will be more than six thousand million dollars. The interest alone upon that sum will be more than three hundred and sixty million dollars per annum. Is it wise to continue a system fraught with such consequences? There is no hope of escape but in such an increase of duty upon iron as to prevent the further importation of it. I beg Senators to look on the map of the United States and upon the British and Mexican territory, which must and will be embraced in our system of internal improvements. I do not mean that we are to annex Canada or Mexico. I refer to them as a part of a system of improvement to be developed by American labor and enterprise. I would remind you that our railroads are the product of American labor; that if we manufacture our own iron, the entire profits of the labor and capital employed in their construction will be ours; and I beg you to pause for a moment and look on the magnitude of the interest to be developed, and the amount of capital to be created. If our progress be in the same ratio for the next thirty years that it has been for the last ten, our investment in railroads will be nearly or quite equal to the present value of the entire property of this country, and the profit on the labor of their construction will be thousands of millions of dollars.

In conclusion, I beg to remind Southern Senators that it is not a Pennsylvania, nor is it a northern question. It is a question of "general welfare." It is not a question between the North and the South as competing sections.—It is a question between the North and the South as parts of one single interest, united as one people in competition with other nations, as independent parts of a system of international commerce. These great elements of wealth, coal and iron, are not peculiar to Pennsylvania. They abound in most of the States. They are the gifts of a bountiful and all-wise Providence; and it is the interest and the duty of all the states to unite in promoting the end of their creation. In this union of interests and this development of our resources, the conflict between the North and the South will end in a common sentiment of mutual interest, and we will become, as it is our interest and our duty should be, a united and a prosperous people.

STATE CONVENTION.

The citizens of Philadelphia and of the several counties of this Commonwealth attached to the People's party, and all others who are opposed to the unwise and extravagant measures of the National Administration, are requested to send delegates, equal in number to its representation in the General Assembly, to a Convention to be held at HARRISBURG ON WEDNESDAY THE 8th OF JUNE, 1859, to nominate candidates for Auditor General and Surveyor General to be voted for at the General Election in next October.

Mount Vernon Ladies Association.

We publish the following Appeal of the Vice-Regent of Pennsylvania, for the purchase of Mount Vernon, as a sacred duty we owe the memory of the great immortal chief whose remains are entombed in the hallowed grounds of Mount Vernon, now about to become the property of the patriotic Ladies of America. Several payments have been made and some purchase money yet remains unpaid. In no State in the Union is the name and fame of Washington more revered than it is in Pennsylvania. It was in the Western part of our State, then a wilderness, that he displayed those early and great qualities as a military chief, which prepared him for the more arduous conduct of the campaigns of the Revolution. So long as the classic names of Brandywine, Germantown and Valley Forge, remain bright in the annals of history, will Pennsylvanians never forget the duty they owe to the memory of him, with whom the great chiefs of ancient and modern times bear no comparison. Bedford County was a County before the Revolution, and from her limits did many of her patriotic sons go forth, and take part in the battles of the Revolution. Over her ground did the young and beardless Colonel at the battle of Fort Mifflin, march at the head of his colonial militia. And here, in Bedford, for weeks, did the old chief, then President, make his headquarters, there being no necessity for his going further West, as the mistaken boys of the "Whiskey Insurrection," peaceably laid down their arms and submitted to the laws of their country. Many of our aged citizens remember him well, and delight to talk of their recollections of his personal appearance, &c. We hope our citizens will subscribe willingly to the fund for the purchase of the home and grave of the Father of his Country.

Miss ELLA WATSON of Bedford, has been appointed Manager of the "Mount Vernon Ladies' Association" for the County of Bedford, with power to appoint Assistants in different parts of the County, for the purpose of collecting money to aid in paying the balance of the purchase money due on Mount Vernon. Miss Watson will make an energetic Manager, and she intends to commence soon to solicit subscriptions in our place, but this should not prevent persons from calling on her and subscribing towards this fund. As soon as she makes her appointments for the County we will publish the names.

