

BEDFORD INQUIRER.

LATEST FROM MISSOURI. LEXINGTON EVACUATED.

St. Louis, Oct. 4.—The evacuation of Lexington by the Rebels is confirmed. General Harris, with six thousand Rebels, left Lexington, crossing the river on Saturday at a point six miles distant, but they were beaten back by the Federal troops with a loss of all their transportation and camp equipment. General Harris then returned to the river, and at midnight commenced recrossing by means of ferry boats under a galling fire. Many of the Rebels swam the river in their impatience to cross.

One of the boats is reported to have been sunk, and large numbers of the enemy were killed and wounded.

Gen. Price commenced the evacuation of Lexington on Sunday evening, and his rear left on Monday evening.

The Federal forces that repulsed Gen. Harris is supposed to have been commanded by Gen. Sturgis, but official information has been received that Gen. Sturgis was at Kansas city on Tuesday with 7,500 men, watching the movements of Price.

It is probable that the force of General Harris was routed by General Prentiss, as Harris was doubtless on his way to attack General Prentiss at Chillicothe, where he was on Monday last, with three thousand troops, anticipating an attack by a portion of General Price's army. Chillicothe is a station on the Hannibal and St. Joseph's Railroad, about forty miles north of Lexington.—Eds. Bul.

Further Particulars.

Since the above was in type we have the following more detailed account:
St. Louis, Oct. 4.—Captain Reed, of the Lexington Home Guards, and afterwards of Colonel White's Fourteenth Missouri Regiment, who escaped from the Rebels on Monday last, has arrived in this city. He confirms the report that Gen. Price's army had evacuated Lexington.

Gen. Harris' division, six thousand strong, crossed the river last Saturday, and when about six miles from Lexington they met a Federal force, said to have been under General Sturgis, when a battle ensued. Little is known of the affair, other than that Harris' force was driven back, with the loss of his transportation train and equipment.

General Harris reached the river about midnight, closely followed by General Sturgis, and immediately began to transport his men across in ferry boats, under galling fire of Federal musketry.

Many of the Rebels swam the river in their impatience to get across, and they spread exaggerated reports of General Sturgis' strength through the city.

One of the ferry boats is reported to have been sunk, and a large number of Rebels are said to have been killed and wounded.

Captain Reed heard some of the Rebels say they were going to Baker's hill, a commanding eminence eight miles southwest of Lexington, which they would fortify, and make a stand there.

They seemed to think that Fremont and Sigel were approaching with 40,000 men.

Captain Reed says that Major Sevier, the Rebel Provost Marshal of Lexington, told him on Friday last that 30,000 rations were issued on that day.

General Sturgis had not crossed the river up to Monday night, and nothing definite was known regarding his strength.

Why General Fremont could not relieve Gen. Lyon.

St. Louis, Oct. 4.—The Democrat of this morning in an article shows why General Lyon was not reinforced. It states that the entire forces under General Fremont, on the 24th of August, including General Sigel's command of 4,000, was 19,135 troops, of which 12,556 were three months men, whose term of enlistment was just expiring, leaving an actual force of only 6,750 for the entire department.

Of this force General Lyon had 2,320 men, the balance, 4,430 men, being the total strength of Gen. Fremont's available force.

At this time Cairo, Buda's Point and Paducah were mentioned by the Rebel forces, which were accumulating, and the President had ordered General Fremont to take all his available troops and reinforce those points, for which service only 4,126 men, including upwards of 900 St. Louis Home Guards, could be raised.

Rolls being the terminus of the Southwest branch of the Pacific Railroad, and at this time the depot of a large quantity of valuable army stores and munitions, and was protected by Colonel Stevenson's Missouri regiment and Colonel Wilson's Thirtieth Illinois Regiment. The former regiment was ordered to march to Springfield in consequence of the total absence of means for transportation it could not move.

The Democrat's article also shows the distribution of troops throughout the State at that time, and the time at which the three-month regiments were disbanded. And in conclusion says that after the battle Gen. Fremont was thoroughly exonerated from blame by the very men who are now the loudest in condemning him.

From Western Virginia.

