

BIGLER VINDICATED BY CAMERON.—In the Senate, on Wednesday, while the bill repealing the Fishing bounties was under consideration, Mr. Cameron took occasion to describe the Tariff views of his colleague, Bigler, as follows:

"I desire," said Mr. Cameron, "only to say a word in vindication of my colleague, and I think in justice to him and myself I should be permitted to say that word, for you know I do not often occupy much time in the Senate. It is that I am satisfied he is acting in accordance with his well known principles. He is, I believe, a free-trade man, if I can judge him from his acts. I remember that at the close of the last session the reduction of duty on our great staple, iron, was made, if not by his motion, at least by his vote. He agreed to it, and was perfectly satisfied with it. The result has been to break up every iron master in Pennsylvania who had not an immense fortune beyond his business in trade. Every man who was at all indebted in his business has been destroyed. The iron business of Pennsylvania, about which gentlemen speak here, is no longer an interest. No man, unless he has a fortune that he has inherited, or obtained from sources beyond his business, is capable of conducting a furnace for a day.

"It may be the policy of my colleague, and it may, perhaps, be a wise one, to break down all these interests, so that after a while we should stand upon a common level, when we shall be compelled again to return to that protective American policy which our fathers instituted, and which took care of the country. If we were to destroy the duty on salt now, as proposed by the Senator from Rhode Island, I believe after a little while the salt interest would help the iron interest; and if we take off the sugar duty from gentlemen down in Louisiana, I think after a while they will come to our ground; and if we should repeal the law returning fugitive slaves, all the gentlemen in the 'nigger' interest would soon help us to take care of our iron. So, if you run around these interests, and strike them down, when we are all so low down together that we cannot take care of ourselves, we shall begin to feel as members of the same great country ought to feel, each one willing to serve the other.

"I thought this statement was due to my colleague. I thought it was due to him, coming from my own State, that I should make this explanation."

SUICIDE OF "FRANK FORRESTER."—Henry William Herbert, author, better known as "Frank Forrester," committed suicide on Monday last, at the Stevens House, Broadway, New York, by shooting himself through the heart with a pistol. Domestic difficulties led to the commission of the rash act. The deceased was married about three months ago but, he had not been living with his wife more than six weeks when they quarrelled, and she separated from him. He suffered intense mental agony in consequence of the severe blow, and in his ravings often threatened to commit suicide. He carried the dreadful threat into execution and accomplished his purpose in a cool and premeditated manner. Herbert was the author of a number of historical works, which have gained for him considerable literary reputation both at home and abroad. His works on local sports, some eight in number, are the best of the kind published in this country. They show that he was a true sportsman, and understood thoroughly the habits of the game of America.

THE RIGHT OF SEARCH RESISTED.—The Officer of the British Steamer Buzzard Defied in his visit to the Clarendon at Sagua la Grande.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The barque John Howe arrived from Sagua la Grande, brings a report in relation to the attempt to enforce the right of search on board the ship Clarendon, Capt. Bartlett, bound to New York with a cargo of sugar. Capt. Bartlett refused to show his papers or hoist an ensign at the order of the British steamer Buzzard.

Several blank cartridges were fired from the steamer to intimidate the Captain, and then the commander of the Buzzard, with one hundred men, came alongside of the Clarendon in boats. Capt. Bartlett refused to let anybody on board but one officer, who, after an exciting scene, left the vessel without accomplishing his purpose. During the affair, Capt. Bartlett was struck by the British officer, but the latter denied any intention of so doing.

A revolutionary hero, named James McDonald, aged 113 years, passed through Bay on Friday last week, on foot, visiting his friends as he journeyed. He stopped at one of the hotels, and gave to several gentlemen there assembled a brief history of his life and exploits. He passed through the whole of the revolutionary war, and also served with Napoleon as a soldier, being present at the battles of Salamanca and Bajados. He has a son 84 years of age, and he himself, such is his vigorous appearance, would be taken for a man not more than sixty-five or seventy years of age.

A frightful accident occurred a few days since on the New York Central Railroad at Sauguet creek in Oneida county. A passenger and a freight train were passing on a bridge—the bridge gave way and several cars of both trains were precipitated into the creek. Several persons were instantly killed and 40 or 50 badly injured.