Read the Address of the Vice Regent for Pennsylvania annexed:

APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA, FOR THE PURCHASE OF MOUNT VERNON.—Chosen to represent, in this State, the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association of the Union, I venture to appeal to the generous and patriotic people of Pennsylvania on this day, the anniversary of the birth of Washington, for their aid, in union with the people of other States, to complete the purchase of Mount Vernon, the place of his residence and tomb, and to secure it forever as a public and enduring monument of their unabated gratitude for his lifelong services, and increasing veneration for his illustrious name. Gratitude to one whose life was so generous and exalted, veneration for an example, such as his, of virtues that have so elevated the character of a public man, may well enlist the deepest sympathies of the women of America, and embolden them to claim the aid, not of their own sex alone, but of every one who justly glories in being a countryman of Washington, and whose heart is moved by actions the purest and noblest that man can render to mankind.

The object of the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association is to obtain, by voluntary contributions, a sum necessary to purchase and hold forever, two hundred acres of the Mount Vernon Estate, including the mansion where Washington dwelt and died, his tomb, the garden and grounds around them, and the landing at the Potomac by which they are approached.—To collect this sum, Vice Regents have been appointed in different States, with lady managers, associated committees of ladies, and advisory committees of gentlemen, in the various counties, cities, and principal towns.—Every person by whom one dollar, toward this fund, is paid, becomes thereby a permanent member of the Association, and is inscribed as such in a record which will be preserved at Mount Vernon. Similar arrangements will be immediately organized throughout the State of Pennsylvania, and a public announcement will be given of the persons by whom subscriptions will be received, and the registry of names be made.

A large amount has been already collected, from places where these arrangements have been completed. The public press, so influential in good works, has lent its powerful aid.—Associations established for philanthropic purposes—the Fraternity of Free Masons, to which Washington himself belonged; that of the Odd Fellows; the volunteer military companies and firemen, and numerous bodies assembling together for objects of utility and benevolence, have everywhere exhibited the deepest interest, and united in this noble effort with the most liberal spirit. Patriotic individuals have come forward, with prompt sympathy, to lead and encourage the several committees; and the cheering prospect is held out that this wide pervading spirit, spreading through all parts of our common country, is insuring complete success.

Into this alliance of generous fellowship Pennsylvania is now to enter. Always distinguished by devotion to works of voluntary benevolence, which is an inheritance blended with her name, she has besides, peculiar associations connected with Washington, which relate to the noblest incidents of his great career. It was in Pennsylvania that, on the day when the delegates from the colonies first met together, he appeared among them to join in the task of forming a common country. It was in Pennsylvania that, with unexampled modesty, and touching expressions of anxious but devoted patriotism, he accepted the command of a little army, scarcely formed, and resumed the responsibilities of an arduous war. It was in Pennsylvania that, amid the fiercest severities of winter, with troops almost famishing and naked, he partook their hardships, cheered their spirits, and kept them united to win the triumphs to which he afterwards led them. It was his "fellow soldiers and faithful followers" in the military line of Pennsylvania, that he expressed, when the war was closed, and with a mind deeply affected, his grateful sense of their attachment and aid. It was in Pennsylvania that he placed his all-conciliating name to the Constitution which has cemented the Union; it was here that he became its first and most illustrious President; it was here that he addressed to his country that memorable Farewell with which he closed his public and immortal career.

To ask, then, the women of Pennsylvania to unite with their sisters throughout the Union in this tribute to the memory of Washington—to appeal to all the people of Pennsylvania to give to this great object their generous encouragement and assistance—is but to solicit from them a patriotic service, to which they are called by associations connected with his memory that cannot be surpassed, nor hardly equalled, in any portion of that wide country which glories in his name.

Vice-Regent for Penna., of M. V. L. A.

RICH, VERY!

