Feeding Horses-A Common Mistake.

The practice of regulating the food of horses by the amount of work they are required to perby the amount of work they are required to perform, is a good one, if properly followed. For example, a horse when lying comparatively idle, as in winter, should have less solid food than amid the hard work of spring and summer.—

Again: if a horse is about to be put to work of its example, a horse is about to be put to work of its example. Again: if a horse is about to be put to work of extra labor, it is well to fortify him for it by a little extra feeding beforehand. But the mistake we refer to is the practice of over-feeding him an hour or so before putting him to work. If an extra service is required of a horse, on any particular day, and an extra feed is to be given him, let him have it the evening beforehand, rather than in the morning an hour or two before being put to work. Why so? Be.

April the disease again returned and so violent was the pain that I could not rest at night. Late in May I returned to Cincisnati, and again placed cause, if he is put to work so soon after eating, his food does not become digested, and he is all ligad to average hout with him elections of the control o obliged to carry about with him a large mass of undigested fodder, which is rather a burden and viso medicined using Newton's preparations, and viso medicined that I got from Dr. Ely, but the than a help to him. If he is well fed the evening before, the food is a similated—changed to flesh and blood—and sends health and vigor through the whole system. As a general rule, a working horse should be fed regularly, both a working horse should be fed regularly, both the continued growing until it had eat off the left side of my nore, the greater portion of my left check, and had attacked my left eye. HINTS ON BUTTER MAKING .- A lady in Schuyler County thinks, and rightly too, that there is no necessity for there being so much trash thrown upon the market under the name of butter. She asks why cannot the western and midland counties of New York produce as good butter and cheese, and get as good prices for it, as Orange county? Ans .- Some of them can and do, though not a little of the western product is sold under the name of Orange coun-1y butter. The truth is, the Orange county people for so long a time sent uniformly good butter and cheese, that a reputation was established. Our correspondent is right, in conjecturing that most of the trash, amounting to about three-fourths of all the batter sold in the country, results from ignorance of the method of making it well. A little more method of making it well. A little more knowledge on the part of the makers, would from the same milk, produce butter worth, today, in the New York market, 25 cents per lb., wholesale, whereas their butter is now sold from 14 to 16 cents per lb. Our correspondent says she obtained for her butter the same price that has been paid for the Orange county product. We do not quite understand her description respecting "churning the whole milk," and yet "adding one quart of boiling water to the cream." Any hints and suggestions on this topic will be gladly received.—

Let us have a large amount of experience from the cream and subscribed before me, one of the Aldermenin and for the City of Pittsburg, this 28th day of July, A. D. 1858.

TAKE CARE OF THE IMPLEMENTS .- All | G. D. ITOUT kinds of farm implements and machinery are Joseph Bergess expensive, and with the best of care and use must often be replaced by new ones. But their durability depends a great deal upon the manner of using and keeping them. If never sheltered or painted they will work and soon rot. The wood-work of all tools, it kept well painted and housed, will outlast much of the iron work. Whenever the sun opens cracks in the timber they should be filled with putty and paint Manufacturers declare that not half the far- Who have just received from the city, and are now opening out at their mers know how to use machines, and it is too true for the interest of the latter; and even the maker of a machine is liable to suffer by the want of knowledge how to manage on the part of those who use them. Every part of a machine which is subject to friction should be kept well oiled .- 1b.

GGLORIOUS TRIUMPHANT!

Sworn statement of David McCreary, of Napier

Township, Bedford county:

In April, 1856, as near as I can remember, a small pinule made its appearance on my upper lip, which soon became enlarged and sore. I used politices of sorrel, and a wash of blue, vitriol, without effect. Finding the sore extending, I called on Dr. Ely, of Schellsburg, who pronuunced it CAN-CER, and proscribed a wash of sugar of lead and cerk, and proscribed a wash of sugar of lead and bread poultices. Finding these remedies of no avail, I called upon Dr. Shaffer, of Davidsville, Somerset county, who also pronounced the disease Cancer, and gave me internal and external remedies—the latter consisting principally of caustie; but all to no purpose, as the disease continued spread in terms of the contract of the cont never failing remedy, but it had no effect whatever in checking the spread of the sore. In December, of the same year, the disease had eaten away a greater part of my upper lip, and had attacked the nose, when I went to Cincinnati, where I consulted Prof. R. S. Newton, of the Electic Medical College. He pronounced the disease had entaneous Cancer, superindreed by an inordinate use of mercury.—He applied mild zinc ointment, and gave internal temedies. My face healed up, but the inflamation was not thoroughly removed. In February, 185, he pronounced me cured, and I left for home. In April the disease again returned and so violent was in it. I was very weak when I commenced taking it; but I found that I gained strength day by day, and also that the ulcers commenced drying up. I continued, and when the thirt bottle was taken my face was healed as if by a miracle. I nsed a forth bottle, and I have been healthier since than I have been for the last seven years. Although my face is sadly disfigured, I am still grateful to a benign Providence who has spared my life, and which has been done through the instrumentality of Lindsey's Improved Blood Searches. D. NEW EVIDENCE.

Being afflicted with a grievous tetter on the arms and face—after trying many remedies which utterly failed to cure—I was persuaded by W. M. Barris & to be a perfect torment to me until cured by the Blood Searcher. My arms, were almost useless, owing to the cracks and sores on them, liable to bleed at any time on the least exertion to lift or work, and sometimes so itchy that I could scarcely prevent tearing off my flesh. I have now been cured six weeks and feel it due to Mr. Lindsey, and to the public generally, to make this statement, in hope that others like myself may be benefitted by using his valuable medicine.

BEDFORD ACADEMY. THE Fall term of the Bedford Academy will commence on Monday, Sept. 6th.

It is the object of this Institution to cultivate both mind and heart. Without the harmonious development of the intellectual and moral powers, youth cannot be fitted for the active duties of life. Whilst no pains are spared to cultivate the mind, every care is taken to impress the heart, by precept and example, with the importance of correct moral principles.
