"FEARLESS AND FREE,"

p. over -Editor and Proprietor.

OUR SENATOR.

The Gazette, after looking all session in vail for something better, last week informed the public that our Senator had introduced a bill preposing to make the office of State Treasurer elective by the people, instead of by the Legislature, as heretofore. It further informs us that this change is to be made forthwith by this bill, so that an election may be had the coming fall for State Treasurer under the new law. It thus appears that our distinguished Senator. and the editors and lawyers of the Gazette, are about making short work of, and setting aside, the Constitution, by an Act of Assembly .-We hope they will not be so rash. Our State Constitution provides that "a State Treasurer shall be elected annually by joint vote of both branches of the Legislature."

We had supposed the Legislature could not repeal so plain a clause of the Constitution, and Mr. Schall and the editors of the Gazette being all lawyers, had best take this matter into consideration. We suspect it will be some time yet before Mr. Schell gets his law into operation.

We see too that the great hobby of our Serator-the abolishing the issue of all notes by our banks of less denomination than twenty dollers-and which he has been riding for the last two years, has also broken down. Even the Democratic Senate voted it dead, as it most riehly descreed. When Mr. Schell gets our cen and five dollar notes all abolished, and the country flooded with those from other States, and the Constitution repealed by Act of Assenbly, so as to elect a State Treasurer by the people, we hope to have due notice.

Tax Parers,

Remember that the Locofoco party bave plunged Bedford County into a debt of some $8.000.

Remember that they have plunged the Poor House into a debt of some $3.000 or $4.000! Remember that they have nearly doubled the County taxes!

Remember that they have nearly doubted the Poor taxes!

Remember that the only way to reform matters, is to come out from that party, and have nothing to do with it in future!

THE IRON CITY COLLEGE, Pittsburgh, Pa. has done more in three years to popularize the science of accounts, than any other institution practical education to graduates, and is rekind, in the Union, numbering at this time upwards of 350 students.

The great length of the letter from Okiboji Lakes, that we have been requested to publish, will prevent its appearance in our paper, crowded as it has been, and will be yet, for several weeks with the County Reports. Besides, it will lose its interest by the time we could pub-

We are informed that a case exactly of this kind occurred in Southampton Township, in this County.

THE TRAGEDY AT WASHINGTON. - Daniel E. Sickles, who shot P. Barton Key, at Washington, still remains in prison, awaiting his trial, which will probably take place next week, this plan. It was thought that three plats, if the Grand Jury find a bill against him, of each sufficiently large to accommodate one hunwhich there is some doubt. David Paul Brown and Robert J. Walker, Esqr's, it is reported, dave been engaged as his counsel. He is visited daily by many of what are known as among that the schools could be better graded, and the most respectable residents of the city, who conducted to a better advantage in one buildsympathize with him in his present condition. It is said that not a single religious newspaper in the Union has condeputed the homicide .-We have no means of knowing the truth or falsity of this grafement, but, if it be true, it carried forward by an active and energetic is a said commentary upon the morals of those that the better judgment and superior reason of who conduct that person of the press. A JOLLY VIEW OF DEBT.

The Journal of Commerce has at least one philosophic editor. He has been taking a view of Buchanan and Cobb's empty Treasury and the public debt of a handred millions, and thus consoles himself :-

"We are beginning to witness the benefits, and the substantial advantages, arising from an exhausted Treasury. There is no money to steal, consequently those who live by their wits at the seat of power, are driven to the most extraordinary straits, and seem likely to seek, through compulsion, a mode of life more in accordance with the principles of public morality, and vastly more beneficial to themselves and the country. We derive great satisfaction from the contemplation of the exhausted exchequer, and draw therefrom lessons of

What a graphic picture of the present attitude of the Democratic party. Having stolen all there was, the Journal thinks they may now reform per force. Is not a part of its great satisfaction derived from the reflection that all that has been stolen has gone into the pockets of Buchananites?