The Gazette's article last week attempting to make political capital out of the action of W. P. Schell in the Senate a week or two ago, on the extra pay question. (It will be recollected that Schell last session voted for the $200 extra pay.) He offered an amendment to the "Whiskey Insurrection," peaceably laid down their arms and submitted to the laws of their country. Many of our aged citizens remember him well, and delight to talk of their recollections of his personal appearance, &c. We hope our citizens will subscribe willingly to the fund for the purchase of the home and grave of the Father of his Country.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

On Saturday morning last, as Mr. Sam. Barnhart was driving his six-horse team with a very heavy load of flour and groceries from Chambersburg, through the "Narrows Bridge," about two miles east of Bedford, the timbers which supported the bridge gave way, and the wagon, with four of the horses, was precipitated into the Juniata. The height from which they fell is about twenty feet, and the water at this place is about eight feet deep. Mr. Barnhart was walking near the middle leader, and the first intimation he had of the impending catastrophe, was the breaking of one of the rotten pine planks in the floor, which is not an unusual occurrence in that bridge. He had hardly time to look back, when the tremendous smash took place; but he urged forward the leaders, and the fifth chain and line fortunately breaking, succeeded in saving them.—He himself narrowly escaped. Many persons from the immediate neighborhood, astounded by the terrible crash, but easily guessing its cause, hastened to the scene of the disaster.—But there seemed to be no way of releasing the poor horses, three of which, helplessly entangled in the harness, were struggling in the water, with their heads only above the surface; the fourth had fallen back into the wagon.—No boat or plank was to be had to enable any one to reach them. But, luckily, a thin iron rod had been placed under the bridge, as a brace or girder. One end of this still hung fast to the side of the bridge; the other end reached the water not far from the horses.—Daniel Croyle swung down the rod, followed by Wm. Simpson and Andrew Mortimore, and with a sharp knife soon succeeded in cutting the harness from the horses, and enabled them to swim ashore. The horses were so much exhausted that they reached the banks with considerable difficulty. It is a matter of the greatest surprise to every one, that, stunned and bruised as they must have been by the terrible plunge, they were able to swim out at all.

When we arrived at the scene, it presented the appearance of a shipwreck, indeed. Boxes, barrels and bales were lying around in all directions, and the good old "ship," which had for so long withstood the fierce blasts of the Alleghenies, was fast filling with water. A great crowd of men and boys lined the river banks, some assisting at the wreck, and others eagerly discussing the catastrophe in all its possible phases. Sheriff Moore having with his usual promptitude procured a rope and pulley, succeeded in drawing up a considerable quantity of the flour in a tolerably sound condition. A boat was soon brought, and this, with a raft, hastily constructed, brought the remainder of the flour from the wreck, some of it considerably damaged by the water. About four barrels of flour and several boxes of tin are all that remain in the bottom of the river.

Mr. Barnhart's loss cannot be less than five hundred dollars. Four fine, large horses are much injured, in all probability crippled forever. The loss on the flour is not much less than one hundred dollars. The Bedford and Chambersburg Turnpike Co. will, no doubt, promptly and amply compensate him for the loss he has sustained; it is very fortunate for them that it is no greater. The accident can be attributed to nothing but the culpable negligence and stupidity of the persons who built the bridge. The timbers when put in were old, and altogether too frail for the framework of a bridge. But it is alleged that the load was too heavy. Surely any load that six horses can haul, a turnpike bridge ought to bear! We hope the company will go to work at once, take out the rotten timbers, and put this break-neck bridge in the securest possible condition, and subject the lives and property of their fellow-citizens no longer to such fearful risks.

We have no further time or space to record the numerous incidents of the wreck, ludicrous, affecting, aqueous, bibacious, or otherwise.—Our friend, Sam Amick, particularly distinguished himself as a bold and daring wrecker. But in attempting to put two barrels ashore at once, Sam fell into the water. The barrels swam ashore, but Sam sunk—for a time—in spite of the life-preserver in his coat pocket. After a few desperate plunges, he succeeded in reaching the bank, where he was greeted with the shouts of the multitude. Shaking the spray from him like a huge water animal, and slowly unhooking his life-preserver, he took a few vigorous pulls—thus compensating himself fully for all his toils and danger.

DEATH OF AN OLD CITIZEN.—We are sorry to announce the death of Hon. DAVID MANN, of this place, on Wednesday last. Mr. Mann was one of our oldest and most respected citizens. He was Auditor General of the State under Gov. Shultz, and filled other important public stations, and was considered one of the most prominent and talented men of that day. His funeral will take place to-day, (Friday), at 2 o'clock, P. M.

