Making Fence Posts Durable.

All posts will rot, sooner or later, and no Samuel Shuck & Co., mothod will put off the period of decay very Robert Fyan, J. & J. M. Shoemaker, long. Yet something can be done. Charring Sarah E. Potts, the lower end before sitting it, is not labor lost, Colin Loyer, although it must be remembered that the char-ring process often cracks the timber, and so John Arnold, allows the moisture to penetrate the post and thus induce decay. Boring small holes near the Dr. B. F. Harry, Dr. F. C. Reamer ground, and filling them with salt once a year, is sometimes recommended. Perhaps the salt

Not too Late to Plant Corn.—The pros-pect of better prices for farm produce should produce should Fred. Hilderbrant, George Gardill, lead every one to get in all the crops possible the present year. It is by no means too late to plant corn during the first week in June.—
Some good farmers purposely delay their prinJacob Fockler, cipal core planting until the last of May or the Jacob Devore Jr., first of June. Their experience has taught Thomas J. Porter them that, as a general rule, corn planted June 1st is as forward by the end of July, as that Daniel Fletcher, James R. O'Neal, planted May 10th. They say, that when planted late, the ground is warm and quickly germinates the seed, and starts it at once into vigminates the seed, and starts it at once into vigorous growth, and that it will soon overtake and go ahead of the early planted. QUESTIONS ABOUT POTATO ROT .-- For seve- John H. Schell, ral years past my potato crop has been almost Kirk & Fletcher, an entire failure. I had planted the same seed Wm. Oss, year after year, and on old ground. By reading, studying, and attending discussions, I was John Walter, induced to try a different course. I procured my seed 15 or 20 miles distant, and planted without manure on dry pasture land, broken up in the Spring. When the potatoes were in bloom, I sowed broadcast on the tops three or four bushels of ashes, with one-tenth part lime, per George Kauffman, acre, repeating it in six or eight days. This D. F. Buck, D. Beegle, was done during damp weather. Another peice was old mowing ground broken up, with strawy manure applied in different ways. Both produced good crops, while many pieces in the neighborhood were nearly destroyed by rot.

We know the potato vine is a great absorber of moisture. When other leaves are wet, those of the potato are often dry. Now does not this absorbing power, which the potato possesses in so great a degree, cause a super-abundance of water at the tulb in wet, feggy weather, stopping the healthy growth of the tuber; and does not the setion of the heat which frequently follows. not the action of the heat which frequently follows, produce the same effect that moisture and lows, produce the same effect that moisture and heat would on any other vegetable matter, viz: Hobes, Barages, French and Lisle Thread Ginghams, cause it to rot? NU WE SUMMES SEE CARRIAGE HUB.

THE undersigned believes that he has invented a cast iron carriage hub which far excels all others now in use, for strength, neatness and dura-bility, and that it only needs to be examined, and its merits tested, to secure its universal approval and adoption. Indeed it is no longer an ex-ment, it having been effectually tried by the judges in our country, and pronounced one of Greatest Improvements of the Age! Several vehicles have been in use over two years with the Improved Hub attached, and the wheels are still a perfect as when they left the shop, the unavoicable wear excepted.

This is the only Cast Iron Hub ever invented

sutable for light wheels.

This improvement is of such a nature that one or more spokes may be taken out changed or replaced without disturbing the other portion of the wheel Where a wood hub is used, if a spoke happens to become broken, it is necessary to cut the tire and secome broken, it is necessary to cut the tire and separate the felloes, to get at the damaged pert.—

The wheel must be then recomposed, the tire rewelded and reset. All this involves a considerable pense and loss of time.
In the present Improvement the laner ends of the spokes are secured in an Iron Hub, which consists mainly of two shells fasteneted together with screws. By simply unscrewing the nuts and taking off the back shell, any one of the spokes may be removed or changed, and the hub again put together WITHIN THE SPACE OF A FEW MINUTES.

This method of constructing Iron Hub Wheels ives them unusual strength,
