plead the three hundred dollar law against taxes, and this rule enforced, will leave very few in Bed-ford County anable to contribute their mite to the support of the poor. The yield of 122 per cent, on the investment at original cost, may piobably admit of a small de-du tion, but very little. Under no circumstances could it pit below 10. The board of Commission-ers appointed to soll the property and buy another, &c., are satisfied that such a change would be use-less and unwise. The objection to the property be-ing or the turnpike is no objection, when it is ta-ken into consideration that the wayfaring popula-tion must be supported anyhow, it will not do to let them starve. The Poor Honse is made for the poor, and the whole people of the County may as well keep them as those who live along the road; the taxpayers along the turnpike have, as it is, more than their isbare of beggars. Besides this, if the Institution were eight or ten miles, or three or fourmiles from town, on a farm, a great many way-furers would resort to it at all events, the physi-cian would have to ride further, and charge more; plead the three hundred dollar law against taxes, BOARDING HOUSE. FOR VISITORS TO BEDFORD SPRINGS, AND OTHERS. THE st isscriber, formerly of the Franklin Hotel, Chambershurg, Pa., has leased the well known Boarding House, in Bedford, formerly kept by Mrs. S. Filler. This house is situate in the plasantest part of the town, on the road leading to the Springs. The rooms are large and airy—and great care will be taken to render all his guests comfortable and happy. Fresh mineral water constantly on hand. Terms moderate. JOSEPH ALSIP. Plan and specifi-cations will be exhibited on the ground, (said pro-posals will also be received on the ground.) By order of the Commissioners. H. NICODEMUS, Clerk. Commissioner's Office, June 15; 1:60.-c four miles from town, on a farm, a great many way-furers would resort to it at all events, the physi-cian would have to ride further, and charge more; the paupers' clothing would have to be hanled and carried to them; the Grand Jury would have to visit them at a big expense; a Steward and a hand or two would have to be constantly on the go to furnish supplies; the expense of several hands up on a farm; a large number of horses and cattle constantly to feed, and all the other expenses at tending a grain-growing farm with its vast amount of labor, make it, in their opinion, highly expedi-ent and proper to keep what they now have, rather than venture on untried experiments. An improve-ment, however, should be made: a new house ought to be built for the paupers; this can be done without much outlay, and should be so arranged as to have a place or apartment exclusively for the sick, and another place separately for the way-farer. These places properly attended to, and cieansed as they should he, will relieve the rest of the paupers from suffering, and the Steward from a great deal of trouble and odium. It is to be hoped also that the Institution will hereafter he kept from all entangling alliances with politics, and that an intelligent and good business man may be retained as Steward, so long as he be-haves himself well. The business must be learned as well as everything clese. An honest man, with some of the people's funds,

Treasurer.

TERMS:—Six months credit. Prompt settlements required by each or note every January. This sys-tem has given our castemers every satisfaction, and sustained by their kind and continued patronage, we chall adhere to this rule strictly. A B CDAMER & CO. counts, and make out their reports showing the in-come of the Mill in one column, the expenses in another, and the same with regard to the Farm and Poor House proper. They are three separate concerns, and the accounts should be kept so. The varied amount of expenses in different years is accounted for from the fact that more checks were lifted in some years than others. The first three of the above ten, shows the average cost of paupers small; the next column of receipts by the Treasurer explains it in the amount of taxes re-ceived and consequently the small amount had out May 18, 1860.