We will publish an obituary notice of his death in our next.

NEW FIRM.

The firm of A. Ferguson & Co. has been dissolved, Mr. Shannon retiring, and Mr. Wm. Manspecker taking his place, under the name of Ferguson & Manspecker. They have just received a large and splendid assortment of Boots and Shoes, Notions, &c., &c. Our friend, Manspecker, will do a good business in any branch he commences. He takes with the people. Their store is in the Post Office building. Call on them, see their stock, and purchase from them.

Packer Convention.

We clip the following letter from Forney's Press of the 11th inst., from Wm. J. Baer, Esq., of Somerset, containing the names of prominent Loco-focos of Somerset to the call. Among them we observe the names of one or more brothers, we believe, of the principle editor of the Gazette. Several Loco-focos in this place have contended that the name of W. J. Baer, Esq., was not authorized to call in the Press, but Mr. Baer, puts that to rest in this letter.—Verily the Democracy have fallen on troublous times:

SOMERSET, April 5, 1859.

Sir: I was requested by a Democrat to send you the enclosed list of Democrats, which, though late, he desires should still be appended to the call for the 13th April Convention.

On account of a special court, to be held during the same week, it will not be possible for many persons from here to be at Harrisburg. You will find many Democrats here heartily with you.

I see it stated in several Democratic papers that my name is to the call without authority. Justice to you and myself requires me to say that my name is rightfully there, and it shall there remain. I hope the Convention will act with deliberation, and show the former Convention what a Democratic Convention ought, and can do.

Truly yours,

W. J. BAER.

We, the undersigned, hereby authorize Col. J. W. Forney to append our names to the call for a Democratic Convention, to be held on the 13th of April next, as published in the Philadelphia Press:

J. O. Kimmel, H. L. Baer, Cassimir Cramer, John Mier, Jas. H. Beaufort, Van'l Baird, Jno. Carber, J. D. Miller, James Parson, Frederick Gilbert, David Kuabel, Jas. M. Marshall.

We copy the following from Forney's Press of the 11th inst. It appears that the Democratic friends of Mr. Bowman keep in faithful remembrance the beautiful picture, among which was the big chicken, with which he was wont to illuminate the Gazette:

A Rapturous Eulogy of the Administration.

The Washington Union publishes the following gem, and we presume it will go the rounds of the Administration journals. Its reproduction by Gen. Bowman, indicates that he intends to conduct the Union in the same magnificent style for which the Bedford Gazette was distinguished; and the only wonder is, that it was unaccompanied in the Union by the favorite wood-cut of a rooster, two feet square, with which he formerly embellished the Gazette on all important occasions:

"THE ADMINISTRATION.—Hon R. J. Ryan, of Indiana, who was recently appointed minister to Bogota, was honored with a complimentary dinner at Indianapolis on the 29th ult.—He acknowledged the compliment in a handsome speech, concluding with the following peroration:

"I give, in conclusion, as a sentiment," said Mr. Ryan, "the bright and spotless Administration of James Buchanan, of Pennsylvania.—When thrones are crumbled and dynasties forgotten, it will stand the landmark of our country's history, rearing itself amid regal ruins and nations' dissolution, a political pyramid in the solitude of time, beneath whose shade kings shall moulder, and around whose summit eternity must play."

AN OLD CITIZEN.—Maj. JAMES BURNS, of Juniata Township, in this County, was in our town on Tuesday, looking as young and active as many men of 70, although he stated that on that day he was one hundred years and six months old. He was, we believe, a soldier in the Revolution, and was at the battle of Brandywine. He is and was always one of our most respected citizens. His name will be seen in the list of applicants for license in our advertising columns, and he says that he has kept tavern uninterruptedly for a period of seventy years.

The late firm of Oster, Manspecker & Carn, in the Dry Goods business, has been dissolved by limitation, Mr. Manspecker retiring. The new firm will do business under the name of Oster & Carn. Mr. Carn settles the business of the late firm.

