

From the American Agriculturist. Become Acquainted with the Insects.

Although the ravages of insects and their progeny have become so destructive as to render the cultivation of many otherwise profitable articles almost an entire failure, comparatively few are sufficiently acquainted with even the more common species, to recognize them in their different forms, or to detect the indications of their work until the mischief is too far advanced to be remedied. This want of information is not from any great difficulty in learning their appearance and habits, but from the fact that general instruction in this as in other branches of natural science has been neglected. Education, according to the system pursued in most of our common schools, has been surposed to consist in imparting a fair knowledge of "reading, writing and ciphering," and if any boy or girl was privileged to go beyond this, they were usually introduced to the mysteries of Algebra, and the entertaining study of the dead languages. This system has not been without its use; it has born noble fruits, but the necessities of the present times demand something more, and steps in the right direction are being taken by the introduction of elementary works on natural science into many of the common schools. It is within the power of every farmer, by devoting a few leisure hours to reading and observation, to become well acquainted with his insect enemies, to render valuable assistance to those who are engaged in professionally investigating the subject, and without doubt in a great measure ultimately to protect himself from their depredations. It would be well perhaps to commence by procuring some standard work, such as Harris's or Fitch's and ofter reading the description of some one insect, find a specimen and watch its transformations, until it can be recognized in any form, and its habits fully understood. A taste for such observations will soon be formed, and a formed, and a few years will suffice to render a person thoroughly acquainted with most of the dostructive insects of his own locality.

RISE AND FALL OF SAP-INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.-The July Agriculturist, last year, (Vol. XVII, page 213,) contained an arricle on the "rise and fall of sap," in which the opinion was maintained that the sap passes up through the new wood to the leaves, where it is elaborated, and that it afterwards descends through the inner bark, depositing on its way the materials for the formation of wood, bark, buds, etc. A subscriber, Mr. Chas. M. Keep, became interested in the subject, and tried the following experiment with a view of testing the accuracy of the theory. During the innoculating season, he took a bud from a pear tree, and with it, the bark attached as inch

Tremium Essence of Coffee.

COFFEE made by it will have a more delicate and finer flavor, and will be much more wholesome.

It will also be clear without requiring anything to above and one fourth of an inch below. This was inserted in the usual manner, except that the horizontal cut in the bark of the tree was made at the lower end of the vertical incision to cut off any sap that might flow upwards to supply the bad. The experiment was successful as far as the growth of the bud was concerned. This, bowever, is not conclusive as to the course of the sap; for, in the usual method of budding, the effect of the horizontal cut above the bud would as certainly prevent the downward flow of sap to heal the wound and form a union. It is probable that in either case enough of the fluid would find its way around the sides of the cross cut, through the bark, to secure the growth of the bud, other circumstances being favorable. If in a number of trees, the bark should be so cut away around the bud, that sap could only reach it from above, and in an equal number of others the same process should be applied, so as to give a supply of sap only from below, the results when compared would be more decisive.

WATERING TREES AND PLANTS .- When it is necessary to do this, do not just sprinkle the surface of the ground; this is "only an aggravation" to the thirsty roots, and it leaves the ground in a bad state, hard and dry. Instead of this, remove the surface soil several anches deep, and give the roots a thorough soaking. Then return the top soil, and mulch it with straw, leaves, tan bark, or any such porous material. This will prevent the baking of the ground, and will keep the soil moist for a long time. The usual method of dashing water on the top of the ground is almost useless. Very little of the water so applied, reaches the roots of the tree.

Jan. 28, 1859.

WE beg leave to call the attention of the Trade, and more especially the Physicians of the country, to two of the most popular remedies now before the public. We refer to

Dr. Chus. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills.

We do not recommend them as universal Cure-alls, but simply for what their name purports, viz.:

THE VERMIFUGE, For expelling Worms from the human system. It has also been administered with the most satisfactory results to various Animals subject to Worms.

THE LIVER PILLS. For the cure of LIVER COMPLAINTS, all BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS, SICK HEAD-ACHE, &c. In cases of FEVER AND AGUE, preparatory to or after taking Quinine, they almost invariably make a speedy and permanent cure. -.

As specifics for the above mentioned diseases, they are Unrivaled, and never known to fail when administered in accordance with the directions.

Their unprecedented popularity has induced the proprietors, FLEMING BROTHERS.

PITTSBURGH, PA. to dispose of their Drug business, in which they have been successfully engaged for the last Twenty Years, and they will now give their undivided time and attention to their manufacture. And being determined that Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills shall continue to occupy the high position they now hold among the great remedies of the day, they will continue to spare neither time nor expense in procuring the Best and Purest material, and compound them in the most thorough manner. Address all orders to FLEMING BROS. Pittsburgh, Pa.

IN WE TUNE 9 SE IMPROVED CAST-IRON CARRIAGE HUB.

1 THE undersigned believes that he has invented a 1. cast iton carriage hub which far excels all thers now in use, for strength, neatness and durability, and that it only needs to be examined, and its merits tested, to secure its universal approval and adoption. Indeed it is no longer an experi-ment, it having been effectually tried by the best judges in our country, and pronounced one of the Greatest improvements of the age! Several vehicles have been in use over two years with the Improved Hub attached, and the wheels are still a perfect as when they left the shop, the

This is the only Cast Iron Hub ever invented sutable for light wheels.

This improvement is of such a nature that one or more spokes may be taken out changed or replaced without disturbing the other portion of the wheel Where a wood bub is used, if a spoke happens to become broken it is necessary to cut the tire, and become broken, it is necessary to cut the tire and separate the felloes, to get at the damaged part.—The wheel must be then mporeco the sed, tire rewelded and reset. All this involves a considerable pense and loss of time. In the present Improvement the loner ends of the spokes are secured in an Iron Hub, which consists mainly of two shells fasteneted together with screws. By simply unscrewing the nuts and taking off the back shell, any one of the spokes may be removed or changed, and the bub again put together or, leaving the wheel as solid and firm as ever, all

With these they use MEDICAL INHALATIONS, which they value highly, but only as Palliatives, (having no curative effect when used alone,) and invalids are earnestly cautioned against wasting the precious time of cautioned against wasting the precious time of curability upon any treatment based upon the plausible, but false idea that the "seat of disease can be reached in a direct manner by Inhalation."