OUR COMMON SCHOOLS-NO. 2. In the first article of this subject, it is said that our State policy, in the establishment of our common schools, is the same in principle as in our laws for the protection of life and property. But this is not all; I would by ro means stop here, and say nothing more on this point. In the direction of the schools the polley rises much higher in its motives than that, and becomes more enobling in its principles .--It is this superior policy and these higher principles, that influenced the minds of our past and present legislators, and prevailed also in the breasts of all our great and good men in reference to the schools. Our system is not merely to make the school house supersede prisons ond penal laws, nor is it intended only to place facilities in the bands of our children to be regarded as a means subservient to the business engagements of life. The true idea of the education of our children is not reached it we think of nothing more than what is contained in books, and a certain routine of studies, which, when gone through with, is supposed to be accomplished, and then laid aside to be used as interest may suggest, or convepience demand. The spirit of our school system includes much more than this; it does not simply aim to qualify our children for the bus-iness employments of life, but it also aims to lay a sure foundation for their moral and social erjoyments. It comprehends whatever may a good influence in developing the mind, by giving direction to thought and proper motives to action. It contemplaies not on-ly the growth, but the improvement of the mind also, and has immediate and prospective happiness in view as its great object. That education which secures this to our children- to the greatest number of our children, or to the world, is the best education; and that system best adapted to accomplish this purpose, is the best system. It is the desire of our common schools, to give thorough instruction in all the branches of an elegantly refined English eduin the country. Advertises the most extensively—pays the most liberal salaries—employs the child into the paths of duty; which gives the best talent-gives the most thorough and direction to the immortal spirits of youth, and teaches them to aspire to the rewards of virtue, warded by having the largest institution of the by well doing; which imparts to them that knowledge whose ways are usefulness and hon-or, which leads them to make their own individuality subserve the interests of the public good, and reflect properly upon the ties which unite them to friends and kindred, and the world around them. In some places these interests are felt and acknowledged, and in others they are not. In Bedford, I am happy to say, there are many persons now thinking rightly on this great subject. It is too true, that our schools here have mostly been of the lowest grade, and our citizens have not heretofore enjoyed the advantages, neither have our children reaped the benefits which our common school system places within their reach. The schools in our town more serious disadvantages than the schools in any of our townships. Besides the poorest kind of teachers that were sometimes employed, and very badly conducted schools, our children were oblidged to go to those unhealthy base. ments which were rented for school purposes. But Bedford is waking up in regard to this interest. The stern necessity of having better schools, and better school accommodations, is anknowledged by all. But from the first waking up on this subject, a difference of opinion existed, and still exists, to a greater or less degree, as to the best plan to be pursued in the erection of school houses, and in elevating the character of the schools. We have children for six schools, and a less number will not suffice. A few of the citizens were in favor of having six houses located in different parts of the town. But, under such an arrangement, very little improvement could be expected .-- } Others thought that three larger houses should be built, each with an upper and a lower room, and have each house to accommodate two schools. But objections were urged against dred children, could not easily be had, and that three buildings, of this kind, would cost as much, if not more, then one sufficiently large to accommodate all the schools, and, further, ing, than in three. And then, after considerable debate on the subject, at several public meetings, the voice of the people declared, at the spring election, by a majority of twenty-two, for a "Union House," which is now being 200 Persons Lost and Missing.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23, 1859.

The steamboat Princess, from Vicksburg for New Orleans, exploded her boiler, caught fire and burned to the water's edge, at Conrad's Point, near Baton Ronge, on Sunday morning. Four hundred passengers were on board of her at the time, two hundred of whom are lost and missing, mostly residents of Louisiana and Mississippi. A large number of those on board were ladies.

Those known to be killed are J. W. Seymour of Baton Rauge, Mr. Calhoun of Maysville, Ky., the Pilot and Assistant Engineer of the Princess, H. B. Murphy of St. Louis, J. Hodges of Mississippi, and three whose names are unknown, Among the missing are Charles Banhister and L Howard, Representatives from New Orleans to the State Legislature: Joseph Clark, Second Clerk, and Samuel Warts of Virgin-

No other Northern or Eastern names have as vet been ascertained.

A large number were badly scalded and otherwise injured.

The boat and cargo are a total loss. The former was one of the finest on the river.

WHIG MOVEMENT .- The Whig General Committee of New York, a body which has kept up its organization since the final disruption of the party, held its regular meeting on Friday last. Letters were received from a number of prominent politicians, expressing their views of the party issues of the day, and recommending the organization of State Central Committees throughout the Union, and union on a plan of action fully setting forth the platform and principles of the Whig party. The republicans elected their three Congressments by handsome majorities. Marston, in the 1st district, by about 400; Tappan, in the 2d district, by about 500; and Edwards, in the 3d district, by about 1,000. The returns generally show large democratic gains, but the results are as last year in favor of the republicans.
