

BEDFORD INQUIRER.

tended. They afford cheering hope that our resources, limited as they were at the beginning of the contest, will during its progress, become developed to such an extent as fully to meet our future wants. The policy of enlistment for short terms, against which I have steadily contended from the commencement of the war, has, in my judgment, contributed in no material degree, to the recent reverses which we have suffered, and even now renders it difficult to furnish you an accurate statement of the army.

When the war first broke out, many of our people could with difficulty be persuaded that it would be long or serious. It was not deemed possible that anything so insane as a persistent attempt to subjugate these States could be made, still less that the delusion could so far prevail as to give to the war the vast proportions which it has assumed. The people, incredulous of a long war, were naturally averse to long enlistments, and the early legislation of Congress rendered it impracticable to obtain volunteers for a greater period than 12 months.

Now that it has become probable that the war will be continued through a series of years, our high-spirited and gallant soldiers, while generally re-enlisting, are, from the fact of having entered the service for a short term, compelled in many instances to go home to make necessary arrangements for their families during their prolonged absence. The quota of new recruits for the war, called for from the different States, are in rapid progress of organization. The whole body of new levies and recruited men will probably be ready in the ranks within the next 30 days. But, in the meantime, it is exceedingly difficult to give an accurate estimate of the number of our forces in the field.

They may, in general terms, be stated at 400 regiments of infantry, with proportionate forces of cavalry and artillery, the details of which will be shown by the report of the Secretary of War. I deem it proper to advert to the fact that the process of furloughs and re-enlistment in progress for the last month, had so far disorganized and weakened our forces as to impair our ability for successful defense; but I hereby congratulate you that this evil, which I had foreseen and was powerless to prevent, may now be said to be substantially at an end, and that we shall not again, during the war, be exposed to seeing our strength diminished by this fruitful cause of disaster—short enlistments.

The people of the Confederate States being principally engaged in agricultural pursuits, were unprovided at the commencement of hostilities with ships, shipyards, materials for ship building, or skilled mechanics and seamen, in sufficient numbers to make the prompt creation of a navy a practical task, even if the required appropriations had been made for the purpose. Notwithstanding our very limited resources, however, the report of the Secretary will exhibit to you a satisfactory proportion in preparation, and certainly of the near completion of vessels of a number and class on which we may confidently rely for contesting the coveted control of the enemy over our waters.

The financial system proposed by the wisdom of your predecessors has proved adequate to supplying all the wants of the Government, notwithstanding the unexpected and very large increase of expenditure resulting from a great augmentation in the necessary measures of defense. The report of the Secretary of the Treasury will exhibit the gratifying fact that we have no floating debt, that the credit of the Government is unimpaired, and that the total expenditure of the Government for the year has been in round numbers $170,000,000, less than one-third of the sum wanted by the enemy in his vain effort to conquer us; less than the value of a single article of export—the cotton crop of the year.

The report of the Postmaster General will show the condition of that Department to be steadily improving, its revenues increasing, and already affording assurances that it will be self-sustaining at the date required by the Constitution, while affording ample mail facilities for the people.

In the Department of Justice, which includes the Patent Office and Public Printing, some legislative provisions will be required, which will be specifically stated in the report of the Head of that Department.

I invite the attention of Congress to the duty of organizing a Supreme Court of the Confederate States, in accordance with the mandate of the Constitution.

I refer you to my message, communicated to the Provisional Congress in November last, for such further information touching the constitution of public affairs as it might be useful to lay before you, the short interval which has elapsed since not having produced any material changes in that condition other than those to which reference has already been made.

In conclusion, I cordially welcome the Representatives, who, recently chosen by the people, are fully imbued with their views and feelings, and can so ably devise means to the needful provisions for the public service. I assure you of my hearty cooperation in all your efforts for the common welfare of the country.

DIED.

