knew nothing at all;
But 'twas really no joke, when great clouds of smoke
Rushed out from the hole in the wall.

But those days are now o'er, we shall know them no more,
And all those old fashions have flown;
Whilst the solemn and gay are coming each day
To purchase the famous "OLD HOME."

Coming not only in couples, but in scores, as hundreds of good and wise men and women have done before, to look upon this magnificent stove, which is acknowledged to be the best cooking stove of the age. Remember the place,

MEDAL AWARDED AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.

In directing attention to the celebrated COMBINATION BUTTON HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE, we feel fully warranted in claiming for it unquestionable superiority over all others as a Family Machine.—The Simplicity, Ease and Certainty with which it operates, as well as the uniform excellence of its work, certainly place it far in advance of any other similar invention of the age.

This is far beyond the capacity of any other machine.
The SPLENDID MECHANISM of this Machine, and the superior skill workmanship and materials employed in its construction, are a guarantee of accuracy, strength and durability, and enable the company and its agents to Warrant Every Machine they sell to give entire satisfaction.
