A mild yet effectual medicine, composed of the Lest material known to medical science, for the cleansing of the alimentary canal and relieving the springs and avenues of life of all morbid obstructions and impurities, must be a public blessing and a domeatic and individual protection and safeguard, in preportion as it becomes known. Such a medicine the families of the United States have long had in Mofflet's Chebratud Life Phils and Phonix Butters, and the good they have done is inestimable. They have won their high fame and firmly established character by their victues alone, without the aid of the usual arts of notority or impudent experiment on the faith of the credulous. In all general derangments of the digestive and alimentary functions, as well as in a vast variety of acute and chronic diseases, their effects are prompt and compilete as to excite astonishment.

They require neither confinement for change of diet—they neither prostrate the strength nor give pain—and a more delightful and effectual medicine cannot be procured either for individuals or families.