Of Diphtheria, on Monday the 17th ult., MARY SAVINOR, in the 14th year of her age.
This orphan child, of whose previous history we have been able to learn but little, died in Bedford at the residence of B. F. Myers Esq., in whose family she had lived about two years. Simplicity, gentleness, and docility, were marked features in her character, and all who knew the child felt a tender interest in her. Her religious instruction was not neglected. In her recent home and in the Sabbath School she had learned much of Bible truth, and we hope, by faith, though it may have been weak, had received the Saviour, and laid hold on eternal life. The funeral services were conducted by the pastor of the Presbyterian church, and would have been more largely attended, could notice of the same have been more generally circulated. Whilst we would not speak confidently of her state we have reasons which cannot be here detailed, to hope that the orphan has gone to a better world to receive an inheritance and wear a crown. "Hath not the Lord chosen the poor of this world to inherit the Kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?"

PROF. WOOD'S RESTORATIVE CORDIAL AND BLOOD RENOVATOR

It is precisely what its name indicates, for while pleasant to the taste, it is revivifying, exhilarating, and strengthening to the vital powers. It also revivifies, reconstitutes and renews the blood in all its original purity, and thus restores and renders the system invulnerable to attacks of disease. It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular form so easy to be within the reach of all. So chemically and skillfully combined as to be the most powerful tonic, and yet so perfectly adapted to us as to act in perfect accordance with the laws of nature, and hence sooth the weakest stomach, and tone up the digestive organs, and vibrate all nervous and other irritation. It is also perfectly exhilarating in its effects, and yet it is never followed by lassitude or depression of spirits. It is composed entirely of vegetable and those thoroughly combining powerful tonic and soothing properties, and consequently can never injure. Such a remedy has long been felt to be a desideratum in the medical world, both by the thoroughly skilled in medicine, and also by all who have suffered from debility; for it needs no medical skill or knowledge even to see that debility follows all attacks of disease, and lays the unguarded system open to the attacks of many of the most dangerous to which poor humanity is constantly liable. Such, for example, as the following: Consumption, Bronchitis, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Fainting, Nervous Irritability, Neuralgia, Palpitation of the Heart, Melancholy, Hypochondria, Night Sweats, Languor, Giddiness, and all that class of cases, so fearfully fatal if untreated in time, called Female Weakness and Irrregularities. Also Liver Derangements or Biliousness, and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys, Scalding or Incontinence of the Urine, or any general derangement of the Urinary Organs, Pain in the Back, Side, and between the Shoulders, predisposition to Slight Colds, Hoarseness and Coughs, Emaciation, Difficulty of Breathing, and indeed we might enumerate many more still, but we have space only to say, it will not only cure the debility following Chills and Fever, but prevent all attacks arising from Miasmatic influences, and cure the diseases at once, if already attacked. And as it acts directly and persistently upon the biliary system, arousing the Liver to action, promoting, in fact, all the excretions and secretions of the system, it will happily prevent any deleterious consequences following in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits, students, ministers, literary men. And all ladies not accustomed to much outdoor exercise should always use it.

If they will they find an agreeable, pleasant, and efficient remedy against those ills which rob them of their health; for they cannot exist without health, and health cannot exist while the above irregularities continue. Then again, the Cordial is a perfect Mother's Relief. Taken a month or two before the final trial she will pass the dreadful period with perfect ease and safety; there is no mistake about it, this Cordial is all we claim for it. Mothers, try it! And to you we appeal to detect the illness of decline not only of your children before it is too late, but also of your sons and husbands, for while the former, from false delicacy, often goes down to a premature grave rather than let their condition be known in time, the latter are often so mixed up with the excitement of business that they do not know they are toiling away in the same fatal path, until too late to arrest their fate, and to you, but the mother is always vigilant, and should be always so; for we are sure you will not be unwillingly to utteringly point you to Prof. Wood's Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator as the remedy which should be always used in such cases.

Need. O. J. WOOD, Proprietor in time of year, New York, and 144 Market Street, St. Louis, Mo., and sold by all good Druggists. Price One Dollar per Bottle.