BATTLE AT GREEN BRIAR RIVER.
CINCINNATI, Oct. 4.—Advices of the 31st instant, from Cheat Mountain, say that General Reynolds, with a force of 5,000 United States troops, made a reconnaissance of the Rebel entrenchments on Green Briar River, twelve miles distant from his encampment. A brisk fire of artillery ensued, lasting an hour. Three of the rebel guns were silenced. Before the close of the action the Rebels received reinforcements from Mounfort, swelling their numbers to fifteen thousand.

The reconnaissance was highly successful, parading of the character of a general engagement. Thirteen prisoners and a number of arms and horses were captured. The Rebels are reported as five hundred killed and wounded, whilst the Federal loss was only ten killed and eleven wounded.

The entrenchments attacked are about twelve miles from Beverly, on the road to Monterey, being the point to which General Lee has fallen back and concentrated his forces. General Reynolds' main entrenchments are at Cheat Mountain, near Beverly, and are spoken of by the correspondents to the Richmond papers as impregnable, holding complete possession of the Cheat Mountain Pass.—Eds. Amer.]

Further Particulars.

Since the above was received, the following detailed dispatches have come to hand.
CINCINNATI, Oct. 4.—The following is a special dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial:

CHEAT MOUNTAIN, Va., Oct. 3.—This morning at one o'clock, a portion of Brigadier General Reynolds' brigade, consisting of three Ohio Regiments, (the Twenty fourth, Twenty fifth and Thirty second,) and portions of six Indiana Regiments, (the Seventh, Ninth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth and Seventeenth,) together with detachments of Colonel Bracken's Indiana Regiment, Colonel Robison's Ohio Regiment, Colonel Greenfield's Pennsylvania Cavalry, and detachments of Low's regulars, Loomis' Michigan and Dana's Virginia Artillery, numbering in all five thousand men, left that mountain to make a reconnaissance in force in front of the enemy's position on Green briar river, twelve miles distant.

Col. Ford's Ohio Regiment was sent forward to hold an important road, the possession of which was important, it flanking our main column.

The expedition arrived in front of the enemy's fortifications at 8 o'clock, their pickets retreating after firing an ineffectual volley.

Colonel Kimball's Fifteenth Indiana Regiment were immediately sent forward to secure a position for Loomis' Battery.

Colonel Aumun's Twenty fourth Ohio Regiment deployed as skirmishers on the south slope of the mountain.

Loomis' battery, after getting into position, and being supported by the Seventeenth Indiana Regiment, opened the battle.

The shot was immediately responded to by an enemy concealed in the bush, who were soon routed by the Fourteenth Indiana Regiment, with a loss of seven killed and a large number wounded and taken prisoners.

Howe's battery, supported by the Thirteenth Indiana Regiment, then moved forward, taking a position three hundred yards from the enemy's fortifications, and opened a brisk fire.

Capt. Dana brought forward two pieces, and likewise opened a brisk fire.

The firing on both sides was almost incessant for an hour, our artillery doing good execution, judging from the lamentable shrieks of the enemy's cannon.

The enemy's battery did comparatively little injury, their guns being too much elevated. Our guns effectually silenced three of theirs.

While observations were being made of the enemy's fortifications, occupying three more hours, an irregular artillery fire was kept up, occupying the enemy's attention. During this interval the Twenty fifth Ohio and Fifteenth Indiana Regiments rendered efficient service in scouting the mountains.

Before the close of the reconnaissance, which was most satisfactory in its result, the enemy received heavy reinforcements from their camp near Monterey, making their strength about 15,000.

Although this reconnaissance partakes more of the character of a regular engagement than any previous battle in Western Virginia, our loss is but ten killed and eleven wounded.

It is impossible to ascertain the enemy's loss, but it cannot fall short of five hundred killed and wounded, as our artillery did terrible execution.

Their camp was situated on the slope of the mountain, supported by a number of guns. We captured thirteen prisoners from the enemy and also a lot of arms and horses.

The reconnaissance proved highly successful, affording information relative to the enemy's strength, which could not be obtained from scout.

Our troops acted nobly.

General Anderson and Cols. Johnson, Jackson and Oliver, were in command of the enemy's forces.

PROF. WOODS' RESTORATIVE CORDIAL AND BLOOD RENOVATOR.

