W. Watson King, accompanied by his father, Alexander King, Esq., arrived here, and were conveyed to the new cemetery for interment. Some time since, they left their temporary resting place in the sunny south, and after being tossed about for weeks on the stormy Atlantic finally arrived to take up their long, last abode among the leved ones and friends of his childhood and youth. The "welcome home" was a sad one, but to his friends, and they were many, it was a satisfaction though mouraful, it is true, to have him come and lay him down for his long rest among his native hills, and in the midst of those who will ever cherish his memory in fond and

He had not reached his majority when he left his home. Full of patriotic and youthful vigor he could home. Full of patriotic and youthful vigor he could not resist his country's appeal. He had just entered upon a course of study to prepare himself for future life, but when the call came, he made all yield to the one great duty; studies, home and youthful attachments were all laid aside, and he consecrated to his country, the life which he soon had to lay down in her service. His great grand father was one of the heroes of the Revolution, who had fought and toiled to win our independence; the same spirit lived still.

To C. A. Bannvart.—Dear Sir: In the habit of speaking very frequently, and in places whepe the vocal organs are very much taxed, I have found the used of some gentices provided in the used of some gentices where the used of some gentices are very much taxed, I have found the used of some gentices are very much taxed, I have found the used of some gentices are very much taxed, I have found the used of some gentices are very much taxed, I have even used, in removing speaking very frequently, and in places where the some provided in the used of some gentices are very much taxed, I have even used, in removing speaking very frequently, and in pl to win our independence; the same spirit lived still in the breast of our young friend, and animated him to sustain with his life, if necessary, the national existence secured by the blood of his ancestor.

He was a member of Co. E, commanded by Capt. Rice, and was attached to the 76th Regiment Penn'a Vols. Warm-hearted, generous and brave, he had become a favorite with his company, while his gentlemanly and amiable character, and his upright consistent and manly deportment, secured for him the esteem and respect of his officers and all who knew him.

Rev. S. Kepler.

"This certifies that the Rev. Samuel Kepler, having for reason satisfactory to himself, withdrawn from the Methodist Episcopal Church, at the session of the East Baltimore Conference held at Altoona, March 1864, is hereby affectionately commended as a minister of the Gospel to all Christian people." Given March, 9, 1864. JNO. H. C. DOSH.

(True copy.) Secretary.

This is a true copy of the certificate given by the Secretary of the East Baltimore Conference, to the above named person. But allow us to say it is wholly gratuitous on the part of the Secretary, he having no authority whatever from the church or conference to do so. And it is manifest injustice to the church and conference, for him to give such a document and especially so, in this case. Mr. K. saw clearly as his trial progressed that it would terminate in his expulsion, were it permitted to go on, and asked through four brethern, membe of the court of trial, the privilege of withdrawing from the church, and as an act of mercy the charges were withdrawn to allow his withdrawal from the Methodist connection

The conference then by a vote granted him a "certified copy of the action in his case" and thus his connection with the M. E. Church was severed.

The conference (the only body is whom is invested the power to de so) did not grant him a certificate or letter of recommendation, or anything of this kind. This certificate is therefore of no earthly value except as the commendation of an individual member of the conference, and should have no influence with other religious bodies as coming from the Methodist Episcopal Church.
