

AGRICULTURAL.

From the American Agriculturist.
Starting Seeds Early.

Rev. Daniel Emerson, Summit Co., O., writes that he has been successful in giving garden seeds an early start, in the following manner.— Having selected the quantity needed, each sort is tied by itself in a cloth, the name being plainly written on a slip of paper, and inclosed with the seed. The packages are then buried about two inches deep in the ground, for a week or two. When ready to plant, the kinds needed for planting are taken from the bags and used. They will be found to have swelled, perhaps sprouted, and ready to grow. If the ground should be quite dry, it is best to water the drills after dropping the seed, and then cover with dry earth. Mr. E. says that by this plan he has never failed to raise plants from every seed planted, though when put out they were often spotted. If each seed is placed where it is wanted to grow, it will save the labor of thinning, though many prefer to thin their rows, leaving the most prominent plants to grow.

CUTTING GRAYS.—For the Northern and Middle States, the present is a good month for cutting seeds. If it is intended to propagate currant bushes or gooseberries, take cuttings now before the sap starts, and bury them in sand in the cellar. And so, if grafts are wanted of the apple or pear or cherry, let them be got soon and either buried in the garden in a dry place, or, what is better, taken into the cellar and covered with damp sand or moss or saw dust. What is needed is to keep them just damp enough to prevent their shriveling, and cold enough to prevent the buds starting before they are wanted in the Spring. In cutting seeds, remember that only the wood of the last season's growth is of any use, and that it should be plump and healthy. After being gathered, tie each sort in a bundle by itself, and attach a label to it, so that no mistake shall occur through forgetfulness of names or mixture of sorts.— Between this time and Spring, overhaul the families once or twice, to see that they are in a good state of preservation.—B.

MOCK APPLE PIE.—In the as in funny sections of the country, apples are for their scarcity a luxury little indulged in this Winter.— Some were fortunate enough to have dried fruit left over, and dried apple pies properly prepared are palatable. In absence of these, however, the following answers pretty well as we know: Take stale pieces of bread, such as are usually saved for puddings, and crumble them fine.— Add to each cup of these crumbs one pint of warm water, one teaspoonful tartaric acid, and sugar and spice according to taste. Bake precisely as you would an apple pie.—B.

PIE Cakes.—The best mode of cooking rice, that is to our taste, and an excellent breakfast dish or dinner dessert, is the following. Boil the rice soft, and while warm make it into flattened balls, say an inch thick and 3 inches in diameter. When wanted for use dip the balls in beaten egg and cook upon a greased gridle the same as buckwheat flat-jacks. The thin film of egg on the surface prevents the absorption of grease. The cakes thus prepared and eaten with butter or sauce of any kind (like), are very far from being "bad to take."—B.

A HEALTHY ARTICLE OF FOOD.—We do not intend making our paper a journal of dietetics; yet we mean to recommend healthy food, if for no better reason, as a means of making better farmers. Oaten cakes and puddings and gruel have been sufficiently used in our household, of late, to convince us that this grain is very nutritious and healthful. The chemists tell us that the pure meal contains more material for making bone and muscle and blood, than any other vegetable substance. In England, a proverb has been invented for boiling the meal so as to make it nearly as white as wheat flour. If this new mode comes into general use, it will do much toward recommending the meal to those who have prejudices against color!

The author of Rasselas, being once asked for a definition of the word "poets," replied, (with his usual sarcasm when referring to Scotland,) "It is a grain which horses are fed on in England, and men in Scotland!" A Scotchman present replied quickly: "And where will you find such horses and such men?"—B.

MUFFINS.—These deserve "extensive circulation." We have the recipe as a special favor from a lady friend, at whose table we have enjoyed some capital specimens, made as follows: To 1 quart of milk, add 2 eggs well beaten, a lump of butter half the size of an egg, and flour enough to make a stiff batter. Stir in half a pint of yeast. Let them stand until perfectly light, and then bake on a gridle, in the rings made for the purpose. These are merely strips of the three-quarters of an inch wide made into rings from 2 1/2 to 3 inches in diameter, without bottom—the ring being simply placed on a gridle, and the batter poured in to fill it.—B.

DR. W. H. WHITMOR,

Of Lancaster City, late of Philadelphia, where he has been in successful practice for a number of years, received his education at the best Medical College in the United States, and had the experience and practice in the different Hospitals for several years, a member of the Analytical Medical Institute of New York, and late Surgeon of the United States Navy, now offers himself to the public to attend any professional calls.

