It is our disposition to get along smoothly with our neighbors and all about selling out the Bellefonte REPUB-LICAN, to the Proprietors of the National, consequently the REPUBLICAN would be merged in that paper in a heavy frost on the 12th inst. few weeks. The Editors of this paper proposed to buy the National office last August, but for some reason it was sold to Mr. Gould and not to us. Of course the man who owned that paper had a right to dispose of it to whom they pleased and upon such terms as they might deem proper. To their action we never objected. Nor do we yet feel disposed to meddle with them in any particular. But we do protest against agents, or supposed agents, or "any other man," circulating stories to injure our business or our paper.

We commenced the publication of the REPUBLICAN, January, 6th, 1869, we have, therefore, been in existence but ten wonths. In that short space of time, we do not say it boastingly, we have added to our list of bona fide subscribers, nearly sixteen hundred names. From this fact alone, we infer that it suits the people. We feel proud of the support we have received from the people. We have faith to believe that the good and staunch Republicans of Centre county will continue to pawe continue to print and supply them in the State.

Trouble Among the Snakes.

The October frosts always prove too nuch for the reptile species. They cling to life with the most rigid tenacity, but nevertheless they are so constituted as not to endure the biting autumnal frosts, and to but half live while they do live, and only to live half the time even at that. We presume it is a punishment inflicted upon them for the part they took in the garden of Eden, in their base betrayal of the early inhabitants of that delightful place. They have been snakey ever since. Have always opposed progress, justice and liberty, and shunned the

To Workingmen.

Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away, and the result in Pennsylvania Ohio and Iowa, fully known. it may be well to inquire into the causes which lead to such glorious Republican triumphs, and the constant humiliating defeats of the so-called Democracy. The campaign for 1869 has closed, but the great contest between freedom and slavery is not yet ended. Much has been gained by the workingmen of the country through the Republican party. They have much more to gain:

The Toledo Blade, in speaking on his subject, says: "The men who depend on the labor of their hands or brains to maintain the poisono us species. Letter From Utah. GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH)

TERRITORY, Sept. 10th, 1869. EDS. REPUBLICAN:—For the past fourteen days your correspondent has been wandering through the land of Mormondom, wherein dwell a nation of people debased of virtue, character, morality and conscience; a nation of licentious brutes and harlots, where the rising generation is one of bastards. and whose religion is the endowment, blood atonement, Enoch and Adam worship-with Brigham Young as their mediator and co-equal with the Lord. Presuming that a majority of your readers have read enough of Brigham Young and his Great Salt Lake City, we will devote our time to a description of Southern Utah and the Josephite Mormons.

When Brigham Young was proclaimed as President or successor to Joseph Smith, the followers of the last seceded, refusing to pay tithing, or to countenance polygamy. This course of the Josphites led to their banishment from Salt Lake; the massacre of one-third of them at Mountain Meadows, and Perry ...

finally to their exile from Utah. Three hundred miles south of Salt Lake the Josephites formed their settlements in Red Lake region, among the little vallies bordering the Great Sevier River. Here, fondly believing Susquenanna... their hardships and persecutions at an Union end, they built beautiful villages, and their orchards, vincyards and green fields began to dot the landscape, before so dreary and barren; but Brigham's wrath followed them, and his Indian emissaries found but little trouble in driving them over the boun daries of Utah, as most of them were dames who hardly knew how to load a gun, and in many contests were routed by one-tenth their number. As we wandered through their silent villages and noted the well made houses, long avenues lined with fruit-bearing shade trees, and brimed on the sides with clear rippling brooks, a feeling akin to awe pervaded, us and these silent streets filled with high grown weeds, of a people fallen by a deadly pestilence. instead of the "seed of Joseph" fleeing before their brethren the "Lamanites." From Montana via Idaho to Utah, our ride was through a country abounding in a diversity of scenery beautiful governing scepter into the hands of and picturesque enough to awaken the enthusiasm of the most exacting tourist, the grandest and most notable of which are the canyon and River of Portnoeuf. At the head of Portnoeuf canyon, we ascended a mound four hundred feet in heigth and a scene of wonderful beauty and grandeur lay below. We counted seven mounds apparently differing none from the one upon which we stood, the river separated above each, making minature island promontories of them, and after tumbling over even level rocks its waters united again, giving a continuation in fifteen miles of eight mounds and sixteen cascades, whose rushing waters timed in a weird and wondrous melody. From thence South for several hundred miles the country presents the same appearance as portions North and eastward, described in our first letter, with the exception that the Al kali impregnates a succession of large hills so strongly that they are called "Soap Mountains," the clay for washing purposes making a very good substitute for soap. By the recent examinations of some mounds in Salt Lake Valley, a great many curious relics have been brought to light, consisting of arrow heads, of flint, rock crystal, obsidian (of volcanic origin), cornelian and agate, fragments of glazed and unglazed pottery in abundance, stone mortars for making flour, also stone knives and petrified bones ornamented by curious car THE Russian Army now numbers | vings. In other parts of the valley we were able to trace the outlines of a large fortress or entrenchment having four bustions at the corners. At another place are visible the channel of a canal and numberless reservoirs, the latter doubtless for irrigating their crops, and the canal to fill them from some river that has changed in course Collection promptly made and special attention given to those having lands or property for sale. The undersigned adopts this method of nforming his numerous friends and customers, that he has made arrangments to set tile up the old books, and commence in the new. For thirty years I have done busi-ness in Bellefonte. I have for the whole of that time been one of the most extensive grain dealers in the place. I have always taken especial pains to accommodate my customers. I have always sold as good and as cheap goods as any other mercantile house in town, and it is my intention to continue to do so, but have added the name of my son W. S. WAGNER to the firm.