It precisely what its name indicates, for while pleasant to the taste, it is revivifying, exhilarating, and strengthening to the vital powers. It also revivifies, reinstates and renews the blood in all its original purity, and thus restores and renders the system invulnerable to attacks of disease. It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular form so as to be within the reach of all. So chemically and skillfully compounded as to be the most powerful tonic, and yet so perfectly adapted to us as to act in perfect accordance with the laws of nature, and hence without the weakest stomach, and tone up the digestive organs, and rally all nervous and other irritations. It is also perfectly exhilarating in its effects, and yet it is never followed by lassitude or depression of spirits. It is composed entirely of vegetables and those thoroughly containing powerful tonic and cooling properties. Such a remedy has long been felt to be a desideratum in the medical world, both by the thoroughly skilled in medical science, and also by all who have suffered from debility; for it needs no artificial skill or knowledge even to see that debility follows all attacks of disease, and lays the unguarded system open to the attacks of all manner of the most dangerous to which poor humanity is constantly liable. Such, for example, as the following: Consumption, Bronchitis, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Pain in the Chest, Nervous Irritation, Palpitation of the Heart, Melancholy, Hysteria, Night Sweats, Laugher, Giddiness, and all that class of cases, so fearfully fatal if untreated in time, called Female Weakness and Irritability. Also Liver Derangements or Torpidity, and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys, Scalding or Incontinence of the Urine, or any general derangement of the Internal Organs, Pain in the Back, Side, and between the Shoulders, predisposition to Slight Colds, Hacking and Continued Cough, Enactation, Difficulty of Breathing, and indeed we might enumerate many more still, but we have not space to say, it will not only cure the debility following Chills and Fever, but prevent all attacks arising from Miasmatic Influences, and cure the disease at once, if already attacked. And as it acts directly and permanently upon the Biliary system, promoting the Liver to action, promoting, in fact, all the excretions and secretions of the system, it will happily prevent any deleterious consequences following a change of climate and cold water; hence all travelers should have a bottle with them, and all should take a table spoonful at least before eating. As it prevents constiveness, strengthens the digestive organs, it should be in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits, students, ministers, literary men. And all ladies not accustomed to much out door exercise should always use it. They will then find an agreeable, pleasant, and efficient remedy against indigestion, which rob them of their beauty; for beauty cannot exist without health, and health cannot exist without the above irregularities continue.

Thus again, the Cordial is a perfect Medical Relief. Taken a month or two before the final trial, it will pass the dreadful period with perfect ease and safety; there is no mistake about it, this Cordial is all we claim for it—Mother's Friend! And to you we appeal, do not let the illness or decline not only of your daughters before it be too late, but also your sons and husbands, for while the former, from a delicate organization, often give way to premature grave paths, than let their condition grow up in time, the latter are often so much up with the excitement of business that it is not until you they would travel the same downward path, until too late to prevent a fatal fall. But the mother is always vigilant, and to you we cordially appeal; for we are sure your never failing affection will be unerringly directed to Prof. Woods' Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator as the remedy which should be always on hand in time of need. O. J. WOOD, Proprietor, 444 Broadway, New York, and 144 Market Street, St. Louis, Mo., and sold by all good Druggists—Price One Dollar per Bottle.

Berofule, or King's Evil.

A constitution, however, a corruption of the blood, by which the fluid becomes vitiated, weak and poor. Hence, the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and any burst of disease is a part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, not is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous humors, which are the cause of the disease, are first deposited in the blood, and then travel to the various parts of the body, and finally settle in the bones, joints, and other parts, and there they remain, and do great mischief. The disease is hereditary in its origin, it is hereditary in its transmission, descending from parents to children, and to the third and fourth generation; indeed, it seems to be the fourth of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by depuration from the blood of every impure or noxious matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles, in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. The first corruption, which gives rise to the disease, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases, and consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by the taint in the system. Most of the consumption which descends from the human family has its origin directly in the scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To escape it from the system, must renovate the blood by an alternative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in AYER'S Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla.

The most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this every where prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedies that have been discovered for the expurgation of the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as Eczema, Pimples, and Sore Throat, Strangury, Hemorrhoids, Rheumatism, Syphilis, and Mercurial Diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Diarrhea, and, indeed, ALL COMPLAINTS ARISING FROM VITIATED OR IMPURE BLOOD. The popular belief in "expurgation of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their power