The purest medicines always on hand direct from the best Laboratories of our country, and the Botanical Gardens of the world. No patent medicine is used or recommended. Medical treatment is given without break down the constitution, but will renovate the system from all injuries it has sustained from mineral medicines. Chronic and difficult diseases must be treated upon a rational principle, which is to know and ascertain what disease is, its nature and character, and the knowledge of the chemical constitution of every solid and fluid of the human body, the changes those solids and fluids are capable of undergoing. To know what medicine employ to cure diseases, requires a knowledge of the chemical constituents of all agents employed in medicine; and if we are in possession of this knowledge, it is possible to cure any disease—no matter how long standing—and leave the patient in a healthy and perfectly cured condition. Muchology, Alteration, or that state of nutrition and weakness of the mind which renders persons incapable of enjoying the pleasures of performing the duties of life. Dyspepsia, that distressing disease and felt destroyer of health and happiness, undermining the constitution, and yearly carrying thousands to untimely graves, can most expeditiously be cured. Rheumatism, in any form or condition, chronic, acute, warranted curable; Eclampsy or falling sickness; all chronic and cutaneous cases of Female Diseases radically removed; St. Vitium, and every description of ulcerations; Piles and Scrophulous Diseases, which have baffled all previous medical skill can be cured by my treatment, when given in season, is not exaggerated.

I do not cure diseases (yes, Consumption) can be cured. I will remain in my office on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY, from 9 o'clock A. M., to accommodate patients from a distance, and consult in the English and German languages. Will make visits to any distance if required. May be addressed by letter, Fulton Square, Lancaster City, Pa. July 20, 1858-19.

THE GREAT PURIFIER—

THE WORLD CHALLENGED!—TO PRODUCE ITS EQUAL!—THE BLOOD SEARCHER—GLORIOUS TRIUMPHANT!

Sworn statement of David McCreary, of Napier Township, Bedford County:

In April, 1856, as near as I can remember, a small pimple made its appearance on my upper lip, which soon became enlarged and sore. I used policies of sordid, and a wash of blue vitriol, without effect. Finding the sore extending, I called on Dr. Ely, of Schellsburg, who pronounced it CANCER, and proffered a wash of sugar of lead, and brood poultices. Finding these remedies of no avail, I called upon Dr. Shaffer, of Davidsville, Somerset county, who also pronounced the disease Cancer, and gave me internal and external remedies—the latter consisting principally of caustic; but all to no purpose, as the disease continued spreading toward the nose. I next used a preparation of arsenic, in the form of salve. This for a time checked the disease, but the inflammation soon increased. I next called upon Dr. Statter of St. Clairsville, Bedford county, who also pronounced the disease Cancer, and applied a salve said to be a never failing remedy, but it had no effect whatever in checking the spread of the sore. In December, of the same year, the disease had eaten away a greater part of my upper lip, and had attacked the nose, when I went to Cincinnati, where I consulted Prof. J. B. Newton, of the Eclectic Medical College. He pronounced the disease a cutaneous Cancer, superinduced by an immoderate use of mercury. He applied mild zinc ointment, and gave internal remedies. My face healed up, but the inflammation was not thoroughly removed. In February, 1857, he pronounced me cured, and I left for home. In April the disease again returned, and so violent was the pain that I could not rest at night. Late in May I returned to Cincinnati, and again placed myself under the charge of Dr. Newton, with whom I remained until September, during which time he used every known remedy, and partly succeeded in checking the disease, but when I returned home there were still three discharging ulcers upon my face. I continued using Newton's preparations, and also medicine that I got from Dr. Ely, but the Cancer continued growing until it had cut off the left side of my nose, the greater portion of my left cheek, and had attacked my left eye. I had given up all hope of ever being cured; since Dr. Ely said he could only give relief; but that a cure was impossible. In March, 1858, I bought a bottle of "Blood Searcher," but I must confess that I had no faith in it. I was very weak when I commenced taking it, but I found that I gained strength day by day, and also that the ulcers commenced drying up. I continued, and when the third bottle was taken my face was healed as if by a miracle. I used a fourth bottle, and I have been healthier since than I have been for the last seven years. Although the disease is a daily reminder, I am still grateful to a benign Providence who has spared my life, and which has been done through the instrumentality of LINDSEY'S IMPROVED BLOOD SEARCHER. D. McCREARY.

Sworn and subscribed, this 31st day of August, A. D. 1858, before me, one of the Justices of the Peace in and for the Borough of Hollistatsburg, Plain county, Pa.

Witness—U. J. Jones. JOHN CORLEY, J. P.

NEW EVIDENCE.

Being afflicted with a grievous letter on the arms and face—after trying many remedies, and being failed to cure—I was persuaded by W. M. Barrie & Co. to try Lindsey's Improved Blood Searcher; and now, six weeks after finishing the second bottle, pronounced myself cured.

The letter broke out, something over a year ago, and the inside of my arms, extending from the elbows to the wrists; also, on my face, immediately round the mouth and chin, and continued to be a perfect torment to me until cured by the Blood Searcher. My arms were almost useless, owing to the cracks and sores on them, liable to bleed at any time on the least exertion to life or work, and sometimes so sore that I could scarcely prevent tearing off my flesh. I have now been cured six weeks and feel fit due to Mr. Lindsey, and to the public generally, to make this statement, in hope that others like myself may be benefited by using his valuable medicine.