Oster & Carn will soon receive a lot of new goods, of superior quality which they will sell on the most reasonable terms.

REMOVAL.—Capt. JOHN ARNOLD has removed his Hardware Store to West Pitt Street in the white frame building attached to his residence, and formerly occupied by us as the "Inquirer" office. All persons wanting things in his line would do well to call on him, as he is an old carpenter, and knows good edge tools from bad ones, and always keeps the best.—Give him a call.

The late elections in Connecticut, Rhode Island, Michigan, Wisconsin, &c., have resulted gloriously for the opponents of sham democracy.

PETERSONS' CHEAP EDITION OF WAVERLEY NOVELS.—We have this day received ROB ROY, by Sir Walter Scott, being the third volume of T. B. Peterson & Brothers' new and cheap weekly issue of the Waverley Novels, by Sir Walter Scott. Giving truthful delineations of people, character and manners—ever upholding the cause of religion, morality and virtue, they should be welcome at every fireside where these precepts are taught. The great barrier, heretofore, to the introduction of these works, has been the high price at which they have been held, but this objection is being now overcome, by the publication of these works of Scott in such a form and at such a low price as to bring them within the means of all persons whatever.

To Messrs. T. B. Peterson & Brothers, of Philadelphia, more than all other publishers are we indebted for this new feature in American literature. The works of Chas. Dickens, Chas. Lever, Mrs. Southworth, and many other popular writers, have been issued from their press in a cheap form, and their last enterprise is in giving to the public, the works of Sir Walter Scott, complete and unabridged, at the very low price of 25 cents for each work, or the whole series for Five Dollars. The addition embraces the whole of the author's works, and will be contained in 26 volumes, one of which will be issued on each succeeding Saturday, until complete. A full set will be forwarded, free of Postage, by Mail, to any part of the United States, to any one, by the publishers, on sending a remittance of five dollars to them, for the twenty-six volumes. At this low price, all persons should possess themselves of a set, and we would take this occasion to advise all of our readers to make a remittance of Five Dollars at once, per first mail, to T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, for the entire set, which will send them complete to any one, free of postage, on receipt of that sum.

See advertisement of Sanford's Liver Invigorator.

MARRIED.

At the German Reformed Parsonage, in St. Clairville, on the 7th inst., by the Rev. N. E. Gilds, Mr. SAMUEL BARLEY, of Middle Woodberry Township, to Miss ELIZABETH FICKES, Union Township, Bedford County, Pa.

On the 27th ult., by J. M. Vanhorn, Esq., Mr. SAMUEL DEMETRIUS WALFORD, of Bellevue, Richland County, Ohio, to Miss ANNA ELIZA WALTMAN, of Friends Cove, Bedford County, Pa.

On the 1st inst., by the same, Mr. ABRAHAM RESSLER, to Miss HONNER MARAH PERREW, all of Rainsburg, Bedford County, Pa.

DIED.

On the 30 ult., LAURA, daughter of Samuel and Lavina Deftbaugh, aged 7 years, 8 months and 20 days.

It is with feelings of sorrow we learn the death of our little friend, Laura, noticed above. She died, leaving kind and affectionate parents, brothers and sisters, to mourn her loss. The scene was one that was deeply affecting to all those who saw it. A few minutes before her spirit was wafted home, her kind sister spoke to her of the Saviour, the Comforter in the hour of death—asked her if she would not like to die and go to Heaven where her sufferings would be no more. Her answer, in a sweet and distinct voice, was: "Yes! I would like to die, and go to meet my little brothers and sisters." What comfort to the bereaved family, to know that their dear little Laura has gone to that "land of pure delight" where angels and archangels surround the throne, interceding for her and us.

On the 10th inst., in St. Clairville, CHARLES MILTON GILDS, son of Rev. N. E. and M. M. Gilds, aged 8 years, 7 months and 12 days.

From adverse blasts, and lowering storms, His favored soul he bore; And with his bright angelic forms, He lives to die no more."

On the 30th ult., Mr. JOHN HARKERODE, Sr. of Friends Cove, in the 80th year of his age.