On the 15th a bridge on the Lafayette and Indianapolis Railroad, gave way as the night train from Cincinnati was passing over it, and the whole train was precipitated into the river. The engineer, fireman, and conductor were the only persons killed. Several were slightly injured.

OUTRAGE ON THE AMERICAN FLAG.—Boston, May 17.—The brig Ringold, arrived here, reports having been fired in with a musket by a British cruiser, soon after leaving Sierra Morena. The vessel was afterwards boarded and searched by an armed boat's crew.

Dr. ROBERT HARE, late Professor of Chemistry in the University of Pennsylvania, who has made himself conspicuous recently as a lecturer on Spiritualism, died in Philadelphia, on Saturday last, in the 78th year of his age.

Gen. Peter Skou Smith, formerly a resident of this State, and a prominent leader of the old Native American party, died in Springfield Mass., on the 6th inst.

DEATH OF THE MURDERER OF THE DAUGHTER OF AARON BURR.—A sailor recently died in Texas, and on his death-bed confessed that he was one of the crew who murdered Mrs. Alston of South Carolina, forty years ago. She sailed from Charleston, for New York, in a brig, and on the trip the crew murdered and murdered all the officers and passengers, Mrs. Alston being the last one to walk the plank. The sailor remembered her look of despair, and died in the greatest agony of mind. —Journal of Commerce.

STEAMER SUNK—TEN LIVES LOST.—The Nashville steamer, City of Huntsville, sunk on Wednesday night, the 12th inst., at Palmyra Island. She is a total loss. Ten lives were lost.

On Thursday night last a violent tornado blew a passenger train on the Chicago and Alton Railroad off the track, and several persons were severely injured.

It is said that hoops may be so constructed as to serve for tents, and in case of a shower, all that a lady will have to do will be to touch a spring, and in a moment she will find herself encased (like a snail) in a little house of her own.

Bedford, April 30, 1858.

DR. SANFORD'S INVIGORATOR, OR LIVER REMEDY.

THIS IS ONE OF THE GREATEST SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL DISCOVERIES OF THE AGE. It is a delicate working cure almost too great to believe. It cures as if by magic, even the first dose giving relief and seldom more than one bottle is required to cure any kind of Liver Complaint, from the worst Jaundice or Dyspepsia to a common head ache, all of which are the result of a Diseased Liver.

The Liver is one of the principal regulators of the human body, and when it performs its functions well, the powers of the system are fully developed. The stomach is almost entirely dependent on the healthy action of the Liver for the proper performance of its functions. When the stomach is at fault, the bowels are at fault, and the whole system suffers in consequence of one organ—the Liver—having ceased to do its duty. For the diseases of that organ, one of the proprietors has made it his study, in a practice of more than twenty years, to find some remedy wherewith to counteract the many derangements to which it is liable.

To prove that this remedy is at last found, any person troubled with Liver Complaint in any form, has but to try a bottle, and conviction is certain.

A compound has been formed by dissolving gums and extracting that part which is soluble for the active virtues of the medicine, and the result is almost morbid or bid matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach causing food to digest well, and thus restoring the system to its natural state, and effecting a radical cure without any of the disagreeable after effects, felt by using Calomel or Mineral poison, that are usually resorted to.

To all who will follow these directions a cure is positively guaranteed. Sick Headaches can be cured by the use of two tea-spoonfuls taken as soon as the attack is felt.

The Invigorator never fails to cure sour stomach, or the indigestion of the stomach, and Bilious attacks yield readily to one bottle, and Chronic Diarrhoea, difficult as it is to cure, is never troublesome to those who take the Invigorator.

For Dyspepsia or Jaundice, nothing in the known world can so fully or so quickly as the Invigorator. It removes all yellowness and unnatural color from the skin.

For Night Mare, take a dose before retiring, and it is warranted a safe preventative.

For Female Obstructions it is a safe and sure remedy, as it moves the course of the disease, and continues cannot exist where the Invigorator is used, unless Cholic yields readily to a few

It must be known that all these are Liver diseases, or caused by a deranged Liver, and to cure them needs a Liver medicine and not a great variety of medicines, never before discovered, that will cure all diseases of the Liver, no matter how long standing, or what may be their form. The active medicinal virtues extracted from the gums such as to be astonishing to all who see the effects, for none can use the medicine without its full benefit. It acts as a gentle Cathartic, it is a powerful Laxative, it is
